Help for the Horse.

Furlong's Patent Foot Coolers and Expanders,

Which remove all fever from the feet and keep them in a clean, moist and healthy condition absolutely preventing corns, contracted feet, quarter cracks and scratches. The moist sponge is held securely on the bottom of the foot, keeping the frog in a healthy, natural condition. They can be used for a stuffing boot, and do not cost one-fourth as much as the leather boot. The cuts represent the Holder and Sponge on and off the foot. The best horsemen of the country heartily endorse it as one of the most humane and valuable inventions of the day. Horses' feet have been restored from an unsound condition to a sound one in three weeks. It surprises every one. For sale by Harness Makers and dealers in Turf goods. Single pairs sent to any address upon receipt of price, $1.50 per pair. In ordering, send diameter of hoof measured across the bottom of the foot. I have a valuable Sponge Liniment for bad feet which I will forward with the Cooler at $1.00 per quart bottle. Send for descriptive circular with list of testimonials from the leading horsemen and veterinary surgeons of the country. E. B. DRAPER, 193 E. Washington Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

Farm AND R. R. Gate.

Ten Active Agents Wanted in every State in the Union.

Fig. 2.

Conceded by all to be the most Perfect and Practical Gate ever offered to the Public. Equally adapted to either Board or Picket Gates. As it sustains itself in opening and closing without lifting or carrying, it can be operated with ease by the smallest lad, and while it possesses all the advantages claimed for higher-priced gates, its cheapness and simplicity of construction brings it within the reach of all.

The following is extracted from the specification forming a part of the Letters Patent No. 129,702, as issued by the United States Patent Office, July 23, 1872:

Fig. 1 is a front view of the gate partially opened, showing its attachment to an ordinary fence. Fig. 2 is a back view of the gate drawn back on its supporting frame to the center, showing its elevation above the ground when in position to be rotated or turned upon its hinges.

To the heel post is hinged or pivoted a rotating post, B, through the upper part of which is an elongated slot or mortise. In the lower part of this slot or mortise is secured one end of a supporting bar, C, the other end extending to the center of the gate, is fastened between the ends of a brace, D, (extending from the lower part of the rotating post, B,) and a short bracket, E, Fig. 1, forming with said post and bar the triangular supporting the frame to sustain the gate in its vertical position while being opened and closed.

In the central part of the slot or mortise, and also between the projecting ends of the brace, D, and bracket, E, are friction rollers—upon which, and secured to the cross-cleats on the back part of the gate is an oblique sustaining bar, F, the projecting end of which passes under a strap or its equivalent on the latch post, making the fastening to the gate when closed. The front end of the gate can be elevated for the passage of small stock and secured to its place by passing the projecting end of the sustaining bar between the upper boards of the fence and putting a pin through it into the latch post.

To open the gate slide it back on the friction rollers to its center, as shown in Fig. 2. the obliquity of the sustaining bar elevating it sufficiently to clear all ordinary obstructions, (as snow, rough and frozen ground, a hill side, grass, grain, &c.) then rotate it together with its supporting frame ninety degrees (or one-fourth way round) Should the gate, while in this position, be in the way of passing with a wide load, the peculiar mode of hinging allows it to rotate nearly half way round; the gate is then slid forward as in shutting and placed entirely out of the way.

J. J. BUTLER'S
EXCELSIOR WRITING FLUIDS,
 Carmine and Crimson Inks, Pure Gum Mucilage.

J. J. Butler's Record Fluid being chemically pure, it is absolutely permanent, time having no effect on it except to make it blacker. It will stand as long as the paper holds together on which it is written. It is very fluid, flowing smoothly and evenly, and having a deep color makes a richer mark, and gives much better satisfaction when first written with than the light, pale Inks of foreign make.

J. J. Butler's Excelsior School Ink has attained a celebrated reputation, and the steadily increasing demand for it is undoubted evidence that people are getting disgusted with the worthless logwood mixtures called common Black Ink, that get thick, stringy, and fade out in a little while. Butler's Excelsior School Ink is made from best quality of nut galls and indigo. The greatest care is taken in its preparation, and being chemically pure, it is absolutely permanent, will not thicken or deposit sediment, and can be used to the last drop.

J. J. Butler's La Belle Violet Ink is growing rapidly in favor, and is pronounced by those that use it to be far superior to any Violet Ink manufactured. It is a rich purple shade, and gives a good copy in letter-press.

J. J. Butler's Non-Erasive Blue Ink resists acids, and will not corrode the pen.

Oct. 12.—Christopher Columbus discovers America. Columbus was born at Genoa, Italy, in 1435, and died neglected and in obscurity at Valladolid on the 20th of May, 1506. His body was buried in a convent, from which it was afterward taken to St. Domingo, and subsequently to Havana, in Cuba, where it now remains.

1497.

North America first discovered by Sebastian Cabot, a Venetian, in the service of England.

1512.

John Ponce de Leon, a Spanish soldier, discovered and named Florida, from its being discovered on Easter day, or feast of flowers.

1513.

Balboa, a Spaniard, crossed the Isthmus of Darien, and from the summit of the Andes, discovered the Pacific Ocean.

1517.

First patent for importing negroes to America granted by Spain.

1519-21.

Cortez, a Spaniard, conquered Mexico.

1520.

Magellan sailed round South America, discovered the southwest passage, and circumnavigated the globe.

1525.

Hops first used in malt liquors in England. Tobacco first discovered by the Spaniards, near the town of Tobasco, in Mexico. It was introduced into England, from Virginia, by Mr. Lane, in 1536.

1528.

P. de Narvaez, with 400 men, lands in Florida, and attempts the conquest of the country. He is defeated by the natives.

1529.

The name of Protestant given to those who protested against the Church of Rome at the Diet of Spires in Germany.

1535.

Cartier, a Frenchman, first attempts a settlement in Canada.

1539.

Ferdinand de Soto, a Spaniard, landed in Florida, with 1,200 men, in search of gold. He penetrated into the country and discovered the Mississippi river in 1541.

Pins were first used in England by Cathrine Howard, Queen of Henry VIII.

H. J. FOUTS, Proprietor.

Wm. A. Skinner & Co.'s HUNGARIAN SELF-SHINING STOVE POLISH.

The only Polish that can be used with satisfaction to all without labor or the use of a brush. SHINES WHEN APPLIED.

A child ten years of age can Polish a Stove to a brilliant gloss equally as well as a grown person. We guarantee all we represent. Full instructions for using on every box.

In no branch of manufacture, perhaps, is there such a difference in the goods produced as in the manufacture of Stove Polish. The art (for it is an art) of Polishing Stoves is one that has always been considered very laborious and fatiguing to the performer. It has at last been brought to perfection in as much so that all labor and fatigue is entirely dispensed with. We are well aware there is such a thing as cheap Stove Polish, or in other words, that which does not claim to be of any great excellence. This is in a great measure attributable to the fact that the few concerns which are prepared to manufacture the finest qualities are so far in advance of those making the cheaper goods that any attempt at competition on the part of the latter would be futile, and consequently they content themselves by making the cheap article for the poorer class of trade. But such has been the improvement of our establishment that we can manufacture a superior class of goods and sell them as low as common goods can be sold which are manufactured by the common concerns. Our establishment, which is located at No. 1103 Morgan Street, manufactures and deals exclusively in The Hungarian Self Shining Stove Polish (the only genuine article in the market). Our firm first became established in Philadelphia in 1872. In consequence of the demand for our goods becoming so extensive throughout the West, we determined to establish a Manufactory and Depot in the city of St. Louis, through which to facilitate the supply demanded in the West. The beauty of our Polish is, no brush is required and no mixing, as it is applied with any woolen cloth and is used from the box it comes in. It will take off all grease and rust. It is more durable than any other. Saves labor. Will not burn off. It is free from all odor, and makes no dust. Will produce a brilliant Polish in less than five minutes time. Like all good articles put on the market, our Polish has imitations; therefore we caution the public. Buy none other but that having the signature on every box of the sole manufacturers (as there is none genuine without it).

Illinois & St. Louis Railroad Bridge across the Mississippi River, at St. Louis, Mo. The first caisson on which the stone piers were built, was sunk on October 17th, 1869. It was sunk a depth of one hundred and thirty feet from the surface of the river, before the rock was reached. Each of the arches are over five hundred feet in length, the center of the middle arch is fifty-five feet above water level. The east approach is 1,136 feet in length, and that upon the western side 1,886 feet. Double lines of car tracks are constructed through the lower division of the bridge, which rest directly upon the arches, while the upper portion is forty-four feet wide, divided between horse car roads, carriage ways, and promenades. A tunnel from the west end of the bridge to the Union Depot, was constructed at a cost of about $1,000,000 or about one-tenth part of the cost of the bridge.

March 8.—Stamp act passed, which declared that no legal instrument of writing should be valid unless it bore a British stamp. The feelings of the people were so intense against this act, that in several cities mobs and violence ensued. The stamps were seized and burned, and the distributors, who were appointed by the Crown to sell them, were insulted and despised on the street, and, when the law was to take effect, there were no officials with courage enough to enforce it.

March 18.—Stamp act repealed. In London this was an occasion of great rejoicing; and in America bonfires and illuminations attested the feelings of the masses of the people.

June.—Mutiny act. British troops sent to America, and an act passed by Parliament providing for their partial subsistence on the colonies. The appearance of these troops in New York, and the order to feed and shelter them, occasioned violent outbreaks of the people in that city, and burning indignation all over the land.

June 29.—A tax imposed upon tea, glass, paper, painters' colors, etc., and a bill passed forbidding the New York Assembly to legislate until it should comply with the mutiny act of 1766. The people boldly resisted these acts of oppression. Circulars were issued to the Assemblies from Massachusetts asking their co-operation in obtaining a redress of grievances. The Governor of Massachusetts, in the King's name, was instructed to command the Assembly to rescind its actions, but in June, 1768, it unanimously voted not to rescind.

First Methodist church in America built in New York.

May.—Commissioners of Customs, to collect duties, arrive in Boston. They are regarded with much contempt, and it was difficult to restrain the excitable portion of the population from committing personal violence.

June.—Arrival of sloop Liberty, at Boston, belonging to John Hancock (one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence), with a cargo of Madeira wine. The Commissioners demanded duties. It was refused, and they seized the vessel. The news spread over Boston, and the people resolved on resistance. The Commissioners were assailed by a mob, their houses damaged; and they were obliged to seek safety in Castle William, a small fortress about 3 miles S. E. from Boston.

Sept. 27.—British troops land in Boston, 700 strong, and with drums beating and colors flying, they marched to the Common.

Jan. 26.—British Parliament passes a bill requiring the arrest of offenders against the government to be sent to England for trial.

Dartmouth College, New Hampshire, received its charter. It was named from the Earl of Dartmouth, its benefactor.

American Philosophical Society, at Philadelphia, founded.

March 5.—Boston Massacre. A rope-maker quarreled with a soldier (March 2), and struck him. From this a fight ensued between several soldiers and rope-makers, in which the latter were beaten. A few evenings afterward (March 5), about 700 excited inhabitants assembled in the streets for the purpose of attacking the soldiers. A sentinel was attacked near the Custom House, when Captain Preston, commander of the guard, went to his rescue, with eight armed men. Irritated and assailed by the mob, the soldiers fired upon the citizens, killed three and dangerously wounded five. The mob instantly retreated, when all the bells of the city rang an alarm, and in less than an hour several thousand exasperated citizens were on the streets. Gov. Hutchinson assured the people that justice would be done in the morning, and thus prevented further bloodshed. Capt. Preston and six of his men were tried and acquitted by a Boston jury. Two other soldiers were found guilty of manslaughter, and the troops were removed to Castle William.

April 12.—All duties except on tea repealed.

Sept. 30.—George Whitefield, founder of the Calvinistic Methodists, died, aged 56 years.

The commander insisted that American navigators should lower their colors when they passed his vessel, in token of obedience, and, for refusing, a Providence schooner was chased until she grounded on a low sandy point; and on the same night 64 armed men went down from Providence in boats, captured the people on board the Gaspe and burned the vessel.

Dec. 16.—Tea thrown overboard in Boston harbor. It was a cold night and the citizens were just returning from several spirited meetings held at Faneuil Hall, when a party of about sixty persons, some disguised as Indians, boarded two vessels in the harbor, tore open the hatches, and, in the course of two hours, 342 chests of tea were broken open, and their contents cast into the water.

Dec. 25.—British tea ship forbidden to land at Philadelphia. The Shakers first arrived from England; they settled near Albany, N. Y.

April 19.—Battle of Lexington. Major Pitcairn, in command of 800 British troops, was sent by Gen. Gage to destroy some ammunition and stores at Concord, but when he reached Lexington, a few miles from Concord, he was met by eighty determined minute men. Pitcairn rode forth and shouted: "Disperse! disperse, you rebels! Down with your arms and disperse!" They refused to obey, and he ordered his men to fire, killing eight citizens and wounding several. This was the first blood of the Revolution. The British then pushed on and destroyed the stores at Concord; but they were so harassed and annoyed by the minute men on their way that by the time they returned back to Bunker Hill they had lost in killed and wounded 273 men.

May 10.—Capture of Ticonderoga. Cols. Ethan Allen and Benedict Arnold, with a small company of volunteers, surprised this fortress. As Allen rushed into the sally-port, a sentinel snapped his gun at him and fled. Making his way to the commanders' quarters, in a voice of thunder ordered him to surrender. "By whose authority?" exclaimed the officer. "In the name of the great Jehovah and the Continental Congress!" shouted Allen. No resistance was attempted. Large stores of cannon and ammunition were captured by the Americans, without the loss of a single man.

May.—First Declaration of Independence. The people of North Carolina assembled in convention at Charlotte, and by a series of resolutions absolved their allegiance from the British Crown, organized a local government and made provisions for military defense, virtually declaring themselves free and independent. This declaration of independence was made about 13 months previous to the general declaration made by the Continental Congress.

June 15.—George Washington appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Continental army, and took personal command at Cambridge, Mass., on the 3d of July.

June 17.—Battle of Bunker Hill. General Howe and Pigot, in command of 3,000 British troops, assisted by a heavy fire from ships of war, and a battery on Copp's Hill, attacked the redoubt at the foot of Breed's Hill, where lay 1,500 Americans awaiting their approach. Gen. Prescott ordered his men to aim at the waistband of the British and to pick off their officers, whose fine clothes would distinguish them; and when the British column was within ten rods of the redoubt he shouted FIRE! The British were repulsed and fell back in confusion, but were soon rallied for a second attack, and were again repulsed and scattered in all directions. Howe now was reinforced by Gen. Clinton, the fugitives rallied and they rushed up to the redoubt in the face of a galling fire. For ten minutes the battle raged fearfully, when the ammunition of the Americans became exhausted and the firing ceased. The British then scaled the bank and compelled the Americans to retreat, while they fought fearfully with clubbed muskets. The British took possession of Bunker Hill and fortified it, but withal could claim no great victory. The American loss from killed, wounded, and prisoners was about 450 men; while the loss of the British from the same cause was about 1,100. This was the first real battle of the Revolution and lasted about two hours.

June 17.—The first man killed at the battle of Bunker Hill was named Pollard, from Billerica. He was struck by a cannon ball from the battle ship Somerset.

Sept. 25.—Colonel Ethan Allen, with 80 men, attacked the British garrison at Montreal, under Gen. Prescott. Allen was defeated, and he was made prisoner and sent to England in irons.

Nov. 13.—Montreal surrendered to the Americans under Gen. Montgomery.

Dec. 31.—Americans assault Quebec and are repulsed. Gen. Montgomery was killed, and Colonel Arnold was wounded. The command then devolved upon Capt. Morgan, whose expert rifle men, with Lamb's artillery, forced their way into the lower town; but, after several hours' contest, he was obliged to surrender.

Payton Randolph, first President of Congress, died, aged 52.

The first line of post-offices established; Dr. Franklin appointed postmaster.

Bills of credit, known as Continental money, issued by Congress.

Kentucky first settled by whites, near Lexington.

During this year Continental money depreciated so much that a hundred paper dollars were hardly equivalent to one dollar in silver.

About $200,000,000 of Continental currency was now in circulation.

1776.

Jan. 1.—The Union flag was unfurled at Cambridge by Gen. Washington. This flag was composed of thirteen alternate red and white stripes, differing only from the present one by having on the blue corner a horizontal and perpendicular bar. Among the various flags borne by military companies was one from the men of Culpepper county, Va., bearing the significant device of a rattlesnake, and the injunction : Don't tread on me! It is said to the opposer : Don't tread on me; I have dangerous fangs!

British burned Norfolk.

At that time Norfolk contained a population of 6,000, and the loss by the conflagration was about $1,500,000.

March.—Silas Deane appointed to solicit aid for the Colonies, and succeeded in obtaining 1,500 muskets from France, and promises of men and money.

March 17.—British evacuate Boston, numbering 7,000 soldiers, 4,000 seamen, and 1,500 families of loyalists. Sailed for Halifax that day.

June 18.—Evacuation of Canada by the Americans.

June 28.—Fort Sullivan, at Charleston Harbor, attacked by land water, by the British, and, after a contest lasting ten hours, the British were repulsed, with a loss of 225 killed and wounded, while the garrison suffered a loss of only 2 killed and 22 wounded.

July 4.—Congress declared the thirteen United States free and independent. [Following this declaration, the statue of George III., in New York, was taken down, and the lead, of which it was composed, was converted into musket balls.]

July 8.—Declaration of Independence read to the people by John Nixon, from the Observatory State House yard, Philadelphia.

Aug. 27.—Battle of Long Island, in which 5,000 Americans were defeated by 10,000 British, under command of Cornwallis. Gowanus and Clinton. About 500 Americans were killed and wounded, and 1,100 made prisoners. The British loss in killed, wounded and prisoners, was 367.

Aug. 29.—Washington, under cover of a heavy fog, silently retreated from Long Island to New York. [During the night a woman living near the present Fulton Ferry, where the Americans embarked, sent her negro servant to inform the British of the movement. The negro fell into the hands of the Hessians. They could not understand a word of his language, and detained him until so late in the morning that his information was of no avail.]

Sept. 1.—Captain Nathan Hale, of Connecticut, was captured and executed as a spy by order of Sir William Howe.

Sept. 15.—New York City evacuated by the Americans, and taken possession of by the British.

Sept. 21.—A fire broke out in a small grocery near the foot of Broad street, N. Y., and about 500 buildings were destroyed. The British charged the fire upon the Americans, but it was proven to be purely accidental.

Oct. 11-12.—Battle on Lake Champlain. Retreat of Washington over the Hudson and across the Jerseys to Pennsylvania.

Oct. 28.—A severe engagement was fought at White Plains, at which the Americans were driven from their position. Losses about equal—not more than 300 in killed, wounded and prisoners.

Nov. 26.—The British, 5,000 strong, capture Fort Washington, located between 181st and 186th streets, N. Y. In this engagement, the British lost more than 1,000 men, while the American loss in killed and wounded did not exceed 100. More than 2,000 Americans were made prisoners of war. [Nothing could exceed the horrors of those made prisoners. The sugar-houses of New York, being large, were used for the prisons, and therein scores suffered and died. But the most terrible scenes occurred on board several old hulks, which were anchored in the waters around New York, and used for prisoners. Of them, the Jersey was the most famous for the sufferings it contained, and brutality of its officers. From these vessels, anchored near the present Navy Yard at Brooklyn, almost 11,000 victims were carried ashore, during the war, and buried in shallow graves in the sand. Their remains were gathered in 1808, and put in a vault situated near the termination of Front street, at Hudson avenue, Brooklyn.]

Dec. 8.—The British squadron, defeated at Fort Sullivan, sailed into Narragansett Bay, and took possession of Rhode Island.

Dec. 12.—Congress, alarmed at the approach of the British to Philadelphia, adjourned to meet in Baltimore on the 20th inst.

Dec. 14.—Gen. Lee, while quartered in a small tavern at Baskingridge, New Jersey, remote from his troops, was surrounded and taken prisoner by English cavalry.

Dec. 25.—Washington crosses the Delaware.

Dec. 26.—Battle of Trenton. Rahl, the Hessian commander, was engaged at card-playing and wine-drinking, when a negro gave him a note from a Tory, warning him of the approach of the Americans. Being deeply interested in the game, and excited by wine, he thrust the note unopened into his pocket. By neglecting to read this note, he was taken completely by surprise, and a little after sunrise, and while rallying his troops in the streets of Trenton, he fell mortally wounded. Between 40 and 50 of the Hessians were killed and mortally wounded, and more than 1,000, with arms, ammunition and stores, were made prisoners.

Jan. 3.—Battle of Princeton. Washington attacks the reserves of Cornwallis in sight of Princeton, and just as the tide of battle was going in his favor, Cornwallis was aroused by the distant booming of cannon, and hastened to the assistance of his reserves. The Americans, who had not slept, nor scarcely tasted food, for thirty-six hours, were compelled, as the heat of the first battle was over, to contest with fresh troops or fly. Washington choose to fly, and when Cornwallis entered Princeton, not a "rebel" was found.

Jan. 7.—Americans attacked a party of Hessians, near Elizabethport, New Jersey, and killed between forty and fifty, and drove the remainder back to Staten Island.

March. 1.—British were driven entirely out of the State of New Jersey, except New Brunswick and Amboy.

March 23.—British make a descent to destroy American stores at Peekskill, N. Y., but the Americans perceiving that defense would be futile, set fire to the stores and retired to the hills in the rear, while the British returned to New York the same evening.

April 26.—Danbury, Conn., was burned by order of Governor Tryon, destroying a large quantity of stores belonging to Americans, and cruelly treating the inhabitants.

May 23.—Col. Meigs attacked a British provision post at Sag Harbor, Long Island, and burned a dozen vessels, the store houses and contents, and secured ninety prisoners without losing a man.

June.—Congress resolved that the flag should carry as many stars and stripes as there were States. This resulted at last in a cumbersome flag with twenty stars and twenty stripes.

June 14.—Adoption of the American flag by Congress.

June 30.—British evacuate New Jersey.

July 5.—Burgoyne, with an army 10,000 strong, invested Fort Mifflin. The fort was garrisoned by about three thousand Americans under Gen. St. Clair. Owing to the immense advantage gained by the British, in planting a cannon on Mount Defiance, a hill 750 feet in height, the Americans were defeated and dispersed with a loss of a little over 300 in killed, wounded and missing; the British loss was reported at 183.

July 27.—Murder of Miss McCrea.

July 10.—Col. William Barton, with a company of picked men, crossed Narragansett Bay in whale boats, in the midst of the English fleet, and captured Gen. Prescott, while in bed, and carried him to Providence.

July 31.—Lafayette commissioned by Congress Major-General.

Aug. 3.—Lafayette introduced to Washington at a public dinner.

Aug. 16.—A party of marauders from Burgoyne's army were defeated at Pennington by the New Hampshire militia under command of Col. Stark. On the same evening, another party from Burgoyne's army were defeated by a Continental force, under Col. Seth Warner. The British lost by these expeditions almost 1,000 men, while the Americans lost but 100 men and as many wounded.

Sept. 11.—Battle of Brandywine. Gen. Howe, in command of 16,000 British troops, manoeuvres to take Philadelphia. Washington, with an army of 11,000, determines to defend the city, and takes a position at Chad's Ford, on the Brandywine. A portion of the British army succeed in getting in his rear, and he is compelled to retreat to Chester, and on September 12th to Philadelphia. American loss in killed, wounded, and prisoners, 1,200; British loss, near 800. During the engagement, Lafayette was wounded in the leg. He was conveyed to Bethlehem, Pa., where the Moravian Sisters nursed him during his confinement.

Sept. 19.—A severe but indecisive engagement was fought at Bemis' Heights, between the forces under General Burgoyne and General Gates. The number of Americans engaged in this battle was about 2,500; that of the British about 3,000. American loss in killed, wounded and missing, 319; British loss, about 500. [Bemis' Heights is about 4 miles north of the valley of Still Water, and 25 miles north of Albany.]

Sept. 28.—General Wayne was surprised by a party of British and Hessians under General Gray, near Paoli Tavern, Chester county, Pa., and lost 300 men of his party. The bodies of 53 Americans, found on the field next morning, were interred in one broad grave, and 40 years afterwards, the Republican Artillerist, of Chester county, erected a neat marble monument over them.

Sept. 26.—The British, under Howe, march to Philadelphia without opposition.

Sept. 27.—Congress fled from Philadelphia to Lancaster, Pa.

Sept. 30.—Congress assembled in York, Pa., and continued in session there until the following summer.

Oct. 4.—Battle of Germantown. Washington attacked the British at Germantown, and caused the enemy to make a hasty retreat. Lieut. Col. Musgrave, in the retreat, in order to avoid the bayonets of his pursuers, took refuge in a stone house. This, together with a heavy fog, occasioned many mistakes among the Americans; and after a severe action, they were obliged to retreat with the loss of about 1,000 men in killed and wounded; while the British loss was about 800 killed and wounded.

Oct. 7.—Battle of Saratoga. Another battle was fought between Burgoyne and Gates on the same ground occupied September 19th, and, after a severe struggle, Burgoyne was compelled to fall back to the heights of Saratoga, leaving the Americans in possession of the field.

Oct. 13.—Kingston, N. Y., burned. General Clinton, who was to reinforce Burgoyne at Saratoga, sends marauding parties through the country, and burns Kingston. Being informed of Burgoyne's surrender, he retreats to New York.—[While the American forces were re-gathering, a man from the British army was arrested on suspicion of being a spy. He was seen to swallow something. An emetic brought it up, and it was discovered to be a hollow silver bullet, containing a dispatch from Clinton to Burgoyne written on thin paper. That bullet is yet in the family of George Clinton, who was the first Republican Governor of New York.]

Oct. 17.—Burgoyne surrenders his whole army, numbering 5,791, to Gen. Gates, at Saratoga, N. Y.

Oct. 22.—Fort Mercer, on the Delaware river, was attacked by 2,000 Hessian grenadiers, under Count Donop, and were repulsed by a garrison of 500 men, under Lieut. Col. Green. Hessians' loss, 400. Donop was terribly wounded, and was taken to the house of a Quaker near by, where he died. He was buried beneath the fort. [A few years ago his bones were disinterred and his skull was taken possession of by a New Jersey physician.]

Nov. 9.—Howe's army goes into winter quarters at Philadelphia.

Nov. 16.—American garrison abandon Fort Mifflin, and two days after, British ships sail up to Philadelphia.

Dec. 4.—Gen. Howe marched out to attack Washington, expecting to take him by surprise, but a Quaker lady of Philadelphia, who had overheard British officers talking about this enterprise at her house, gave Washington timely information, and he was too well prepared for Howe to fear his menaces. After some skirmishes, in which several Americans were lost, Howe returned to Philadelphia.

Dec. 11.—Washington goes into winter quarters at Valley Forge. This was a gloomy winter for the Patriot army. Continental money was so depreciated in value that an officer's pay would not keep him in clothes. The men were camped in cold comfortless huts, with little food or clothing. Barefooted, they left on the frozen ground their tracks in blood. Few had blankets, and straw could not be obtained. Soldiers, weak from hunger and benumbed by cold, slept on the bare earth, with no change of clothing and no suitable food; sickness soon followed, and with no medicine to administer to their complaints, many found relief from their sufferings in death.

Dec. 16.—Independence of the United States acknowledged by France.

Dec. 18.—Constitution of North Carolina adopted.

During this year Vermont was claimed by both New York and New Hampshire, as a part of their territory, but the people met in convention and proclaimed themselves free, independent, and separate States. After purchasing the claims of New York, for $30,000, Vermont was admitted into the Union, February 18, 1791.

Feb. 6.—Treaty of alliance was formed with France, by which the French and Americans became united against the British Government.

March 20.—American Commissioners were received at the Court of France as the representatives of a sister nation; an event which was considered in Europe, at that time, as the most important which had occurred in the annals of America since its first discovery by Columbus.

May 7.—Salutes were fired by the army at Valley Forge, in honor of the event of the treaty of alliance with France, and, by order of Washington, shouts and huzzas were proclaimed for the King of France.

June 18.—Howe's army evacuate Philadelphia, and retreat towards New York.

June 28.—The battle of Monmouth was fought on a Sabbath day. It was one of the most sultry ever known when the two armies met in conflict, which raged from 9 A. M. until dark. Many soldiers on both sides fell from the excessive heat of the day, and when night came they were glad to rest. The British were commanded by Gen. Clinton and the Americans by Washington. The Americans intended to renew the fight on the morning of the 29th, but found the enemy's camp deserted. The British left about 300 killed on the field of battle, and a large number of sick and wounded. American loss in killed, wounded, and missing, 228. Many of the missing returned to the army, and the killed was less than 70.

July 5.—Massacre of Wyoming. About 1,600 Indians and Tories, under command of Butler and Brant, appeared on the banks of the Susquehanna, and compelled two of the forts nearest to the frontier to surrender to them. The savages spared the women and children, but butchered the rest of their prisoners without exception. They then surrounded Fort Kingston, and to dismay the garrison, hurled into the place 200 scalps still reeking with blood. The garrison was overpowered by the savages, and compelled to surrender. The prisoners, composed of men, women, and children, were then enclosed in houses and barracks, which were set on fire, and the miserable wretches were soon consumed by the flames. The whole Wyoming valley, consisting of eight towns on the Susquehanna, suffered the same destruction of life and property, and none escaped but a few women and children, and these dispersed and wandered about through the forests without food and without clothes until starved to death.

July 8.—Count D'Estaing, of the French navy, arrives in the Delaware with a large fleet, causing Howe to retreat with his vessels to the waters of Amboy or Raritan bay.

Aug. 12.—Count D'Estaing sailed out of Newport harbor, Rhode Island, to engage the British fleet in command of Howe, but a terrible storm arose and disabled both fleets, and the French squadron returned to Newport and sailed to Boston for repairs. [Very old people of Rhode Island used to speak of this gale as the great storm. So violent was the wind that it brought spray from the ocean a mile distant, and incrustated the windows of the town with salt.]

Aug. 29.—Battle of Quaker Hill, Rhode Island, in which the Americans lost 30 killed and 172 wounded and missing. British loss about 220.

Sept. 22.—Paul Jones' naval battle. The engagement lasted from seven in the morning until ten at night. The contest was fierce and desperate. Paul Jones, in command of the American flotilla, finding the enemy's guns longer than his, brought his ships so close, until the muzzles of his guns came in contact with those of the enemy. The magazine of the British ship Serapis blew up, set fire to the vessel and communicated the flames to Jones' vessel. In the midst of this the American frigate Alliance came up, and mistaking her partner, fired a broadside into the vessel of Jones; but soon discovered her mistake and turned her guns upon the enemy. The British crew were all killed or wounded, the Serapis on fire, (but the flames were afterward subdued) and the frigate Countess of Scarborough captured by the Americans. Paul Jones came off victorious. His vessel (the Goodman Richard) was so badly crippled that it soon sunk; and of the crew of 365, only 68 were left alive. Jones, after this victory, wandered with his unmanageable vessel for some time, and at length, on the 6th of October found his way into the waters of the Texel.

Nov. 11.—Cherry Valley, New York, attacked by Indians and Tories. Many of the people were killed and carried into captivity, and for an area of a hundred miles around the village, desolation, ruin, and destruction prevailed for months.

Dec. 29.—Savannah captured. General Howe, the American officer, defended the city with about 1,000 men, while he was attacked by Col. Campbell of the British forces with 2,000 veterans. Through the treachery of a negro, Campbell was informed of a private path to the right of the Americans, through which his troops marched and gained the rear of Howe's army. Howe finding himself attacked in front and rear ordered a retreat, pursued by the enemy. The Americans lost 100 killed, 38 officers and 415 privates made prisoners. The whole loss of the British was 7 killed and 19 wounded.

ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY,

ST. LOUIS, MO.

This Literary Institution, under the direction of the Jesuit Fathers, was established in 1829, in what was then the neighborhood of St. Louis, but is now at the very heart of the city. It is situated a few blocks from the Union Depot, only two blocks from the Lindell Hotel, and it is, consequently, of easy access to parents and students who come from a distance. Though in the center of a large city, the College enjoys to a certain extent the advantages of the country, its play-ground being so spacious as to afford ample room for out-door exercise. The College possesses a villa or country seat, easily reached by street cars, where the students may spend their weekly holy days and summer vacation.

The St. Louis University by its charter, granted in 1832, has the power to confer degrees and academical honors in all the learned professions, but for many years past it has limited itself to the Classical and Commercial branches of a thorough education.

There are two distinct courses of study, the Classical and the Commercial. French and German are optional in either course, and form no extra charge.

southward from Savannah, captured by the British.

Feb. 14.—While a band of Tories, under Col. Boyd, were on their march to join the Royal troops, and desolating the Carolina frontier, they were attacked by Colonel Pickens, at the head of a body of militia. Boyd and 70 of his men were killed, and 75 made prisoners. Pickens lost 38.

March 3.—General Ashe, in command of near 2,000 Americans at Brier creek, about 40 miles below Augusta, Ga., was surprised by Gen. Prevost and lost almost his entire army by death, captivity, and disappearance. About 150 killed and drowned, 80 made prisoners, and a large number who were dispersed, did not take up arms again for several months.

March 11.—General Prevost, commanding the British forces, demands the surrender of Charleston, but, receiving a prompt refusal, he spent the remainder of the day in preparing for an assault. That night was a fearful one for the citizens, for they expected to be greeted at dawn with bursting bomb-shells and red-hot cannon balls. But Prevost had been informed of the approach of Lincoln, and at midnight retreated to Savannah.

March 26.—Governor Tryon went with 1,500 British regulars and Hessians to destroy some salt works at Horseneck, N. Y., and attack an American detachment under General Putnam at Greenwich. The Americans were dispersed, but Putnam rallied his troops at Stamford, pursued the British on their return to New York the same evening, capturing a lot of plunder and 38 prisoners.

May 9.—Sir George Collier entered Hampton Roads with a small fleet, bearing General Matthews with land troops, and from thence they carried destruction and desolation on both sides of Elizabeth river, from the Roads to Norfolk and Portsmouth.

June 20.—The British were attacked at Stone Ferry, 10 miles southwest from Charleston, by a part of Lincoln's army, but after a severe engagement, and the loss of almost 300 men in killed and wounded, they repulsed the Americans, whose loss was greater.

July 4.—Collier's vessels conveyed Governor Tryon and 2,500 troops to the shores of Connecticut, where they plundered New Haven and laid East Haven, Fairfield, and Norwalk in ashes, and cruelly treated the defenseless inhabitants. This destruction was completed from the 4th to the 12th of July.

July 15.—Stony Point, 40 miles north of New York on the Hudson, captured by General Wayne. Wayne attacked the fort in the rear with ball and bayonet at two separate points, in the face of a heavy cannonade from the garrison. Wayne, though wounded in the head wrote to Washington, "The fort and garrison, with Col. Johnson, are ours." The British loss in killed, wounded, and prisoners, about 600; the loss of Americans was 15 killed and 83 wounded.

July 19.—Major Henry Lee surprised the British garrison at Paulus Hook (now Jersey City) opposite New York, and killed thirty soldiers and took one hundred and sixty prisoners.

Oct. 9.—A combined assault by the Americans and French was commenced on the British works around Savannah, by General Lincoln and Count D'Estaing, and after five hours hard fighting there was a truce for the purpose of burying the dead. Nearly 1,000 of the French and Americans had been killed and wounded. A renewal of the assault was proposed by General Lincoln, but he was compelled to give up the idea when he felt sure of victory, on account of the opposition of the French Commander.

Oct. 25.—British troops evacuate Rhode Island, leaving behind them all their heavy artillery and a large quantity of stores.

Murder of Mrs. Caldwell.—While the British were plundering through the State of New Jersey, in the vicinity of Elizabeth-town, they came upon the residence of Rev. Mr. Caldwell. Mrs. Caldwell was sitting on the bed with her little child by the hand, and her nurse, with her infant babe by her side, when she was instantly shot dead by an unfeeling British soldier, who had come around to an unguarded part of the house, with an evident design to perpetrate the deed. Her murderer was never punished.

April 14.—General Tarleton, commanding the British, defeated Col. Huger on the head-waters of the Cooper river, near Charleston, S. C., and killed 25 Americans.

May 6.—A party under Col. White, of New Jersey, were routed at a ferry on the Santee, with a loss of about thirty in killed, wounded, and prisoners.

May 12.—Surrender of Charleston. After three days of heavy cannonade from two hundred guns, and all night long the bursting of destructive bombs, and at one time a fire in five different places, the city of Charleston was surrendered to the British, under Gen. Clinton. Gen. Lincoln and his troops, with a number of citizens, were made prisoners of war. Altogether the captives amounted to between 5,000 and 6,000, and four hundred pieces of cannon.

[Among the American detachments which hastened towards Charleston to assist Lincoln, and retreated when they heard of his fall, was that of Col. Buford, commanding 400 infantry and a small troop of cavalry, with two field pieces. He retreated, and when near the Wax-haw Creek, some 60 miles further north, he was overtaken and surprised by Tarleton. They gave no quarters, but massacred or maimed the larger portion of Buford's command. His loss in killed, wounded, and prisoners was 313. He also lost his artillery, ammunition, and baggage.]

May 19.—Dark days. Darkness commenced between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M., and continued until the middle of the next night. Its extent was from Falmouth, Maine, to New Jersey. The darkness was so great in some part of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island and Connecticut, that persons were unable to see to read, or manage their domestic business, without lighting candles, and everything bore the appearance and gloom of night.

June 7.—British take possession of Elizabethtown and burn Connecticut farms.

June 12.—Clinton, commanding British forces, endeavors to draw Washington into a general battle or to capture his stores at Morristown, but fails in both.

June 23.—In a skirmish at Springfield, N. J., the British were defeated by the Americans under Gen. Greene. After setting fire to the village, the enemy retreated, and passed over to Staten Island.

July 10.—A powerful French fleet, under Admiral Ternay, arrives at Newport, Rhode Island, bearing 6,000 troops, under the Count de Rochambeau. This had a tendency to restrain Clinton from any further advances towards enticing Washington to fight.

Aug. 6.—Battle of Camden. After a desperate struggle with an overwhelming force, the Americans, under command of Gen. Gates, were defeated and routed with a loss of killed, wounded and prisoners, of about 1,000 men, besides all of their artillery and ammunition and a portion of their baggage and stores. The British loss was 325. Among the American officers killed was Baron de Kalb, whose remains yet lie under a monument at Camden.

Sept. 4.—Benedict Arnold's treason discovered.

Sept. 28.—Major Andre was captured by three militiamen named John Paulding, David Williams, and Isaac Van Wart.

Oct. 2.—Major John Andre, an adjutant general in the British army, was hanged as a spy at Tappan, on the Hudson river, New York.

Oct. 7.—Battle of King's Mountain, South Carolina. This was a severe engagement, in which the British were defeated with a loss of 300 men in killed and wounded, and the death of Major Patrick Ferguson, their commander. The spoils of victory, which cost the Americans only 20 men, were 800 prisoners and 1,500 stand of arms.

Nov. 20.—Gen. Sumter engages the British general Tarleton at Blackstocks's plantation on the Tyger river, in a Union district. The British were repulsed with a loss in killed and wounded of about 300. The American loss was only 3 killed and 5 wounded. Sumter was among the latter, and he was detained from the field for several months, by his wounds.

Murder of Mr. Caldwell (husband of Mrs. Caldwell, killed in 1780). Mr. Caldwell was escorting a lady from New York, up town, in Elizabethtown. She was carrying a small bundle tied up in her handkerchief, when a British sentinel said the bundle must be seized for the State. Mr. Caldwell immediately left the lady, saying he would deliver the bundle to the commanding officer, who was present; and, as he stepped forward to do so, another soldier told him to stop, which he immediately did. The soldier without further provocation shot him dead on the spot. The villain who murdered him was seized and executed.

Jan. 1.—Mutiny of Pennsylvania Line. The pay of officers and men of the Continental army had been so long in arrears, and money asked for in vain, that finally 1,300 troops of the Pennsylvania Line left the camp at Morristown, with the avowed determination of marching to Philadelphia, and in person, demand justice of the National Legislature. When the mutineers reached Princeton they were met by British emissaries from New York, who came to seduce them by bribes to enter the King's service. Indignant at the implied suspicion of their patriotism, the insurgents seized the spies and delivered them to Gen. Wayne for punishment. When Gen. Wayne, who was sent by Washington to bring the insurgents back, first placed himself before the insurgents with loaded pistols, they put their bayonets to his breast, and said: "We love and respect you, but if you fire you are a dead man. We are not going to the enemy; on the contrary, if they were now to come out, you should see us fight under your orders with as much alacrity as ever." They were met also by a deputation from Congress, who relieved their wants, and gave them such satisfactory guarantees for the future, that they returned to their duty.

Jan.—The Bank of North America, the first ever established in the United States, about this time came into existence in Philadelphia. It was under the charge of Robert Morris, to whose superintendence Congress had intrusted the public Treasury.

Jan. 5.—Benedict Arnold, traitor, now in the employ of the British, penetrates up the James river, and destroys a large quantity of public and private stores at Richmond. [Great efforts were made to seize Arnold. Sergeant Champs, one of Major Lee's dragoons, went in disguise to New York, enlisted in a corpse over which Arnold had command, and had almost consummated a plan for abducting him to the Jersey shore, when the traitor was ordered to the Southern expedition. Instead of carrying Arnold off, Champs, himself, was taken to Virginia with the corps in which he had enlisted. There he escaped and joined Lee in the Carolinas.]

Jan. 17.—Defeat of the British at Cowpens, S. C., by Gen. Morgan. The enemy lost near 300 men in killed and wounded, 500 were made prisoners, and a large quantity of arms, ammunition, and stores were captured.

Jan. 18.—A mutiny occurred among a portion of the Jersey line, at Pompton. Washington sent General Robert Howe, with 500 men, to suppress it, and, after hanging two of the ringleaders, the remainder quietly submitted.

March 15.—Battle of Guilford, N. C. The Americans were repulsed and the British were left masters of the field, though the victory so completely shattered Cornwallis' army that it was almost as destructive to him as a defeat. American loss, in killed and wounded, about 400, besides almost 1,000 who deserted to their homes. The loss of the British was over 600, including Lieut.-Col. Webster, one of the most efficient officers in the British army.

April 25.—Battle near Camden, S. C. While Gen. Greene was breakfasting at a spring on the eastern slope of Hobkirk's Hill, S. C., and while some of his men were cleaning their guns, and others washing their clothes, they were surprised and defeated by the British, under Rawdon. American loss in killed, wounded and missing, 266 men. The British lost 258. Greene conducted his retreat so well, that he carried away all his artillery and baggage, with 50 British prisoners.

May 10.—Gen. Rawdon, alarmed at the prospective increase in Greene's army, set fire to Camden, and retreats to Nelson's Ferry, on the Santee.

June 4.—Gen. Tarleton, in command of a British mauling party, captured seven members of the Virginia Legislature. Gov. Jefferson narrowly escaped capture by fleeing from his house to the mountains.

June 5.—Surrender of Augusta, Ga., to the Americans, under Gen. Lee, after a siege of eleven days. American loss 51 in killed and wounded. British loss 52 killed, and 334 (including wounded) were made prisoners.

Sept. 6.—Arnold lands at the mouth of the Thames, attacks Fort Trumbull, and burns New London (his native town), Connecticut. Another division of this expedition went up on the east side of the Thames, attacked Fort Griswold, at Groton, and after Col. Ledyard had surrendered it, he, and almost every man in the fort were cruelly murdered or badly wounded.

Sept. 8.—Battle of Eutaw Springs, S. C. This was a severe battle, which resulted in the British being driven from their camp by Gen. Greene. But while the Americans were scattered among the tents of the enemy, indulging in drinking and plundering, the British unexpectedly renewed the battle, and, after a bloody conflict of about four hours, the Americans were obliged to give way. That night, the British retreated to Charleston, and the next day, Greene took possession of the battlefield. American loss in killed, wounded and missing, 555. British loss, 693.

Oct. 19.—Surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. For ten days, the Americans kept up a heavy cannonade upon the British works at Yorktown, and hurled red-hot balls among the English shipping, and burned several vessels. Cornwallis, despairing of receiving any aid, and perceiving his fortifications crumbling one by one under the terrible storm of iron from a hundred heavy cannon, attempted to escape by crossing to Gloucester, break through the French troops stationed there, and, by forced marches, reach New York. When the van of his troops embarked on York River, a storm arose as fearful and as sudden as a summer tornado, disburbed the boats, compelled many to put back, and the attempt was abandoned. Cornwallis surrendered 7,000 British soldiers to Washington, and his shipping and seamen into the hands of DeGrasse.

Oct. 24.—Congress, and the loyal people throughout the United States, join in rendering thanks to God for the great victory at Yorktown—the surrender of Cornwallis.

Jan. 20.—French and English Commissioners sign a treaty of peace.

Sept. 3.—A definite treaty of peace signed at Paris, and England acknowledged the independence of the United States; allowed ample boundaries extending northward to the great lakes, and westward to the Mississippi.

Nov. 3.—Continental army disbanded and return to their homes. Of the two hundred and thirty thousand Continental soldiers, and the fifty-six thousand militia, who bore arms during the war, scarcely any survive at the present day. Great Britain sent to America during the war 112,584 troops for the land service, and more than 22,000 seamen. Of this host, not one is known to be living. One of them (John Battin) died in the city of New York, June, 1852, at the age of 100 years and 4 months.

Nov. 25.—British evacuate New York, and on the same day, General Knox entered the city with a small remnant of the Continental army, and took possession of the city. Before evening, the last British soldier passed from the shores of America.

Dec. 23.—Washington, in the city of Annapolis, Maryland, resigns his commission in the army.

During the war, the English employed to aid them in the subjection of the country over 11,000 Indians, whose mode of warfare was to take scalps, not prisoners, and to massacre women and children. As an evidence of this fact, Captain Gerrish, of the New England militia, captured on the frontier of Canada eight packages of scalps, properly cured and dried, which were to be sent to England as a present from the Seneca Indians to George III. The packages contained 43 scalps of soldiers, 297 of farmers, 88 of women, 190 of boys, 211 of girls, 22 of infants, and 122 assorted, making a total of 973 scalps.

Shay's insurrection in Massachusetts. Heavy taxes, decay of trade, and debts due from individuals to each other, were the primary cause of the insurrection. Daniel Shay, at the head of 1,100 malcontents, threatened the peace of the State by attempting to intimidate the courts. He approached Springfield for the purpose of taking possession of the barracks, when he was met by the militia under Gen. Shephard. The artillery was leveled at the malcontents, and three were killed and one wounded. They then dispersed, taking refuge in the neighboring States.

The first mint went into operation in Philadelphia, and remained the sole issuer of coin in the United States until 1835, when a branch was established in each of the States of Georgia, North Carolina and Louisiana.

Yellow fever in Philadelphia. It commenced in August, and lasted until about the 9th of November, during which time 4,000 persons died out of a population of 60,000; as many as 119 dying in a single day. More than one-half of the houses were closed, and about one-third of the inhabitants fled the city. The streets were almost entirely deserted, except by a few persons who were in quest of a physician, a nurse, a bleeder, or the men who bury the dead.

John Hancock, Roger Sherman and John Manly died this year.

Indiana State Building, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.

—This building is constructed of a combination of wood and other building materials, a frame of wood being the support of the building and roof, to which an outer wall of brick, stone, terra-cotta, iron and coal can be attached. The assembly hall is a grand auditorium for miscellaneous gatherings. It is in the form of an irregular cross, 55 feet at its longest angle, and has about 1,400 feet of floor. From the level of the ceilings of the side rooms it is spanned by a truss-arched roof at a height of 24 feet above the center of the hall. It is lighted by the rotunda above, and an ornamental fountain plays in the center below. On the walls are 200 tablets, of which number, 92 are used by the counties of the State for the general statistics of each county, and the remainder are given to individuals or firms. The entire cost of the building was $10,000.

Whisky insurrection in Pennsylvania. A law was passed in 1791, which imposed duties on domestic distilled liquors, and when officers of the Government were sent to enforce it among the Dutch inhabitants of western Pennsylvania, they were resisted by the people in arms. The insurrection soon became general in all the western counties, and in the vicinity of Pittsburgh many outrages were committed. Buildings were burned, mails were robbed, and Government officers were insulted and abused. It was thought that the insurgents at one time numbered 7,000. The President ordered a large body of militia, under Gen. Henry Lee, to the scene of these troubles, and the insurrectionists were dispersed and obedience to the laws enforced.

Congress appropriates seven hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of organizing a navy. This was the first movement of the United States in establishing a navy.

Feb.—Bank of United States incorporated with a capital of $10,000,000. Prior to this, the whole banking capital in the United States was only $2,000,000, invested in the Bank of North America, at Philadelphia; the Bank of New York, in New York City; and the Bank of Massachusetts, in Boston.

April 19.—John Jay was appointed by the United States envoy extraordinary to the British Court, to adjust all complaints growing out of the Revolutionary war, such as the British violating the treaty of September 3, 1783, by holding military posts on the frontiers; that British emissaries incited the Indians to hostilities; that no indemnification had been made for plantations plundered and negroes sold into the West Indies at the close of the war; and also to remonstrate to the English government against capturing neutral vessels and impressing our seamen into their service.

Nov. 28.—A treaty of peace was made with the Dey of Algiers, by which an annual tribute was given by the United States, for the redemption of captives. Between the years 1785 and 1793, the Algerine pirates captured and carried into Algiers fifteen American vessels, and made 180 officers and seamen slaves of the most revolting kind. By this treaty the United States agrees to pay $800,000 for captives then alive, and in addition, to make the Dey, or governor, a present of a frigate worth $100,000. An annual tribute of $23,000, in maritime stores, was also paid. This was complied with until the breaking out of the war of 1812.

June 24.—A treaty, concluded by Mr. Jay, with the British government, was ratified by the Senate. This treaty was not very satisfactory. It provided for the collection of debts here by British creditors, which had been contracted before the revolution, but procured no redress for those who lost negroes. It secured indemnity for unlawful captures on the June.—Tennessee admitted into the United States, making the number of States in the Union sixteen.

Louis Phillippe, King of France, arrived in Philadelphia. He makes a tour through the country; returns again to the United States in 1800, thence to France, and dies in England in 1848.

Credit of the Government re-established, and all disputes with foreign powers, except France, adjusted.

Sept. 17.—Washington issued his farewell address.

John Adams inaugurated President of the United States; Thomas Jefferson, Vice-President.

May 15.—An extra session of Congress was convened to consider our relations with France. Our government had been insulted by the French minister here, the American minister ordered to leave France, and the French authorized depredations upon our commerce. Three envoys, appointed by Congress to proceed to France to adjust difficulties, were refused an audience unless they would pay a tribute to the French treasury, and, upon refusal, were ordered out of the country.

Nov.—Congress convened, and preparations were made for war with France.

Alien and sedition laws adopted by the United States. The first authorized the President to expel from the country any person not a citizen, who should be suspected of conspiring against the Republic. The sedition law authorized the suppression of publications calculated to weaken the authority of the government.

May.—Quite a large standing army was authorized by Congress, and in July Washington was appointed its Commander-in-Chief. The army was never summoned to the field.

Jan.—Lafayette returns to France.

Feb.—Hostilities commenced on the ocean between the United States and France, and the U. S. frigate Constellation captures the French frigate L'Insurgente.

Feb. 26.—Three commissioners proceed to France to negotiate for peace. When they arrived in France they found the government in the hands of Napoleon Bonaparte. He promptly received the commissioners, concluded a treaty of peace September 30, 1800, and gave such assurances of friendly relations that the provincial army of the United States was disbanded.

Dec. 14.—Washington died at Mount Vernon, at the age of sixty-eight years. At the recommendation of Congress, the wearing of crape on the left arm for thirty days, was pretty generally complied with.

Removal of the Capitol from Philadelphia to Washington.

A second census was taken, and the population of the Union was found to be 5,319,762, an increase of 1,400,000 in ten years. The revenue, which amounted to $4,771,000 in 1790, now amounted to $13,000,000.

The inoculation of the kine pock introduced into America by Professor Waterhouse of Cambridge, Mass.

Repeal of the act imposing internal duties. The enforcement of this law is what caused the whisky insurrection in Western Pennsylvania in 1794.

March 4.—Thomas Jefferson inaugurated President of the United States, and Aaron Burr Vice-President. When the electors counted the votes Jefferson and Burr had an equal number. According to the provisions of the Constitution the vote was then transferred to the House of Representatives. Mr. Jefferson was finally chosen President after 35 ballots, and Burr proclaimed Vice-President.

June 10.—Tripoli declares war against the United States. Prior to the declaration of war (1800) Capt. Bainbridge arrived at Algiers, in the frigate George Washington. The Dey demanded the use of his vessel to carry an ambassador to Constantinople. Bainbridge remonstrated, when the Dey haughtily observed: "You pay me tribute, by which you become my slaves, and therefore I have a right to order you as I think proper." Bainbridge was obliged to comply, for the castle guns would not allow him to pass out of the harbor.

Com. Preble sent to humble the Algerine pirates. After bringing the Emperor of Morocco to terms, his squadron proceeded to Tripoli. One of his vessels (the Philadelphia) struck on a rock while reconnoitering, and was captured by the Tripolitans. The officers were treated as prisoners, but the crew were made slaves.

April.—Louisiana purchased of France for $15,000,000, and divided into Territory of New Orleans and the District of Louisiana. It contained a mixed population of about 85,000, and 40,000 slaves at this time.

Jerome Bonaparte, nineteen years of age, arrived in New York. He visits Baltimore, falls in love there with a Miss Patterson and marries her. In 1805 he returns to France, leaving his wife to follow. The Emperor forbids her to enter France, and had the marriage annulled by the French Council. Jerome then married the daughter of the King of Wurtemberg, and six days after was made King of Westphalia.

Feb. 3.—Lieut. Decatur, with only 76 men, sails into the harbor of Tripoli, boards the Philadelphia, killed and drove into the sea all the Tripolitans defending her, set fire to the vessel, and returned to the American squadron without losing a man.

July 12.—Alexander Hamilton killed in a duel by Aaron Burr. The difficulty grew out of a political quarrel. Burr had been informed of some remarks made by Hamilton in public, derogatory to his character, and he demanded a retraction. Hamilton considered his demand unreasonable, and refused compliance. Burr challenged him to fight, and Hamilton reluctantly met him on the west side of the Hudson, near Hoboken, N. J., where they fought with pistols. Hamilton discharged his weapon in the air, but Burr took fatal aim, and his antagonist fell. Hamilton died the next day.

Cause of War in 1812.—England insists upon continuing the right to search American vessels for suspected deserters from the British navy. American seamen were thus forced into the British service, under the pretense that they were deserters. The British in persisting in this outrage upon American seamen brought on the war of 1812.

Treason of Burr.—During the summer of this year Aaron Burr organized military expeditions in the west, and the secrecy with which he carried on his operations, led the government to suspect that he designed to dismember the Union, and establish an independent empire west of the Alleghenies, with himself at the head.

Feb.—Aaron Burr arrested on the Tombigbee river, in the State of Alabama, on the charge of treason. He was tried at Richmond, Va., but the testimony showed that his probable design was an invasion of Mexican provinces, and then to establish an independent government. He was acquitted.

June 22.—The Chesapeake fired upon by the British frigate Leopard. The British demanded four seamen from the commander of the Chesapeake, claiming them as deserters from the British ship Melampus. Commodore Barron, not suspecting danger, and unprepared for an attack, surrendered the Chesapeake after losing three men killed and eighteen wounded.

July.—Proclamation issued ordering all British armed vessels to leave the waters of the United States, and forbidding any to enter until full satisfaction is given for the outrage on the United States frigate Chesapeake, and security against future aggressions should be made.

Nov. 11.—British in council issue an order prohibiting neutral nations trading with France, excepting upon paying a tribute to Great Britain; and France retaliates by issuing a decree December 17, forbidding all trade with England or her colonies, and authorizing the confiscation of any vessel found in French ports which had submitted to English search, or paid the exacted tribute. These retaliating war measures between England and France almost destroyed American shipping trade abroad.

Dec. 22.—Congress decreed an embargo, which detained all vessels, American and foreign, in our ports, and ordered American vessels home immediately, that the seamen might be trained for war.

The first steamboat built in the world by Robert Fulton, in New York. It was named "Clermont," and made its first trip during this year from New York to Albany.

Jan. 1.—The importation of African slaves into the United States, prohibited by Congress.

Commodore Barron, of the Chesapeake, tried and sentenced to be suspended for five years, on account of surrendering his vessel to the British in 1807.

March 1.—Congress repeals the embargo on shipping, and at the same time passes a law forbidding all commercial intercourse with England and France until their obnoxious restrictions on commerce shall be removed.

March 4.—James Madison inaugurated President of the United States and George Clinton as Vice-President.

General Harrison concludes a treaty with the Miami Indians, by which the United States gets possession of a large tract of land on both sides of the Wabash.

Third census of the United States. Population, 7,239,814.

March 23.—France issued a decree which declared every American vessel which had entered French ports since March, 1810, or that might thereafter enter, as forfeited, and authorized the sale of the same, together with the cargoes, and money to be placed in the French treasury. Bonaparte justified this decree on the plea that it was made in retaliation for the American decree of non-intercourse.

May.—Congress offers to resume commercial relations with either France or England, or both, on condition that they repeal their obnoxious orders and decrees before March 3, 1811. France feigned compliance, and the United States resumed commercial intercourse with that nation. But American vessels continued to be seized by French cruisers, and on March, 1811, Napoleon declared the obnoxious laws to still exist, and America thereafter ceased intercourse with that nation.

April 16.—Engagement between the American frigate, President, Commodore Rogers commanding, and the British sloop-of-war, Little Belt, Captain Bingham. The Little Belt was preying upon American merchantmen when hailed by Rogers, of the President, and received a cannon shot in reply. A brief action ensued, when Captain Bingham, after losing eleven men killed and twenty-one wounded, gave a satisfactory answer to Rogers. At this time, the American navy numbered only twelve large vessels of war; the British near nine hundred.

of Chatham and Duane streets, N. Y., and destroyed nearly one hundred buildings on both sides of Chatham street.

Nov. 11.—Battle of Tippecanoe. At four o'clock in the morning, the Indians attacked the American camp, commanded by Gen. Harrison, but after a bloody battle, lasting until dawn, the Indians were repulsed. The battle of Tippecanoe was one of the most desperate ever fought with the Indians, and the loss was heavy on both sides.

The British government declare the attack on the Chesapeake to have been unauthorized, and promised pecuniary aid to the families of those who were killed.

Dec. 27.—Burning of the Theatre at Richmond, Va. There were about 600 persons in the audience when the fire was first discovered. There was but one door for egress, and men, women and children were pressing upon each other to get out, while the flames were surging upon those behind. It is supposed there were 61 persons burned to death.

During this year, British orders for searching American vessels and impressing American seamen were rigorously enforced: insult after insult was offered the American flag, and the British press insolently boasted that the United States "could not be kicked into a war." A continuation of these outrages brought on the war of 1812.

War of 1812.—Congress passed an act empowering the President to enlist 25,000 men, accept 50,000 volunteers, and to call out 100,000 militia. Henry Dearborn appointed commander-in-chief.

British Government declared the whole American coast to be in a state of blockade, except that of the New England States. The apparent sympathy of these States with Great Britain caused the enemies of our country to think that they would secede from the Union; but, as the war progressed, it proved that their patriotism was too strong to admit of such a catastrophe.

June.—Mob in Baltimore. A newspaper, called the Federal Republican, was destroyed by a mob for uttering sentiments of censure on the conduct of the Government. Shortly after this affair, the paper made its appearance again, containing severe allusions to the mayor, police, and people of Baltimore for the depredations that had been committed upon the establishment. The office was again mobbed, and during the frequent discharge of muskets, Dr. Gale was killed, when the party in the office were finally escorted by the military to the county jail for protection against further violence. Shortly after dark, the mob assembled at the jail, carried the mayor away by force, and compelled the turnkey to open the door. General Lingan was killed; eleven were beaten and mangled with such weapons as stones, bludgeons, sledge-hammers, etc., and thrown as dead into one pile. Mr. Hanson, editor of the paper, fainting from repeated wounds, was carried away by a gentleman of opposite political sentiments, at the risk of his life. No effectual inquiry was ever made into this violation of the law, and the guilty escaped punishment.

STRATA VIEW OF DRIVEN WELL.

June 4.—War with England. A bill declaring war to exist between the United States and Great Britain, passed the House of Representatives, by a vote of 79 to 49. On the 17th, it passed the Senate by a vote of 19 to 13, and on that day it received the signature of the President. He issued his war manifesto two days afterward, July 12.—Gen. Hull crosses the Detroit river to attack Fort Malden. He encamped at Sandwich, and by this fatal delay, lost every advantage which an immediate attack might have secured.

July 17.—Fort Mackinaw, one of the strongest posts of the United States, was surprised and captured by an allied force of British and Indians.

Aug. 5.—Maj. Van Horne, while escorting a supply party to camp, was defeated by some British and Indians, near Brownstown, on the Huron river.

Aug. 7.—Gen. Hull retires from Canada and takes his post at Detroit.

Aug. 13.—The Essex, Captain Porter, captures the Alert, the first vessel taken from the British during that war.

Aug. 16.—Hull surrenders Detroit to the British. The English were commanded by Brock, consisting of 700 troops and 600 Indians.

Aug. 19.—U. S. frigate, Constitution, Commodore Isaac Hull, captures the British frigate, Guerriere. The contest lasted about forty minutes when the commander of the Guerriere surrendered his vessel, which was so completely wrecked that she was burned. The Constitution suffered little damage and was ready for action the following day.

Sept. 10.—Perry's victory on Lake Erie.

Oct. 13.—Queenstown Heights on the Canada frontier, captured by 225 Americans under command of Col. Van Rensselaer. Van Rensselaer was wounded at the landing, and Capt. Wood took command and successfully assaulted and took possession of the Heights.

Oct. 13.—Gen. Brock, with 600 British troops, from Fort George, attempted to regain the battery at Queenstown Heights but was repulsed and Brock was killed. In the meantime Gen. Stephen Van Rensselaer was using his utmost endeavors to send reinforcements, but only 1,000 undisciplined troops could be induced to cross the river. These were attacked by fresh troops from Fort George and nearly all killed or made prisoners, while at least 1,500 of their companions in arms cowardly refused to cross to their aid.

Oct. 18.—U. S. sloop-of-war, Wasp, Capt. Jones, captures the British brig Frolic, after a very severe conflict for three-quarters of an hour. Only three officers and one seaman, of 84 of the crew of the Frolic remained unhurt. The Wasp lost only ten men. The same afternoon the British ship Poictiers, carrying 74 guns, captured the Wasp.

Oct. 25.—The frigate United States, Commodore Decatur, captures the British frigate Macedonia. The fight lasted near two hours. The British lost more than 100 in killed and wounded, and Decatur lost only five killed and seven wounded. The frigate United States was very little injured.

During this year, it is estimated that upwards of 50 British armed vessels and 250 merchantmen, with an aggregate of more than

3,000 prisoners, and a vast amount of booty, were captured by the Americans.

Dec. 29.—Commodore Bainbridge, commanded the frigate Constitution, after three hours fighting, captured the British frigate Java, off San Salvador. The Java had 400 men on board, of whom almost 200 were killed or wounded, and she was so badly crippled that Bainbridge, finding her incapable of floating, burned her three days after the action. The Constitution was very little damaged.

Jan. 17.—The British frigate Narcissus captured the United States schooner Viper.

Jan. 22.—Americans defeated at Frenchtown, about 25 miles south of Detroit. A combined force, under Proctor, of 1,500 British and Indians, fell upon the American camp, commanded by Gen. Winchester, at dawn. After a severe battle and heavy loss on both sides, Winchester, who was made prisoner by the Indians, surrendered his troops on condition that ample protection should be given. Proctor, fearing the approach of Harrison, immediately marched for Malden, leaving the sick and wounded Americans behind, who were afterwards murdered and scalped by the Indians.

Feb. 22.—Ogdensburg, N. Y., taken by the British.

Feb. 24.—United States sloop-of-war, Hornet, Capt. Lawrence, engages the British brig, Peacock, off the mouth of Demara river, South America. The Peacock surrendered after a conflict of fifteen minutes, and a few moments afterward she sunk, carrying down with her nine British seamen and three Americans. The loss of the Peacock in killed and wounded was 37; of the Hornet only 5.

April 25.—Mobile taken by a body of the American army.

April 27.—Americans capture York (now Toronto). The Americans landed about two miles west of the British works, and in the face of a galling fire from regulars and Indians, under Gen. Sheaffe, drove them back to their fortifications. The British retreated from the fort, but laid a train of wet powder to the magazine, and set fire to it, and while Gen. Pike, was pressing forward, the fort blew up, causing great destruction of life among the Americans. Gen. Pike was mortally wounded, but he lived long enough to know that the American flag floated in triumph over the fort at Toronto. Gen. Sheaffe escaped with the principal part of the troops, but lost all his baggage, books, papers, and a large amount of public property.

May 2.—British repulsed at Fort Sandusky, Ohio. The garrison of the fort consisted of 150 young men, commanded by Major Croghan, was assaulted by 500 regulars and 800 Indians, under Gen. Proctor. The British recoiled, panic-stricken, and fled in confusion, leaving 150 of their killed and wounded. American loss, 1 man killed and 7 wounded.

May 3.—Havre de Grace, Md., burned by the British blockading squadron.

May.—Unsuccessful siege of Fort Meigs, on the Maumee river, by the British. Gen. Clay, commanding 1,200 men, arrived with reinforcements for the fort and dispersed the enemy, but imprudently pursuing the fugitives, was surrounded and captured. Proctor returned to the siege, but his Indian allies under Tecumseh, becoming impatient, deserted him, and the siege was abandoned.

ITS MANY ADVANTAGES.

THE HENRY SALOON, in the most respectful part of the city, has been refitted for the accommodation of the citizens and traveling public.

On entering the Saloon, each gentleman will be asked how he likes the location, and if he says HENRY'S SALOON ought to have been placed somewhere else, the location will be immediately changed. The most comfortable seat in the room for each gent; daily papers from all parts of the country; piano and telegraph in each corner of the Saloon; drinks every minute if required; consequently no time lost; waiters of every nationality and color if desired; every waiter furnished with a libretto button-hole bouquet, full dress suit of hall tablers and his hair parted in the middle. Every patron of HENRY'S SALOON will have the best seat and the best waiter in the Saloon.

Any gent not getting his drinks red hot or ice cold as desired or experiencing a delay of ten seconds after giving his order will please mention the fact to the proprietor, and the bar-keepers and waiters will be blown from the mouth of a cannon in front of HENRY'S SALOON at once.

A discreet porter who belongs to the Masons, Odd Fellows, Sons of Malta, Knights of Pythias and Ku Klux, and who was never known to tell the truth or the time of the day, has been employed to carry Milk Punches, Hot Toddlies and Lemonades to the Ladies in any part of the town.

The bar-keeper has been carefully selected to please everybody, and can lead to song, play draw poker, shake or drinks at any hour of the day or night, play billiards, good waltzer, can dance the German, and make a fourth at euchre, repeat the Beecher trial from memory, is a good judge of horses, and as a railroad reference, is far superior to Appleton's or any other man's guide, will flirt with any young lady and not mind being cut to death when "Pa comes around" and dont mind being damned any more than the Mississippi river, can wait on forty guests at once, and give every gentleman the best drink in the house, and answer all questions in Greek, Hebrew, Choctaw, Sioux, Irish, German, or any polite language at the same moment without turning a hair. Dogs allowed to lie on the Brussels carpet or in the w(h)ine room.

Gentlemen can drink, smoke, swear, chew gum, gamble, tell shady stories, stare at strangers, or any innocent amusement common in saloons.

The proprietor will always be happy to hear that some other saloon is the best in the country.

Special attention given to parties who can give information as to how nicely and differently things are set up at other places.

This Card is good for the best drink at the bar on payment of the usual price.

May 27.—Fort George, on the western shore of Niagara river, near its mouth, surrendered to the Americans.

May 29.—British repulsed at Sackett's Harbor. Sir George Prevost and 1,000 soldiers landed in the face of a severe fire from some regulars stationed there. Gen. Brown, commander, rallied the militia, and their rapid gathering so alarmed Prevost, that he hastily re-embarked, leaving almost the whole of his wounded behind.

June 1.—"Don't give up the ship!" Capt. Lawrence, now in command of the frigate Chesapeake encountered the British frigate Shannon, about 30 miles from Boston. A furious action commenced which lasted only fifteen minutes. In that short time the Chesapeake lost 43 killed and 98 wounded; the Shannon 23 killed and 56 wounded. Lawrence, with his second officer in command, Ludlow, were among the slain at the beginning of the action; and, when Lawrence was carried below, he issued those brave and ever memorable words: "Don't give up the ship." During the contest the two vessels became entangled, and the British boarded the Chesapeake, and, after a desperate hand-to-hand struggle, hoisted the British flag. The remains of Lawrence, together with Ludlow's, were carried to Halifax and buried with the honors of war.

June 6.—British attack American camp at Stony Creek, Canada West, and were repulsed. It was very dark, and in the confusion both of the American generals (Chandler and Winder) were made prisoners. American loss in killed, wounded and missing, 154.

June 23.—Admiral Cockburn defeated at Craney Island.

June.—Gen. Dearborn, on account of ill-health, retires from commander-in-chief of the army, and is succeeded by General Wilkinson.

Aug. 14.—British sloop-of-war Pelican captures the American brig Argus.

Aug. 30.—Fort Mimms, on the Alabama river, surprised and captured by a large body of Indians, under Tecumseh, who massacred about 300 men, women, and children.

Sept. 5.—British brig Boxer, Captain Blythe, encounters American brig Enterprise, Lieut. Burrows, and after an engagement of forty minutes, off the coast of Maine, the Boxer surrendered. Both commanders were slain, and their bodies were buried in one grave at Portland.

Sept. 10.—Perry's victory on Lake Erie. The carnage of this engagement was very great. The Lawrence, Perry's flag ship, was soon disabled and became unmanageable, having all her crew, except four or five, killed or wounded. Perry then left her, in an open boat, and hoisted his flag on the Niagara. With this vessel he passed through the enemy's line, pouring broadsides right and left at half pistol-shot distance. The American loss, 27 killed and 96 wounded. The British lost about 200 in killed and wounded, and 600 prisoners. The British were commanded by Commodore Barclay.

Sept. 29.—Detroit evacuated by Proctor, and taken possession of by the Americans.

Oct. 5.—Battle of the Thames in Canada. Gen. Harrison, with 3,500 men, overtook Proctor in his retreat from Detroit, about 80 miles from that city. A desperate battle ensued.

Tecumseh was slain, and his followers, who fought furiously, broke and fled. Almost the whole of Proctor's command were killed or made prisoners, and the General himself narrowly escaped with a few of his cavalry.

Nov. 3.—Gen. Coffee, with 900 men, surrounded an Indian camp near where the village of Jacksonville, Benton county, Alabama, now stands, and killed 200 of them. Not a warrior escaped.

Nov. 5.—Americans again invade Canada, 7,000 strong, with the intention of co-operating with about 4,000 troops under Hampton, in an attack on Montreal.

Nov. 11.—Battle of Chrysler's Field, about ninety miles above Montreal, on the St.
Lawrence river. This battle was fought by a detachment under General Brown, who was sent to disperse the British at Williamsburg, and cover the descent of boats carrying American troops on the St. Lawrence. Americans lost more than 300 men in killed and wounded, and the British about 200.

Dec. 10.—General McClure, commanding at Fort George, burnt the Canadian village of Newark, and two days after was compelled by the British to abandon the fort.

Dec. 19.—Fort Niagara captured by a strong force of British and Indians, and, in retaliation for the burning of Newark, set fire and destroyed Youngstown, Lewistown, Manchester (now Niagara Falls), and the Tuscora-ra Indian village, in Niagara county.

Dec. 30.—Buffalo and the little village of Black Rock laid in ashes, and a large amount of public and private property destroyed.

The remains of Captain James Lawrence, who died from wounds received on board of the United States frigate, Chesapeake, in 1813, were removed from Halifax and interred in Trinity church yard, N. Y., with imposing ceremony.

Power loom introduced in the United States.

During the spring and summer Admiral Cockburn, with a small squadron, carried on a distressing warfare on the coast between Delaware Bay and Charleston. The shipping in the Delaware was destroyed, and Lewistown cannonaded; Frenchtown, Harre de Grace, Georgetown, and Frederickstown, on the Chesapeake, were plundered and burned.

March 27.—General Jackson attacked and defeated the Indians at the Great Horse-Shoe Bend, on the Tallapoosa river. The Indians had assembled there, in a fortified camp, 1,000 warriors strong, with their women and children, determined to make a desperate defense. They fought bravely, and almost 600 of their warriors were killed, as they refused to surrender. Only two or three were made prisoners, with about 300 women and children.
Among those who bowed in submission was Weathersford, their greatest leader. He appeared suddenly before Jackson, in his tent, and standing erect said: "I am in your power; do with me what you please. I have done the white people all the harm I could. I have fought them bravely. My warriors are all gone now, and I can do no more. When there was a chance for success I never asked for peace. There is none now, and I ask for it for the remnant of my nation."

LAPORTE, IND.

Art Exhibition Hall, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.—The building is in the modern form. The materials are granite, glass and iron. No wood is used in the construction. The building is 365 feet in length, 210 feet in width, and 59 feet in height. The dome is 150 feet from the ground. It is of glass and iron, and of a unique design. It terminates in a colossal bell, from which the figure of Columbia rises with protecting hands. A figure of colossal size stands at each corner of the base of the dome. These figures typify the four quarters of the globe. The building will remain as a permanent exhibition hall on the grounds. The cost of the building was $1,500,000.

Captain Porter, was captured in the harbor of Valparaiso, by the British frigate Phœbe, and sloop-of-war Cherub. It was a desperate battle, the Essex losing 154 men killed and wounded. Captain Porter, in acknowledging the defeat to the Secretary of the Navy, says: "We have been unfortunate but not disgraced."

April 21.—The United States sloop-of-war Frolic was captured by the British frigate Orpheus and schooner Shelbourne.

April 29.—The Peacock captured the British brig Epervier, off the coast of Florida.

May 5.—Battle of Oswego. A British squadron, carrying 3,000 men, attacked Oswego, by land and water. The town was defended by about 300 men, under Captain Mitchell, and a small flotilla, under Captain Woolsey. They defended the place for two days, when they were compelled to yield to superior force. The British loss was 235 men in killed and wounded; the Americans lost 69. The object of the British in this expedition was to destroy or capture a large quantity of stores at Oswego Falls, but the determined resistance they met with caused them to abandon the project.

July 3.—Generals Scott and Ripley cross the Niagara river into Canada, and capture Fort Erie.

July 5.—Battle of Chippewa. General Brown met the British in the open fields at Chippewa, and repulsed the enemy with a loss of about 500 men; American loss, about 300. The British retreated to Burlington Heights, where they were reinforced by troops under Lieut.-Gen. Drummond, who assumed command.

July 25.—Battle of Niagara Falls. The British force, under Drummond, was about one-third greater than Brown's. The battle commenced at sunset, and ended at midnight, when the Americans had lost 858 men in killed and wounded, and the British 878. The Americans were left in possession of the field, but were unable to carry away any of the spoils which they had captured. Generals Scott and Brown were wounded. The Americans retired to Fort Erie, where General Gaines took chief command.

Aug. 9-14.—Com. Hardy makes an unsuccessful attack on Stonington.

Aug. 15.—Gen. Drummond, in command of 5,000 British, made an assault on Fort Erie, but was repulsed with a loss of almost 1,000 men.

Aug. 24.—Battle of Bladensburg. Capture of Washington, burning of the White House, and other public and private buildings. Ross, the British commander, first attacked Gen. Winder and Com. Barney at Bladensburg, in command of 3,000 undisciplined militia, seamen and marines. The militia fled, and the marines and seamen were made prisoners. Ross was in command of 5,000 men. He then pushed on to Washington, completed his destruction there, and retreated to his shipping on the 29th of August. In these exploits the British loss in killed, wounded and by desertion, was almost 1,000 men; that of the Americans, about 100 killed and wounded, and 20 prisoners. The President and his Cabinet were at Bladensburg when the British approached, but returned to the city when the conflict began, and narrowly escaped capture.

Sept. 11.—Battle of Plattsburgh. The British, 14,000 strong, in command of Prevost, marched to Plattsburg, where, in conjunction with the navy, a battle ensued. The Americans, 1,500 strong, commanded by Gen. Maccomb, and a large body of militia, under Gen. Mooers, retired to the south side of the Saranac. The land forces fought until dark, and every attempt of the British to cross the Saranac was bravely resisted. In the evening, Prevost retreated, leaving his sick and wounded, and a large quantity of military stores, behind him. The British loss, from the 6th to the 11th of September, in killed, wounded, and deserted, was about 2,500; that of the Americans, 121.

Sept. 11.—McDonough's victory on Lake Champlain. After an engagement of two hours and forty minutes, the British fleet, under Com. Downie, surrendered. The Americans lost in killed and wounded 116; the British 194, among whom was Commodore Downie, whose remains lie under a monument at Plattsburg.

Sept. 12.—The British make an unsuccessful attack on Baltimore, were Gen. Smith was in command. Ross, with 8,000 British troops, was pressing forward, when he was met by Gen. Stricker; a slight skirmish ensues, in which Gen. Ross is killed. He is succeeded in command by Col. Brooke. A battle now commenced, which lasted an hour and a quarter, when the Americans fell back towards the city. Both parties slept on their arms that night. On the following morning the British advanced as if to attack the city. In the meantime a bombardment had been kept upon the fort, whose garrison, under command of Major Armisted, made a gallant defense. No less than 1,500 shells were thrown. On the morning of the 14th the British re-embarked, and silently withdrew from the city. It is estimated that the enemy lost between six and seven hundred in these engagements.

Sept. 13.—Key composes "The Star Spangled Banner."

Sept. 15.—British attack Fort Bower (now Fort Morgan) at the entrance to Mobile Bay. They are repulsed by Major Lawrence, with the loss of one ship and many men.

Sept. 17.—A successful sortie was made from Fort Erie, and the advanced works of the besiegers destroyed and the enemy driven toward Chippewa. Gen. Drummond then retired to Fort George, on the northwestern shore of the Niagara river, near its mouth.

Oct. 29.—First steam war vessel was launched, and named The Fulton.

Nov. 5.—Americans abandon and destroy Fort Erie, cross the river and go into winter quarters at Buffalo, Black Rock, and Batavia.

Nov. 7.—Gen. Jackson, with 2,000 Tennessee militia and some Choctaw warriors, stormed Pensacola, Fla., drove the British to their shipping, and finally from the harbor, and made the Governor beg for mercy and surrender the town and all its military works unconditionally. Jackson then returned to Mobile.

Dec. 2.—Gen. Jackson arrives at New Orleans and declares martial law.

Dec 14.—British capture a flotilla of American gun-boats in Lake Borgne. The attack was made by the enemy in about forty barges, conveying 1,200 men. American loss in killed and wounded about 40; the British about 300.

Dec. 15.—Hartford Convention. This convention consisted of delegates from Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island, and two members from New Hampshire, and one from Vermont. These last were appointed at county meetings. The object of the convention was opposition to the war, and a threaten of secession of the New England States, but failed to amount to anything.

Dec. 23.—Gen. Jackson attacked, in the night, about 2,400 of the enemy, on the Mississippi, 9 miles below New Orleans. After killing or wounding 400 of the British he withdrew. The American loss was about 100.

Dec. 24.—Treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain, signed at Ghent. The articles of the treaty chiefly related to the disputes respecting boundaries, for the determination of which it was agreed that commissioners should be reciprocally appointed.

Gen. Wilkinson repulsed on Canada frontier and superseded by Gen. Izard.

Hull tried for cowardice and treason at Albany, N. Y., for the surrender of Detroit. He was found guilty of cowardice and sentenced to be shot, but was afterward pardoned by the President.

The Wasp, Capt. Blakely, made a successful cruise, but after capturing thirteen prizes disappeared and was never heard of again. Probably lost in a storm.

1815.Jan. 8, Battle of New Orleans.

—Gen. Jackson, in command of 6,000 militia, concentrated his forces about four miles below the city within a line of entrenchments a mile long, extending from the river far into the swamp. He was attacked in this position by 12,000 British, under command of Gen. Packenham. As the British approached, a terrible cannonade was opened from the American batteries, yet they continued to advance until within rifle range, when volley after volley of deadly storm of lead poured into the ranks of the invaders. The British column soon wavered, Gen. Packenham fell, and the entire British army fled in dismay, leaving 700 dead, and more than 1,000 wounded on the field. The Americans were so safely entrenched that they lost only 7 killed and 6 wounded.

Joseph Bonaparte, brother of the Emperor, came to the United States as Count de Survilliers, and purchased 1,500 acres of land in Bordentown, N. J., and settled down to the life of an opulent gentleman. In 1830 he returned to France, and died in Florence in 1844.

Feb. 18.—Peace proclaimed by the President of the United States, and a day of thanksgiving to the Almighty was observed throughout the Union.

Feb. 20.—The Constitution, Commodore Stewart, made a severe action with the British frigate Cyane and sloop-of-war Levant, and captured both.

Feb. 24.—Robert Fulton, inventor of steam navigation, died in New York, aged fifty years.

April.—Massacre of American prisoners at Dartmoor, England.

April 10.—The United States Bank rechartered for twenty years, with a capital of $35,000,000. The existence of the bank expired with this character in 1836.

tures two Algerine vessels and six hundred prisoners.

June 30.—The Dey of Algiers signs a treaty of peace, agreeing to restore all American prisoners to liberty, pay indemnity for all property destroyed, and to relinquish all claims of tribute from the United States.

July.—Commodore Decatur demanded and received $46,000 from the Bashaw of Tunis, in payment for American vessels he allowed the English to capture in his harbor. A demand of $25,000 and restoration of prisoners was made upon the Bashaw of Tripoli, which was complied with. This cruise to the Mediterranean gave full security to American commerce in those seas, and left the United States at peace.

United States suppresses two piratical slave dealing establishments, one at the mouth of the St. Mary, Florida, and the other at Galveston, Texas.

Trouble with the Seminole Creek Indians and runaway negroes, who commenced murderous depredations upon the frontier settlements of Georgia and the Alabama territory. General Gaines sent to suppress these outrages.

March 4.—James Monroe inaugurated President at Congress Hall, Washington city, the capitol having been destroyed by the British.

July 4.—Ground was broken for the Erie canal.

July 8.—Remains of General Montgomery, after resting 42 years at Quebec, were brought to the city of New York and placed in a monument in front of St. Paul's church.

Nov.—United States troops take possession of Amelia Island, the rendezvous of the pirates on the Florida coast.

The present flag was established by law—thirteen stripes and as many stars as States, arranged in a circle on a blue ground, a star being added on the Fourth of July after the admission of a new State. And on the whole it is a very graceful and picturesque standard.

Provision is made for the support of the surviving soldiers of the Revolution and their families.

READ THIS! HEALTH FOR YOU!

What is Wealth, or Fame, or Life—without Health.

Dr. Aikin's Remedial Institute

Eye, Ear, Throat, Lung, Nervous, Chronic, and Surgical Diseases.

The Doctor's location is most eligible, central, and convenient, at 57 Monroe St. Opposite (above) Rathbun House, opposite (below) Aldrich's Bank, and a few doors from the Union Ticket Office, with an entrance at (Hall extending through the Block).

91 Ottawa St. Parlor for Ladies, and separate rooms for the convenience of all different patients. Those from abroad should come at once to the office on arriving in the city, and arrange treatment before other business.
Office Hours, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 4 P. M. Sundays, 10 to 2.

Most families have one or more with life embittered by needless suffering—seldom free from pain, always conscious of diseases or disability. Yet they can be cured by the skillful Specialist.

Established here in extensive practice since 1869 (at St. Louis in '65; San Francisco during '73), enjoying a wide and merited reputation as a most successful Physician, and having thorough qualifications, insight and aptness for the Healing Art, with a complete supply of instruments, appliances, and all the best means and remedies known to the Profession, a constant succession of cures still attends Dr. Aikin's practice, and consequently the number of his patients is ever on the increase.

DR. AIKIN.

The well known Specialist, now permanently located in Grand Rapids, Mich. His Improved Remedies and Treatment have made him celebrated for his Extraordinary Success. All classes of Patients Treated with Equal care and Skill. Hundreds attest the Great Efficacy of the Treatment. Hearing and Sight Restored. Lung, Throat, and other Chronic Diseases cured; and Broken Down constitutions built up and Kept vigorous. Serious, complicated Diseases, that for Many Years Resisted the Treatment of Numerous Physicians, are Speedily cured by Dr. Aikin.

A DOCTOR TO HAVE FAITH IN.

A lady writes to Dr. Aikin: "I am so soon and easily well by your treatment that my faith in you is unbounded, and shall recommend you to all my friends as a most reliable physician." "Must have help, or die, or go insane I concluded," writes a man of 26, in poor health for years, who, after a short treatment by Dr. Aikin, further states: "Your remedies are having a remarkable effect. I can sleep better, am gaining flesh, and my health is improving in all respects." DR. AIKIN has given the public sufficient evidence to convince the most skeptical and incredulous that his method of treatment is peculiarly successful in every department of his Great Specialties, especially such cases as have defied the skill of other and justly celebrated physicians; No one SHOULD DESPAIR that is afflicted with seemingly incurable disease, but cherish a hope of being relieved of suffering, if not entirely cured, by his experienced skill and care.

BLINDNESS! DEAFNESS!!

All Diseases and Affections of the Eye and Ear successfully treated by mild remedies. Cross Eyes Straightened. Artificial Eyes inserted that look natural. No pain.

CATARRH, CONSUMPTION.

Asthma, Bronchitis, and all Throat and Lung Complaints (which, in this country, are the greatest enemies to Health and Life), when change of climate and all else fails, are cured by Dr. Aikin's Improved Inhaler and Constitutional Restorative Treatment.

LINGERING OR CHRONIC, AND SURGICAL DISEASES.

Scrofula, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Piles, Goitre, Dropsy, Gravel, Constipation, Tape-Worm, Liver Diseases, Cancers, Tumors, Fistula, Hare Lip, Club-Foot, etc., remedied by the most approved methods.

St-Stuttering. Stammering, and Impediments in speech that daily and hourly vex and mortify, and make one a laughing-stock through life, permanently cured by a scientific, rational and practical method—the cause removed, and cure permanent and positive.

LADIES. Married or single, confidently consult the Doctor on any delicate derangement of health, as he is, doubtless the most skillful Ladies' Physician in the World. Do not suffer from Pain, Weakness, Whites, Ulceration, Suppression, or other diseases, and drag out a miserable life when you can be certain of easy, safe, and speedy cure in any case by applying to DR. AIKIN.

Surgical culture—few, healthy children, or none. Trusses, Supporters, Preventatives, Syringes, etc., supplied.

EPILEPSY. Palsy, Chorea or St. Vitus Dance, Neuralgia, etc., cured where other means fail.

GENTLEMEN! YOUNG, MIDDLE-AGED & OLD MEN. Suffering the sad effects on body and mind of Self-Abuse, Excesses, Disease, or Detect, whatever read or doctor told in vain, let not despair or false modesty be your ruin, but call, or send at once. The only sure, rational lasting cure for Spermatorrhoea, Seminal Weakness, Nervous Debility, Impotence, etc. No quackery or deception. Friendly advice and reliable aid. It is well known that Dr. A. always effects a cure. His treatment includes ALL—you need never look elsewhere. Those about to marry should not fail to consult him.

SURE, quickest and mild remedies for all private diseases or old symptoms. Gleet, Syphilis, Strictures, Defects, Phimos, Hydrocele, Varicocele, etc., radically cured. No mercury used. Private Rooms. No "getting prescriptions." Travelers promptly supplied. While many innocent victims suffer the terrible effects of certain diseases neglected or badly treated by physicians in general (they should not be intrusted with these cases), it is right and proper to use plain terms that the indiscrete or unfortunate may know where to get help, and no offense can be taken by pure minded persons—See Titus I-15.

CONFIDENTIAL.

Every patient (either sex) may freely state all particulars of their case to Dr. Aikin, either in person or by letter, reposing in his trust any delicate personal, or family matter, and can always rely upon the strictest confidence and secrecy. DR. AIKIN guarantees better, safer treatment (and for less money) in all Special Cases than can be had elsewhere. He is easily accessible from all points.

The Most Difficult Cases Solicited.—Consultation Free. Terms Always Reasonable. Come prepared to arrange needful, thorough treatment. Satisfaction Guaranteed To All. Medicines Furnished. Patients, visited, in city, or any distance, in serious cases.

Life is too short to be Miserable.—If YOU have any serious, obstinate disease or annoying symptoms, no matter how discouraged or how often disappointed, stop useless doctoring and dosing and apply to the Doctor. Sufferers for years or a lifetime be cured in a few weeks. All the afflicted who come to him will find the aid they seek.

Cured at Home.—Persons at a distance may be cured at home by addressing letter to Dr. Aikin, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, by enclosing $5 in registered letter, P. O. order, or Express.

Call, or address N. J. AIKIN, M. D., 57 Monroe St., Grand Rapids, Mich.
 Remember, DR. AIKIN is the only qualified, experienced, reliable specialist here; treats his patients honorably, gives the choicest remedies, is a regular graduate in medicine, universally owned the most successful and is the right physician to employ.

Bridge between New York and Brooklyn.—Total length, 5878 feet; total height above high tide, 268 feet. The bridge is now in course of construction. The first wire was stretched across the river, August 14th, 1876, and the prospects indicate a vigorous prosecution of the work. It will be finished probably in a few years.

March 4.—John Quincy Adams inaugurated President.

Civil war threatened in Georgia. The Federal Government, in consideration of Georgia releasing her claims to portions of the Mississippi territory, agreed to purchase for that State Indian lands within the borders of Georgia. The Indians refused to sell their lands, and the Government of Georgia was about to drive them out, when the Federal Government interfered on behalf of the Indians. The Indians finally removed to the wilderness of Mississippi.

Napoleon Lucien Charles, nephew of Napoleon I., came to America and married a Yankee school-mistress. He went to France in 1848, and received the title of Prince of the Imperial Family.

Anti-Mason party and Morgan excitement. William Morgan, of Western New York, announced his intention to publish a book, in which the secrets of Masonry were to be disclosed. He was suddenly seized at Canandaigua, one evening, placed in a carriage, and was never heard of afterward. Some Free Masons were charged with his murder, and the report of an investigating committee appointed by the Legislature of New York confirmed the suspicion. An Anti-Mason party was formed, and in 1831 an Anti-Masonic convention was held in Philadelphia, which nominated William Wirt, of Virginia, for President of the United States. Although the party polled a large vote, it soon afterward disappeared.

Feb. 12.—American Temperance Society instituted at Boston.

July 4.—Death of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, almost at the same hour. They were both members of the committee who had framed the Declaration of Independence; both signed it; both had been Foreign Ministers; both had been Vice-Presidents and then Presidents of the United States. Together with their death, it was a singular coincidence.

A national convention was held in Harrisburg, Pa., to discuss the subject of protective tariffs. Only four of the slave States sent delegates. They memorialized Congress for an increase of duties on woolen and cotton fabrics.

The first railroad built in the United States from Quincy, Mass., used with horses.

May.—Congress passes a tariff bill imposing heavy duties on British goods. It is denounced by the Southern people as oppressive and unconstitutional.

May 27.—President Jackson vetoes the Maysville Road bill.

Oct. 5.—The President issued a proclamation declaring the ports of the United States open to British vessels from the West Indies.

June 10.—King of the Netherlands renders his decision on the boundary question between Maine and the British possessions. Rejected by both parties, and question settled in 1842 by the treaty of Washington.

July 4.—James Monroe dies.

Sept. 21, 22, 23.—Riots in Providence, R. I. Five sailors started out for a cruise, and when they arrived at the foot of Olney's lane, about 8 o'clock in the evening, they met six or seven steamboat men, who said they had a row with the darkies, and asked the sailors to go up and aid them. This party greatly increased, proceeded up the lane, where they were received with stones thrown from the houses of the blacks. Stones were then thrown by the crowd against the houses. During the melee the darkies fired upon them, killing one man and wounding two others. As soon as it was discovered the following day that a white man was killed by the blacks, it occasioned great excitement, and a mob assembled, when the Sheriff arrested seven and committed them to jail, but in three or four instances the mob made a rescue. On the 23d the mob renewed their attack at Snowtown, stoning and destroying houses. The military were called out to preserve order, but were met with defiance from the mob. Stones were hurled at them with such force by the mob, as to split the socks of several muskets, and, as a matter of self-protection they were compelled to fire. Four of the rioters were killed and the mob dispersed. A committee of the citizens of Providence appointed to investigate the matter were unanimous in their opinion that the infantry was justified in firing, and that it was strictly in defense of their lives.

Insurrection and massacre in Southampton county, Va. In August about sixty or seventy slaves rose upon the white inhabitants and massacred fifty-five men, women, and children.

Oct. 13.—Anderson, an English vocalist, was driven from the stage of the Park theatre, New York, for disrespectful remarks concerning the United States.

Congress passes a bill rechartering the United States Bank, but on July 10 Jackson vetoes the bill, and the charter expired, by limitation, in 1836.

The tariff act of 1828 produces discontent among the Southern States, and South Carolina declares it null and void, and threatens to resist the collection of duties in the port of Charleston with arms, and secede from the Union if the government persists in enforcing the law.

Black Hawk War.—After several skirmishes the Indians were driven from Illinois to beyond the Mississippi. Black Hawk was captured and taken to Washington City, and there to impress his mind with the strength of the nation he had foolishly made war with, he was conducted through several of the Eastern States. This ended the Black Hawk war.

The Morse system of electro-magnetic telegraphy invented.

Cholera in the U. S.—The epidemic first appeared in New York, June 27. The number of deaths from the 1st of July to the middle of October, when the pestilence ceased, is reported at 4,000. During this time the population was reduced from 225,000, by removals, to 140,000. The ratio of deaths to cases was 1 to 2, and the greatest number of dying in one day was 311, on the 21st of July. The first case appeared in Philadelphia, July 5th, and the number of cases to September 13 was 2,314; the number of deaths 935. In Baltimore the number of deaths to September 29, 710; in Norfolk, to September 11, 400; in Cincinnati, from May 1 to August 7, 1833, 307; in Nashville, from March 27 to July 12, 27 whites and 50 blacks. The disease appeared in New Orleans October 27, 1832, and raged with great severity among the blacks, occasioning a pecuniary loss to slave owners of nearly four million dollars.

Dec. 10.—President Jackson issues a proclamation denying the right of any State to nullify any act of the Federal Government, and warned the people of South Carolina that the laws of the United States would be strictly enforced by military power, if necessary, and South Carolina was obliged to yield.

Feb. 12.—Tariff dispute settled by the passage of a bill, introduced by Henry Clay, which provided for a gradual reduction of the obnoxious duties during the succeeding ten years.

March 4.—President Jackson inaugurated for a second term.

Oct. 4.—Political riots in Philadelphia. The President removes the public funds ($10,000,000) from the Bank of the United States. The effect produced was sudden and widespread commercial distress, paralyzing the whole business of the country.

Opponents of Andrew Jackson first call themselves the Whig party.

Cholera again rages in New York.

The President sent General Wiley Thompson to Florida to prepare for a forcible removal of the Seminole Indians if necessary. The tone and manner of Osceola displeased Thompson, and he put him in irons and in prison for a day. The chief feigned penitence, and was released, but his wounded pride called for revenge, and July 12.—Negro riots in Philadelphia.

Democrats first called the the "Locofoco" party.

Dec. 16.—A very disastrous fire occurred in New York, destroying 674 buildings in the lower part of the city. Loss estimated at $20,000,000.

War with Seminole Indians, led by Osceola, in Florida.

Dec. 28.—While Major Dade was marching at the head of 100 men for the relief of Fort Drane, in the interior of Florida, he was attacked, killed, and all but four of his attachment massacred. On the same day, and only a few hours before, with a small war party, Osceola killed General Thompson and five of his friends who were dining at a store a few yards from Fort King. Osceola scalped General Thompson with his own hands, and thus enjoyed the revenge for the indignity he had suffered in 1834.

March 29.—Pennsylvania newly incorporates the Bank of the United States.

June 15.—Arkansas admitted as a State.
National debt paid off.

Charles Louis Napoleon, the late Emperor of the French, was banished to the United States for attempting to gain the throne of his uncle, the First Consul, by revolutionary means. He landed at Norfolk, in March, 1827, and then came to New York, where he remained until May, when he sailed for Switzerland to see his dying mother.

The Creek Indians aid the Seminoles in their war. They attack mail carriers, stages, steamboats, and finally villages in Georgia and Alabama, until thousands of white people were fleeing for their lives from place to place. The Creeks were finally subdued by General Scott, and several thousand of them were removed to beyond the Mississippi.

March 4.—Martin Van Buren inaugurated President, and Richard M. Johnson, of Kentucky, Vice-President.

The banks suspend specie payment, and a general panic prevails in business circles. During the months of March and April the failures in New York alone amounted to more than $200,000,000. The effect of these failures was felt all over the Union, and credit and confidence destroyed.

March 6.—Osceola and several chiefs appeared in General Jessup's camp, and signed a treaty of peace, and guaranteed instant departure of the Indians to their new home beyond the Mississippi. Osceola during the summer broke this treaty, and hostilities were again resumed.

Oct. 21.—Osceola, with several chiefs and 70 warriors, appeared the second time in Jessup's camp, under the protection of a flag. They were seized and confined. Osceola was sent to Charleston, where he died of a fever, while confined in Fort Moultrie.

June 25.—Michigan admitted as a State.
Sept. 4.—An extra session of Congress was convened to devise measures to relieve the financial embarrassments of the country, and after a session of 42 days it did but little, ex-

March 4.—James K. Polk inaugurated President.

Treaty with Great Britain fixing the north-western boundary, by which it was settled that Oregon was a part of the territory of the United States by right of first discovery.

March 6.—Mexican minister protests against the admission of Texas into the Union and demanded his passport.

April 10.—Great fire at Pittsburgh, burning over a space of 56 acres, entailing a loss of property of over five millions of dollars.

July.—The President, aware of the hostile feelings of the Mexicans, sent Gen. Taylor, with a force of 1,500, for the defence of Texas. At the same time a squadron, under command of Commodore Connor, sailed for the Gulf of Mexico, to protect American interests there.

July 19.—Great fire between Broadway, Exchange place, Broad and Stone streets, New York. Loss, $5,000,000.

The Mexican government, by continued depredations upon American vessels and the confiscation of the property of the Americans within her border, brought on a crisis that required a settlement. The United States remonstrated, but the Mexicans continued their depredations, until the amount appropriated by them reached more than $6,000,000. The Mexican government finally acknowledged the debt, and agreed to pay it in installments of $300,000 each. Only three of the installments were paid, and the Mexican government refused to decide whether she would pay the remainder.

April 24, War with Mexico.—First blood of the war shed. Gen. Taylor, being informed that the Mexicans were crossing the Rio Grande, above his encampment, sent Capt. Thornton, with 60 dragoons, to reconnoitre. They were surprised and captured. Sixteen Americans were killed, and Capt. Thornton escaped by an extraordinary leap off his horse.

May 3.—Fort Brown, on the Rio Grande, attacked by the Mexicans. After suffering a bombardment of 160 hours, the garrison was relieved, and the Mexicans trembled for the safety of Matamoras. Major Brown (in whose honor the fort was named) was mortally wounded.

May 8.—Battle of Palo Alto. Gen. Taylor, with a little over 2,000 troops, met, in battle array, 6,000 Mexicans, under Gen. Arista. For five hours, a hot contest was maintained, when the Mexicans gave way and fled. American loss in killed and wounded, 53. Among the wounded was Capt. Page, of Maine, who afterwards died on the 12th of July; and Major Ringgold, commander of Flying Artillery, who died four days afterward. The Mexicans lost about 600.

May 9.—Battle of Resaca de la Palma. This was a short and bloody conflict, but the Americans were again victorious. American loss in killed and wounded, 110; Mexican loss was at least 1,000. Gen. La Vega and 100 men were made prisoners. This was the second battle of the war fought between Gen. Taylor and Gen. Arista. Arista saved himself by solitary flight, and made his way alone across the Rio Grande.

REAGAN'S PAT. for FLANGING FLUE-HOLES in BOILER HEADS.

THIS INVENTION relates to a device by which to turn a Flange to the Flue Holes in Boiler Heads, and consists in a cone-shaped Die, the base of which is of the size of the external diameter of the Flue, This Flanging device is used in the following manner: The Boiler-head H having been pierced with suitable holes, and heated to a workable temperature, is laid upon trestles or other supports, and is prevented from being turned in operating the device, by inserting a pin through one of the Flue-holes into the support below. The Bracket, with the Screw hanging therein by the Nut F in Lever G, is then set over the hole to be flanged, and the Die attached to the lower end of the Screw from below the Boiler-head. By turning the Lever G, the Screw C and Die are drawn upward; the Die forces up and forms the Flange i around the hole in the Boiler-head.

THIS MACHINE IS CLAIMED TO BE THE BEST IN USE,

And will illustrate its own merits by trial.

After the Iron is Hot, the Flue can be formed for General Use in the space of Two Minutes.

Dec. 22.—Col. Doniphan, in command of 1,000 Missouri volunteers, while on his march to Chihuahua to join Gen. Wool, met a large force of Mexicans at Bracetti, in the valley of the Rio del Norte, under Gen. Ponce de Leon. He sent a black flag to Doniphan with the message, "We will neither ask nor give quarters." The Mexicans then advanced and fired three rounds. The Missourians fell upon their faces, and the enemy, supposing them to be all dead, rushed forward for plunder. The Americans suddenly arose, and delivering a deadly fire from their rifles, killed 200 Mexicans and dispersed the remainder in confusion.

Dec. 29.—Gen. Taylor took possession of Victoria, capital of Tamaulipas.

Jan. 19.—A revolt in Mexico against the United States government; Gov. Bent and many other Americans murdered at Fernando de Taos, and massacres occurred in other portions of the country.

numbered 20,000. The Mexican General, assuring Gen. Taylor that he was surrounded, ordered him to surrender within an hour. Taylor refused, and both armies prepared for battle. It was a desperate and bloody battle, commencing at sunrise and lasting until sunset; but finally the Mexicans fled in confusion, leaving their dead and wounded behind, and the Americans were left masters of the field. Americans lost 267 killed, 456 wounded, and 23 missing. The Mexicans lost almost 2,000. They left 500 of their comrades dead on the field.

Feb. 8.—Gen. Kearney proclaimed the annexation of California to the United States.

Feb. 23.—Captain Webster, with a small party of Americans, drove Gen. Minon, with 800 cavalry, out of Satillo.

Feb. 28.—Col. Coniphan, when within 18 miles from Chihuahua, was met by 4,000 Mexicans. These he completely routed, losing in killed and wounded only 18 men, while the Mexicans lost about 600. He then pressed forward to the city, entered it in triumph, and raised the American flag upon its citadel (March 2) amidst a population of 40,000, and took possession of the province in the name of government.

March 27.—Surrender of Vera Cruz and Castle of San Juan de Ulloa to Gen. Scott and Com. Perry, with 5,000 prisoners and 500 pieces of artillery. The Americans lost 47 killed, and about the same number wounded. It is supposed 1,000 Mexicans were killed, and a great number of them wounded. During the siege it is estimated that 6,700 shot and shell were thrown by the American batteries, weighing in the aggregate more than 4,000 pounds.

April 18.—Battle of Cerro Gordo. This place was defended by Santa Anna, and 12,000 Mexicans, in a strongly fortified position, and many pieces of cannon. Gen. Scott, with 8,000 Americans, assaulted the enemy, and drove the Mexicans from their position. Santa Anna himself narrowly escaped capture by fleeing upon a mule taken from his carriage. More than 1,000 Mexicans were killed or wounded, and 3,000 made prisoners. Americans lost in killed and wounded 431.

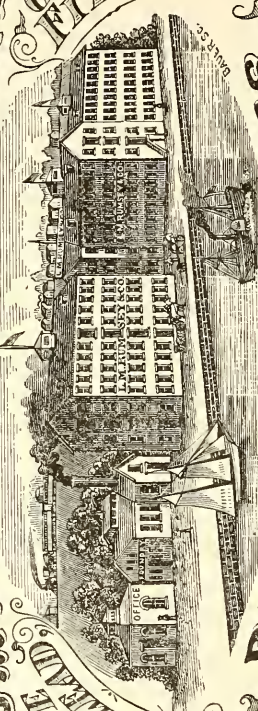

April 21.—Battle of Churubusco. Gen. Scott advanced on Churubusco, where Santa Anna was in command of the main body of the Mexican army. The enemy were defeated, and Santa Anna abandoned the field and fled to the City of Mexico. This defeat of the Mexicans was the final destruction of an army 30,000 strong, by another about one-third its strength in number. Full 4,000 of the Mexicans were killed or wounded, 3,000 made prisoners, and 30 pieces of cannon taken. Americans lost in killed and wounded about 1,100.

April 22.—Gen. Worth takes possession of the castle of Perote. This was considered one of the strongest fortresses in Mexico, yet it was surrendered without resistance. Fifty-four pieces of cannon and mortars were captured here, and a large quantity of munitions of war.

May 15.—Americans take possession of the city of Pueblo, a city of 80,000 inhabitants, without opposition.

Aug. 21.—Gen. Scott was now within three miles of the city of Mexico, when Santa Anna sent a flag of truce, asking for an armistice, preparatory to negotiations for peace. It was granted, but the propositions of the United States were spurned and scorned, and Santa Anna treacherously violated the armistice by strengthening the defenses of the city.

Penn's Treaty with the Indians.—Although historians differ as to the precise locality where this treaty took place, it is generally conceded to have occurred under the great elm tree at Shackamaxon, in the vicinity of Philadelphia, in the year 1682. This treaty was never broken for a period of forty or fifty years, and during all that time the scalping knife and tomahawk was sheathed in peace with the white men of Penn's treaty.

Aug. 21.—Battle of Contreras. General Smith attacked the Mexicans at sunrise, and, after a brief and sanguinary conflict, the Americans were victorious. Eighty officers and 2,000 private soldiers were made prisoners, and thirty-three pieces of artillery were captured. The Mexican force engaged was 6,000, under General Valencia.

Sept. 8.—Battle of El Molinos del Rey. About 4,000 Americans attacked 14,000 Mexicans, under Santa Anna, near Chapultepec. The Americans were first repulsed with great slaughter, but, returning to the attack, they fought desperately for an hour, and drove the Mexicans from their position. Both armies suffered dreadfully. The Mexicans lost about 1,000 dead on the field, and the Americans about 800.

Sept. 13.—Battle of Chapultepec. This was the last place to be defended outside the suburbs of the City of Mexico. The Americans, under Gen. Scott, made a furious assault and routed the enemy with great slaughter, and unfurled the Stars and Stripes over the shattered castle of Chapultepec. The Mexicans fled to the city, pursued by Gen. Quitman to its very gates. That night Santa Anna and his army, with the officers of government, fled the doomed city.

Sept. 14.—American army, in command of Gen. Scott, enter the City of Mexico without resistance.

May 29.—Wisconsin admitted as a State, Gen. Scott superseded in Mexico by Gen. William O. Butler.

July 4.—Peace proclaimed between the United States and Mexico. By this treaty, the United States came into possession of California and New Mexico. The treaty stipulated the evacuation of Mexico by the American army within three months; the payment of $3,000,000 in hand and $12,000,000, in four annual installments, by the United States to Mexico, for the territory acquired by conquest; and, in addition, to assume debts due to certain citizens of the United States to the amount of $3,500,000, it also fixed boundaries.

The corner-stone of the Washington Monument was laid in the national capital.

Japan concluded by Com. Perry.

May.—Passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, which created those two territories, and left the people of every territory, on becoming a State, free to adopt or exclude the institution of slavery. A few days after the passage of the bill a riot occurred in Boston over the arrest of a fugitive slave. A deputy marshal was shot dead. United States troops from Rhode Island and the local militia were called out to sustain the government. The fugitive slave was finally returned to his master in Virginia without further violence.

St. Mary's Academic Institute

ST. MARY'S OF THE WOODS, VIGO CO., IND.

This noble Institution was founded in 1840, by the Sisters of Providence, from Ruille in France. The little band which undertook the arduous task of opening an educational establishment in the Western wilds of Indiana, was composed of six Sisters, including Mother Theodore, the foundress, whose name is held in veneration by all who had the happiness of knowing her. Many and great were the difficulties to be overcome in a new and uncivilized country, in which the resources were few, the language, customs, and manners entirely strange. But the zealous laborers, aided by those who came to join in the good work, struggled on, and before the lapse of many years, St. Mary's Institute attained the well-earned reputation of being a first-class Academy. The present Academic building is pronounced, by all who visit it, to be one of the finest in the United States. It is located four miles west of Terre Haute, near the Indianapolis & St. Louis R. R. It is spacious, well ventilated, convenient, and furnished with all modern improvements. It is liberally supplied with philosophical and astronomical apparatus, charts, globes, and everything conducive to the attainment of knowledge. The pupils have access to a well-filled library of choice and standard works. Every facility is afforded for attaining proficiency in music, painting in oil and water colors, etc. Special attention is paid to forming the morals and manners of the pupils. Simplicity of dress is enforced by rule. The extensive grounds surrounding the institute, are beautifully laid out, and offer every inducement to the young ladies to engage in healthful exercises.

Parents may rest assured that pupils placed under the Sisters' care, receive all the attention that kindness can suggest.

City Hall, Baltimore, Md.—The corner stone of this building was laid October 18th, 1867. It is one of the most elegant structures in the United States, occupying the entire square on which it is erected. The length of the building is 239 feet, the width 149 feet, covering an area including pavements, of 50,500 feet. It is built of stone, marble and iron. It is four stories high, the entire height from the base to the finial being 250 feet.

City Hall, Pittsburg, Pa.—The building fronts on Smithfield Street, near Fifth Avenue facing eastward. The corner stone was laid May 5th, 1869. A leaden box was enclosed in the corner stone, containing the following: copies of the Pittsburg Daily of May 5th, 1869, copy of the City Code, Map of Pittsburg, 1875, Map of Pittsburg, 1869, Report of Board of Trade, giving statistics of the city, Paper containing names of all city officials, Paper containing names of members of the building commission and the builders. Specimens of United States Currency. The building has a frontage of 120 feet and is 110 feet deep, the main walls are 72 feet high, the extreme height of the tower is 175 feet, with a large clock in the observatory. On the 23d day of May, 1872, the building was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies, and the city government thereupon took permanent possession. The total cost of the building and grounds $600,579.00.

Battle of Port Gibson, Gen. Grant defeated Gen. Bowen, with a loss of 1,550 men and 5 pieces of artillery.

May 2.—On the morning of the 17th of April, 1863, the 6th and 7th Illinois cavalry, 900 strong, under command of Col. Grierson, of the 6th Illinois, set out from Lagrange, Tenn., marched through the center of Mississippi, destroying as they went railroads, bridges and stores of all kinds belonging to the Confederates, in immense quantities. They reached Baton Rouge, La., on the evening of the 2nd of May. They had traveled nearly 800 miles in 16 days. At several points the enemy made great attempts to capture them, but failed. They brought into Baton Rouge over 1,000 horses and a large number of cattle; 500 negroes followed them.

May 3.—Battle of Fredericksburg. The second attempt to capture the Confederate fortifications at Fredericksburg, Va., was made by the army of the Potomac under Gen. Hooker, and failed. Severe skirmishing took place on Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2, but the main battle was fought on Sunday, May 3, resulting in the defeat of the Federal troops. In the meantime Gen. Sedgwick had PHYSICIAN.

THE SHOEMAKER'S CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.

This medicine is undoubtedly one of the most valuable discoveries of the age. Having been a sufferer for ten years with that most distressing of all diseases, RHEUMATISM, which baffled all the efforts of the most skillful physicians, and after using many remedies, and spending hundreds of dollars without the least benefit, I at last concluded that as I had some botanical knowledge, I would try and see if I could not find a remedy somewhere in nature's vast garden, in which I believe there is a remedy for every disease that man is heir to. After many experiments, and many failures, at last success crowned my efforts; I found the cure for which I had so long been searching. After using this remedy I was restored from a deformed cripple on crutches to perfect health. Since then nearly seventeen years have passed, and I have known no such thing as Rheumatism. I have furnished this remedy in hundreds of cases since my own cure, and not one has failed to receive a cure that have used the medicine according to directions. I do not blame the public for being skeptical about medical advertisements in general, but would say to all those who are afflicted with Rheumatism, no matter in what form, you can be soundly cured. If you want testimonials I can furnish the address of reliable parties who are ready and willing to testify to the truths contained in this card. This medicine is to be had only of crossed the Rappahannock and occupied Fredericksburg. He too was defeated and compelled to retire to the northern bank of the river. Hooker's army recrossed the river on the night of May 5. The loss on each side was about 15,000 killed, wounded and prisoners. "Stonewall" Jackson mortally wounded.

While the fight was going on near Fredericksburg, Gen. Stoneman, with a large cavalry force, crossed the Rapidan east of Orange Court House, and made a bold and partially successful raid into the enemy's country.

May 8.—Col. Straight's command of 1,700 men captured by Forrest's cavalry, two miles from Cedar Bluff, Ga., after severe fighting.

The Confederate general, Van Dorn, killed by Dr. Peters in Manny county, Tenn.

May 9.—Col. Jacobs routed a guerrilla force near Horse Shoe Bend on the Cumberland river.

May 10.—The Confederate general, Stonewall (Thos. J.) Jackson, died at Richmond, Va., of wounds and pneumonia.

May 12.—Gen. McPherson attacked Raymond, Miss., and took the town after a hard fight.

May 13.—Grant defeated Joseph F. Johnston and captured Jackson, Miss., with 7 canons and large quantities of military stores, besides 400 prisoners. The State capitol was destroyed by fire.

May 15.—Battle of Baker's Creek, Miss. The Confederate army under Gen. Pemberton, and the Union forces under Gen. Grant. About 25,000 men were engaged upon each side. The Confederates met with a disastrous defeat, losing 2,600 in killed and wounded, 2,000 men prisoners, and 29 pieces of artillery.

May 17.—Battle of Big Black River. Grant again attacked Pemberton, and defeated him with a total loss of 2,600 men and 17 cannon.

May 18.—Investment of Vicksburg by the Federals under Gen. Grant and Admiral Porter.

May 25.—Confederate navy yard destroyed at Yazoo City.

May 27.—Gen. Banks commences the siege of the forts at Port Hudson, Miss.

June 1.—Gen. Hunter removed from the command of the department of the South. Gen. Gilmore succeeds him.

June 11.—Forrest, with 5,000 cavalry and two batteries of artillery, attacked the Union cavalry at Triune, Tenn., under command of Col. R. B. Mitchell. The Confederates were defeated.

June 11.—Gen. Ewell defeated Gen. Milroy at Winchester, Va., with a loss of 2,000 men, and drove him to Harper's Ferry.

June 17.—The ram Atlanta captured off the coast of South Carolina, after a brief fight, by the Weehawken, commanded by Capt. John Rodgers.

A division of our cavalry under Col. Kilpatrick encountered Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's cavalry brigade near Aldie, Va., and a desperate hand-to-hand encounter followed, ending in a hasty retreat of the Confederate forces; 100 prisoners were captured.

June 21.—Gen. McClernard removed by Grant, and Gen. Ord succeeds him.

June 23.—Battle of Big Black River, Missouri. Confederates under Johnston attacked Osterhaus' division and were defeated with great slaughter.

June 25.—Another fight at Liberty Gap between a Confederate division under Clayborne, and Willich, Wilder and Carter's brigades. The Confederates fled in disorder.

June 26.—Rear Admiral Foote died in New York City.

June 29.—Gen. Hooker was relieved of his command of the army of the Potomac at his own request, and Gen. Meade succeeded him.

July 1.—Battle of Gettysburg, Penn. Gen. Meade attacked the Confederates near Gettysburg, and after a three days' battle drove them from the field, leaving 5,000 killed and wounded in our hands. Meade took 20,000 prisoners. Maj. Gen. Reynolds, commanding the first corps of the Union army, was killed. Missouri passed the Ordinance of Emancipation.

Rosecrans drove Bragg from Tullahoma.

July 4.—Gen. Prentice defeated the Confederates under Holmes, at Helena, Ark.

The siege of Vicksburg by the Union army under Gen. Grant commenced May 18th and was pressed forward with vigor until July 4th, when Pemberton surrendered to Gen. Grant 27,000 prisoners, 132 cannon and 50,000 stand of arms.

July 8.—In the month of May Gen. Banks invested Port Hudson. Two grand attacks were made by land and water on the 27th of May and 14th of June, in which portions of the enemy's works were taken. At last, on the 8th of July, the commander, Major General Gardiner, surrendered with 7,000 prisoners, 60 cannon, and 10,000 stands of arms to General Banks.

Morgan's raid into Indiana and Ohio; crossed the river into Harrison county, Ind., and marched rapidly through the southern part of the State into Ohio, committing numerous depredations. On the 18th he lost his artillery and 1,300 prisoners. With a mere fragment of his command he retreated to Columbiana county, Ohio, where on the 20th he surrendered to Gen. Shackelford.

July 13-16.—Riots take place in New York, Boston, and other Union cities, in consequence of the enforcement of a conscription decree.

July 13, 14, 15.—Draft riots in New York city. Mobs had possession of the city for three days. Offices where the draft was going on were demolished, and the buildings were burned. The mob directed their fury particularly against negroes, several of whom were murdered. The colored orphan asylum on Fifth Avenue was pillaged and burnt down. Collisions between the mob and military frequently occurred. Many persons were killed during the prevalence of the riot. The city paid above $1,500,000 as indemnity for losses that occurred during the riot.

July 17.—Gen Sherman attacked Jackson, Miss., routed Johnston and occupied the city. Large stores were captured, and also 40 locomotives, and all the rolling stock of three railroads. Gen. Ransom captured Natchez with a large quantity of ammunition, 13 car.

GOODWIN'S INVALID BEDSTEAD.

THE WONDER OF THE AGE.

This bedstead is now being manufactured in St. Louis, where its intrinsic merits are recognized, and its superiority over any other invention of the kind is attested by eminent medical gentlemen who have witnessed its operation.

By means of a small crank, which can be easily worked by any attendant, the patient can be placed in numerous positions without manual assistance. He can be turned in bed, have his sheets changed, his mattress removed and turned over, be placed upon a stool chair, and have his body inclined in whatever posture he may desire.

A light table, 3 feet 3 inches in length by 15 in breadth, is readily attached to the frame, enabling the patient to eat his food in the same posture as if in health, and by the turn of a small screw it can be converted into a writing table or reading desk, upon which book or pamphlet can be read without the discomfort of having to hold it.

In fine, without the removal of the patient or the slightest discomfort to himself, the bed can be formed into a Lounge, Ordinary Chair, Stool Chair, or Fracture Bed, and by raising and setting aside the frame, which requires but a moment, it can be used as an ordinary bedstead.

Prices range from $40.00 upward, according to style, and finish of bed. Send for Circular.

non, 2,000 head of cattle, and 4,000 hogsheads of sugar. A severe fight occurred on Elk Creek, Ark., between Gen. Blunt and the Confederate Gen. Cooper; the former was victorious. Union loss 40, that of the Confederates 184.

July 22.—Col. Wilder of Rosecrans' advance shelled Chattanooga. Brashear City, La., recaptured by the Union gunboat Sachem.

July 23.—A gallant fight occurred near Manassas Gap, in which 800 men of Gen. Spinola's brigade utterly routed twice their number of Georgia and North Carolina troops with 17 cannon.

Kentucky again invaded. Kit Carson with a part of the first New Mexico regiment defeated the Navajoe Indians in a severe fight beyond Fort Cauby.

July 31.—The Union forces in Kentucky, under Col. Saunders, thoroughly routed the Confederate troops under Scott and Pegram. Martial law in Kentucky.

Aug. 2.—A severe though indecisive cavalry fight occurred at Culpepper, Va., between Buford and Stuart, in which 100 prisoners were captured by the Union troops.

Aug. 7.—President Lincoln rejects the demand for the suppression of the conscription in the State of New York.

Aug. 17.—Lieut. Col. Phillips of the 9th Illinois Mounted Infantry attacked the Confederate forces at Grenada, Miss., consisting of 2,000 men under command of Gen. Slimmer, and drove them from the place. He then destroyed all the ordnance and commissary stores, burnt the depot and machine shop, tore up the railroad track, and destroyed 57 locomotives and more than 400 cars.

Aug. 20.—The town of Lawrence, Kansas, was surprised in the middle of the night by 300 guerrillas under the leadership of Quantrell. The town was set on fire and 182 buildings burned to the ground, and $2,000,000 worth of property destroyed. 191 persons were killed, many of whom were helpless women and children; 581 were wounded, many of them mortally. About 80 of the murderers were killed.

Aug. 22.—Gen. Blunt with 4,500 men attacked Gen. Cooper with 11,000 Confederate troops in the Indian Territory and compelled him to retreat to Red River.

Aug. 29.—The Confederate army in Arkansas under General Price severely pushed by the Union forces under Gen. Steele.

Sept. 1.—Gen. Blunt defeated the Confederate forces in Arkansas under Cooper and Cobell, and captured Fort Smith. The Confederates evacuated Little Rock.

Sept. 4.—Burnside occupied Knoxville, Tenn., and was hailed with delight by the inhabitants.

Sept. 9.—General Crittenden's division of Rosecrans' army entered Chattanooga.

Sept. 10.—Gen. Burnside captured Cumberland Gap with 2,000 prisoners, and 14 pieces of artillery under command of Major General Frazer. Gen. Steele took possession of Little Rock, Ark.

was commenced by Gen. Bragg in the morning and continued all day. At night both armies occupied nearly the same position that they did in the morning. On the next day the battle was renewed by the Confederates and lasted until dark. The Union army was defeated and driven back to Chattanooga. The Federal loss was about 1,800 killed, 9,500 wounded, and 2,500 prisoners.

Oct. 9.—Wheeler's Confederate cavalry defeated with considerable loss at Farmington, Tennessee, and again near Shelbyville.

Oct. 20.—The departments of the Cumberland and Mississippi were consolidated and placed under the command of General Grant. Gen. Rosecrans removed and Gen. Thompson appointed in his place.

Nov. 5.—Brownsville, Texas, captured.

Nov. 25.—The Confederate army under Bragg was badly whipped near Chattanooga, losing about 6,000 prisoners and 52 guns. The Union loss was between 3,000 and 4,000 in killed and wounded.

Nov. 29.—An unsuccessful attempt of the Confederates to carry Knoxville by storm.

Nov.—The first Fenian convention assembled at Chicago. According to tradition the Fenians or Finians were a national militia established in Ireland by Fin or Fionn, the son of Cumbal.

Dec. 4.—Gen. Longstreet commenced the siege of Knoxville, Nov. 17th. On the 29th there was a severe fight, in which he was defeated. This, with the defeat of Bragg at Chattanooga, compelled Longstreet to raise the siege.

Feb. 1.—President Lincoln orders a draft for 500,000 men.

Feb. 9.—A large number of prisoners, including Colonel Streight, escaped from Libby Prison, Richmond.

Feb. 15.—Gen. W. T. Sherman with his command arrived at Meridan, Miss., on his great raid into the heart of the enemy's country. Returned to Vicksburg with immense booty.

Feb. 20.—The advance into Florida of the Union forces about 5,000 strong, under General Seymour, was repulsed near Olustee with a loss of 1,200. Confederate loss, about the same.

Feb. 22.—A heavy reconnoitering force sent out from Chattanooga by General Grant, met and defeated the enemy at Tunnel Hill.

Feb.—Kilpatrick and Dahlgren's raid on Richmond.

March 8.—Gen. Grant was formally presented by the President with his commission as Lieutenant General, and on the 12th was assigned to the command of the armies of the United States.

It is three stories above the basement. The height from street to cornices at roof is 66 feet, and to the top of the tower 180. On the several sides of the first section of tower, are figures representing "Justice," "Industry," "Arts," "Commerce." In this section is the clock, and above that the general fire alarm bell, and over it the lookout. The building was completed in July, 1871. The whole cost, including furniture, outside improvements, etc., was about $600,000.

City Hall, Louisville, Ky.—This building at present covers an area of 200 feet on Sixth street and 100 feet on Jefferson, but it is designed in the future to extend the front on Jefferson street about 150 feet, covering the space now occupied by the jail and Engine house, and thus complete the principal facade, which it is intended shall front on Jefferson street, the present completed portion being that of a pavillion to the entire building. As it is now occupied, the building cost about $460,000. This building was commenced on the 14th day of August, 1870, and was completed and occupied in the early part of 1873; its architecture is that of the Italian Renaissance.

April 15.—Death of President Lincoln. Vice-President Johnson sworn in as President of the United States.

Mr. Stanton's letter to Charles Francis Adams, Minister to England: "Washington, April 15th. Sir—It has become my distressing duty to announce to you that last night his Excellency Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, about the hour of half-past ten o'clock, in his private box at Ford's Theatre, in this city. The President, about eight o'clock, accompanied Mrs. Lincoln to the theater. Another lady and gentleman were with them in the box. About half-past ten, during a pause in the performance, the assassin entered the box, the door of which was unguarded, hastily approached the President from behind, and discharged a pistol at his head. The bullet entered the back of his head and penetrated nearly through. The assassin then leaped from the box upon the stage, brandishing a large knife or dagger, and exclaimed, 'Sic semper tyrannis!' and escaped in the rear of the theatre. Immediately upon the discharge the President fell to the floor insensible, and continued in that state until twenty minutes past 7 o'clock this morning, when he breathed his last."

May 24.—Grand Review of Gen. Sherman's army at Washington.

Jefferson Davis indicted for treason.

May 26.—Kirby Smith surrendered. The last armed Confederate organization has succumbed.

May 31.—Confederate Gen. Hood and staff surrendered.

COST OF THE WAR.—In the Union armies probably 300,000 men were killed in battle, or died of wounds and disease, while doubtless two hundred thousand more were crippled for life. If the Confederate armies suffered as heavily, the country thus lost one million able-bodied men. The Union debt, Jan. 1, 1866, was nearly $2,750,000,000. At one time, the daily expenses reached the sum of $3,500,000. During the last year of the war, the expenses were greater than the entire expenditures of the Government from Washington to Buchanan. The Confederate war debt was never paid, as that Government was overthrown.

June 22.—President Johnson rescinds order requiring passports from all travelers entering the United States, and opens Southern ports.

July 7.—Execution of Payne, Atzerott, Harold and Mrs. Surratt, for complicity in the assassination of President Lincoln.

Connecticut State Building, Centennial Exposition, Phila.—

Is of the Dutch Colonial style; 30 feet front by 40 feet deep, with a wing 10 feet by 20. The lower part of the outside of the building is constructed of scollop-fashioned shingles, and the upper part is lathed and plastered. A massive stone chimney protrudes from the roof, and the front is relieved by an old-fashioned porch.

Swedish School House, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.

This building was erected by the government of Sweden. It is composed entirely of wood, either polished or oiled, and was brought from Sweden prepared to be put together upon the grounds. The most singular part of it is that is impossible, on the exterior, to discover a nail or screw. The boards are beveled and so joined together that no seams are visible. It is intended to keep school there during the summer; genuine Swedish youths of both sexes, with teachers, will be brought over for that purpose.

The Home of Washington's Ancestors.—The Manor House, Sulgrave, Northamptonshire, which was held of the Priory of St. Andrew, was surrendered to the Crown upon the dissolution of the Monasteries, and in the 30th of Henry VIII, (1529), it was granted to Lawrence Washington, gent of Northampton. Robert Washington, his son and heir, conjointly with his eldest son Lawrence sold the manor in 1610 to Lawrence Makepeace, gent of the Inner Temple, London. Lawrence Washington, after the sale of his estate, retired to Brington, where he died; and his second son, John Washington, emigrated to America about the middle of the 17th century, and was grandfather of the great American patriot and father of his country, George Washington.—[Extract from Wm. W. Nellan & Co.'s History of Northamptonshire.]

Massachusetts State Building, Centennial Exposition, Phila.
—Built after the style of houses that were common in colonial times. The building is one and a half stories high, with dormer windows, and light fancy verandahs. It is 85 by 70 feet in dimensions. The buiding was sold for $1500 to a gentleman of that State who will remove it to a place near Boston.

Peters' Horse Protector, Or Elastic Patented Tug-Link for Harness, For Teamsters, Farmers, and Street Railway Companies.

The advantages gained by the use of this invention may be comprised as follows:

FIRSTLY. That the horses breasts and shoulders will not be liable to soreness from the harness by any overstrain.

SECONDLY. The horses will start and convey heavy loads with more ease and will therefore be able to do longer duty.

THIRDLY. The saving in Harness-repairs will be quite a consideration.

FOURTHLY. The entire strain of the start being obviated, horses will show less tendency to balk, and actually baulky horses will be cured by the use of the Protector.

Peters' Patent Elastic Tug-Links are furnished at $2.50 per pair by

Photographic Studio, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.—

It is a very handsome structure of wood and plaster, and is of a highly decorative style of architecture. It is one story high, situated on a terrace three feet above grade. The front portion of the building is reached by a wide stairway, and comprises a wide vestibule and reception-room, and on each of the latter gallery 22 feet square, for the exhibition of photographs. There are public and private offices, dressing-rooms for ladies and gentlemen, and all the appurtenances of a first class photographic gallery on a large scale.

United States Mint, Philadelphia.—Was established in 1792. The present beautiful building, which is pure Ionic architecture, was completed in 1833, is situated on Chestnut street above 13th. The Mint, besides being a great money-coining establishment, also contains a museum or cabinet of coins, embracing the coined "legal tenders" from the earliest ages up to the present period.

The rate for transient newspapers and magazines, without regard to distance, is to be one cent for three ounces or fractional part thereof, and one cent for each two additional ounces or fractional part thereof. This law is to take effect, should it be accepted by the House, on the 1st of July next.

April 15.—Arrival of Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil; at New York. He declines a public ovation, and, in the habiliments of a private citizen, makes a tour of the United States.

April 18.—President Grant vetoed the bill passed by Congress reducing his successor's salary to $25,000 per annum.

The Gray Nuns Act of 1875 repealed by the New York Legislature. The especially obnoxious clause of the act was one authorizing the Superintendent of Public Instruction to issue a certificate of qualification as a teacher in the common schools to any graduate of its seminaries to whom the Roman Catholic Sisterhood of Gray Nuns may have awarded a diploma.

May 10.—Grand opening of the Centennial Exhibition. The first official conception of the Centennial Exhibition was an act passed by Congress, March 3, 1871, creating the United States Centennial Commission, under whose supervision the exhibition was carried to a perfect success. On July 5th, 1873, the Secretary of State sent official notifications to the various foreign nations of the intended exhibition, and of the thirty-nine nations so invited and notified, they not only accepted, but sent goods in great profusion for the international display. Foreign industries make up three-fifths of the display in the Main Building, and, perhaps, four-fifths in the Art Department, and a large proportion in every other department.

The President and Cabinet, the Diplomatic Corps, the Senate and House of Representatives, together with Commissioners from every State in the Union, were present at the opening. Dom Pedro, the Emperor of Brazil, was present.

The Army and Navy were largely represented from the highest rank to the private in line.

It is estimated that over 300,000 persons were on the ground, and the receipts amounted to $75,000.

May 17.—Boiler explosion on the steamer Pat Cleburne, six miles below Shawneetown, on the Mississippi river; nine persons killed, including the Captain.

May 18.—The Greenback National Convention at Indianapolis, Ind., nominated Peter Cooper, of New York, for President, and Senator Booth, of California, for Vice-President.

May 28.—Near Cincinnati, Ohio, G. M. D. Bloss, one of the editors of the Cincinnati Enquirer, was killed while walking on the railroad track; aged fifty years.

May 29.—It was decided by a majority of 8, in the United States Senate, that that body had jurisdiction in the Belknap impeachment case.

June 16.—The National Republican Convention, at Cincinnati, nominated Governor Rutherford B. Hayes, of Ohio, for President of the United States, and the Hon. William A. Wheeler, of New York, for Vice-President.

June 17.—B. H. Bristow resigned his seat in the Cabinet as Secretary of the Treasury.

June 25.—Custer's disaster in his expedition against the Indians. Gen. Custer had been detached from Gen. Terry's command, with orders to follow the trail of the hostile Sioux in the direction of the Big Horn river, while Gen. Terry should ascend the Big Horn and attack the enemy in the rear. On the 25th, Gen. Custer came suddenly upon a large force of Indians. Without waiting for support, he attacked the enemy. He had twelve companies of cavalry. Four of these companies had been detached under Colonel Reno to make an attack from the other side upon the enemy. Gen. Custer's force was overpowered and annihilated. Gen. Custer, his two brothers and nephew were killed. Not one of the command escaped. Col. Reno's force was surrounded and sustained severe losses, but was finally rescued by Gen. Gibbon's command. The entire loss was 261 killed and 50 wounded.

THE OLD ELM, BOSTON COMMON, BOSTON, MASS.

The Union Hotel, Galesburg.

This truly elegant and first-class house which has been identified with the progress of Galesburg for years, is under the experienced and skillful management of Mr. C. Wormly, late of Kalamazoo, with "Judd" Gowdy as managing clerk. The whole house has been calcimined, redecorated and overhauled, and is now in the neatest and sweetest order, new carpets being laid down on all the corridors. The Union Hotel is not only holding its old reputation but is gaining new success under its present courteous and popular proprietor, who brings to his aid the assistance which money cannot buy, the refined taste of an affectionate wife and mother. The immaculate whiteness of the linen, the neatness of the furniture of all the house, its freedom from dust and smoke, all bear evidence of superior management in that department, where woman is at home. In fact the traveling public will receive every accommodation at the Union Hotel that is combined in the best hotels in the United States.

Oct. 17.—President Grant issues a proclamation commanding the South Carolina rifle clubs to disband in three days. The same day the Secretary of War ordered troops to Columbia, S. C. to enforce the proclamation should it be disregarded.

Oct. 21.—Arrival of the whaling bark Florence, at San Francisco, with intelligence that twelve American whaling ships of the Arctic fleet have been wrecked in the ice, with immense loss of life.

Oct. 28.—Edward S. Stokes, convicted of shooting James Fisk, Jr., released from Auburn prison, N. Y., his term of sentence having expired.

Oct. 31.—Summer's Opera House, Akron, Ohio, destroyed by fire, which includes Summer's Hotel and several stores. Total loss, $75,000.

Nov. 7.—Election of President of the United States. On the night of the election, it seemed to be pretty generally conceded by both parties that Governor Tilden, of New York, the Democratic candidate, was elected, but later news during the following day rendered it extremely doubtful who was chosen. Governor Hayes, of Ohio, was the Republican candidate for President.

Nov. 10.—Closing of the great Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia. The Exhibition was open 159 days. During that time the paid admissions were 8,004,325. The free admissions were 1,785,067. Total admissions, 9,799,392. The total receipts were $3,813,749 75. Money received from concessions, $290,000; from per centages and royalties, $205,000; grand total, $4,307,749 75. The average daily total admissions were 61,568. The average daily receipts were $23,935 85.

The following is a comparative statement of the attendance, receipts and number of days open of the different international exhibitions held since 1855:

Dec. 4.—The bust of Horace Greeley, the philosopher and founder of the New York Tribune, presented to the friends of the deceased by the American printers and journalists, was unveiled at Greenwood Cemetery, New York, in the presence of about 1,000 people.

Dec. 5.—Brooklyn Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., destroyed by fire. This was one of the most terrible and fatal calamities that has ever occurred in the United States—far exceeding in horrors that of the burning of the Richmond (Va.) Theatre, Dec. 27, 1811 (see page 65). Over three hundred and fifty lives were lost, burned and buried in the ruins, disfigured so much that but few were in condition to be recognized, so completely charred and burned as to be impossible to tell whether they were male or female, human or animal. Many persons were seriously injured in their efforts to escape from the flames by jumping out of the windows, and some were killed outright. Others were crushed and mangled by the mad rush of human beings seeking egress from the theater by the main outlet on Washington street. Of the actors, two lost their lives—Harry S. Murdock and Claude Burroughs. The play was the Two Orphans, with Miss Claxton as the heroine; and the fire occurred in the last act, and in five minutes more the play would have been concluded and the audience dismissed. The fire originated from a piece of canvass, out of which trees are made, which broke from its fastenings and fell over the border lights near the center of the stage. The curtain was then lowered, took fire and communicated the flames to the gallery, where the scene of alarm was something horrible to contemplate. There were 405 persons in the gallery; and, in the theatre altogether, including musicians, actors, subordinates, etc., about 1,050 persons.

Dec. 5.—First cremation in the United States was performed at Washington, Pa. It was the body of Baron De Palm, who was born in Augsburg, Southern Germany, in the year 1809.

December 12.—Ice broke on the Mississippi river in front of St. Louis, sinking four vessels of the Keokuk Packet Line and three others, besides inflicting great injury to other vessels. Loss supposed to be $200,000.

Dec. 14.—Destructive fire at Little Rock, Arkansas. Loss, $200,000.

Dec. 29.—Terrible railroad accident at Ashtabula, Ohio, over 100 lives lost. As the passenger train on the Lake Shore railroad was crossing the iron bridge at Ashtabula about 8 A. M., the bridge gave way, precipitating the cars down a frightful chasm sixty feet deep into the water and ice. Men, women and children lost their lives by being crushed, burned and drowned; and out of 185 passengers and employees but seventy were known to have been saved. There is no cause assigned for the breaking of the bridge unless from the effects of the extreme cold.

New York State Building, Centennial Exposition, Phila.—Is 30x60 feet, with spacious square bays in each end, which extend to roof, while a portico 13.6 wide extends across street front. The first floor contains two rooms one for ladies and one for gentlemen, with retiring and private consultation rooms, etc. In the hall a winding stair case ascends to second floor, which contains two parlors and several private apartments. From this floor the staircase continues to attic floor, thence to the cupola. The interior is decorated in soft gay colors, and with its many irregular features, ranks among the handsomest structures of its size on the ground.

pired this year, reducing the price of these machines to about one-half their original cost.

The last of the troops that were left in the South, the result of the rebellion, were withdrawn this year from all the Southern States, and thus, virtually, these States became free for the first time since the rebellion.

Jan. 4.—Cornelius Vanderbilt died at his residence in New York city, aged 53 years. He was the richest man in the United States, his wealth being estimated at $80,000,000. He commenced life a poor boy and worked himself up to his great wealth by personal exertions. At the age of forty he commenced dealing extensively in Railroad stocks, and in 1849 he was known as Commodore Vanderbilt, on account of the great number of steamboat lines owned by him. At the time of his death he owned so much exclusively Railroad stock as to be denominated the King of Railroads.

Jan. 17.—House of Representatives ordered the arrest of the Louisiana Returning Board for refusing to furnish papers to the investigating committee in relation to the Presidential election in Louisiana.

Jan. 18.—The Congressional joint committee reported to both Houses, in the shape of a bill, a plan for counting the electoral vote. It makes the function of the President of the Senate purely ministerial, and the two kinds of objections likely to be raised when the certificates are opened, are to be settled as follows: First, when only one set of returns is presented from a state, any objection to their reception must be sustained by the concurrent vote of both Houses. Failing this, such return must be counted as the vote of the state. When two sets are presented, they are to be immediately referred to a commission composed of five Senators, five members of the House, and four of the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, whose names are given—and one other justice selected by these four. The decision of this tribunal of fifteen is to be submitted to the two Houses assembled in joint session, and is to be final, unless both Houses agree to reject it.

Jan. 25.—Senate passed the Electoral Bill. Yeas 47; nays 17.

Jan. 26.—The House passed the Electoral Bill by a vote of 191 to 96.

Jan. 27.—Academy of Music of Indianapolis, Ind., destroyed by fire, involving a loss of nearly $100,000.

Jan. 29.—President signed the electoral bill. The President gave the following reasons for signing the bill: The country is agitated; it needs aid; it desires peace and quiet and harmony between all parties and sections. Its industries are arrested, labor unemployed, capital idle, and enterprise paralyzed by reason of the doubt and anxiety attending the uncertainty of a double claim to the Chief Magistracy of the United States. It wants to be assured that the result of the election will be accepted without resistance from the supporters of the disappointed candidate, and that its highest officer shall not hold his place with a questioned title or right.

Jan. 30.—The Senate and House each elected five members to serve on the Electoral Commission as follows: Senators Edmunds, Morton, Freelinghuysen, Thurman and Bayard, and Representatives Payne, Hunton, Abbott, Garfield and Hoar.

Jan. 31.—The four United States Associate Justices to serve on the Electoral Tribunal—Clifford, Miller, Field and Strong, chose as the fifth member of the Tribunal Justice Joseph P. Bradley. Colorado declared a state.

Feb. 1.—The joint convention to count the electoral vote assembled in the hall of the House of Representatives. The vote of Florida was objected to, as there were three certificates presented from that state, and referred to the Electoral Commission.

Feb. 9.—The Electoral Commission, by a vote of 8 to 7, gave the vote of Florida to Hayes and Wheeler, Judge Bradley voting with the Republicans.

Feb. 12.—Congress re-assembled in joint convention to count the electoral vote. When the state of Louisiana was reached its vote was referred to the commission, on account of the state presenting certificates from the Republicans and Democrats.

Feb. 16.—The Commission, by a vote of 8 to 7, decided the Louisiana vote for Hayes and Wheeler.

Feb. 15.—An attempt made to assassinate Gov. Packard, of Louisiana, while sitting in his room in the State House. W. H. Weldon, was the assassin. He claims to be the son of a Lutheran minister in Pennsylvania.

Feb. 21.—The joint convention refused to receive the vote of Oregon, on account of two certificates from that state; but, on the 23d, the electoral tribunal decided by a vote of 8 to 7, that the vote of Oregon should be counted for Hayes and Wheeler.

Feb. 25.—Fox's New American Theatre at Tenth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia, destroyed by fire. Total loss was about $250,000. It was built in 1870.

March 2.—The electoral count finished, and Hayes and Wheeler declared President and Vice-President of the United States.

Ohio State Building, Centennial Exposition, Phila.—It is the most substantial of the State buildings. It is built of Sandstone, furnished by the proprietors of the various quarries in Ohio. Some of the stones are very beautiful, and the colors are tastefully blended together. Each course of stones is from a different quarry, and twenty-one quarries are represented in the like number of layers from the ground to the eaves. The building is two stories, with high roof. It is 60 feet wide and 58 feet deep, including the front porch. A varandah 12 feet wide runs on each side and in rear of the building, that on the east being covered with a porch without columns—the other porches having supporting columns. A hallway 9 feet wide and 46 feet long runs through the center of the building, on each floor, on each side of which are committee, reception, retiring and other suitable rooms. At a meeting of the Ohio State Board, a resolution was adopted donating their State building to the Philadelphia Park Commissioners.

Maryland State Building, Centennial Exposition, Phila.—Is constructed of wood, one story high, with an addition. It is divided off into four rooms, arranged for the convenience of visitors, Commissioners from that State, and reception room for ladies. It has on exhibition a variety of memorials from the State of Maryland.

It is 21 by 42 feet, with an addition to the rear of $6\frac{1}{2}$ ft. by 19 ft, and an open porch in front 6 feet by 14 feet. There are in the building ladies' and gentlemen's waiting rooms, and a luggage room in the rear of entrance vestibule. It is built of solid timber, the frame-work showing on the outside. The roof is covered with Pennsylvania black slate. The interior is very plain, the rooms being sheathed with narrow boards, the joints running horizontally. The same material shows both inside and outside. No plaster has been used.

Arkansas State Building, Centennial Exposition, Phila.—

This building is a pavilion, with offices and retiring rooms, covering an area of over 5,000 square feet. The shape of the building is octagonal; the columns are placed in a circle, 82 feet in diameter; the ceiling is spherical, and an octagonal dome is placed on the top of the roof; the top of the dome is 50 feet above the floor line. The roof construction is of iron; the sides of wood and glass.

March 5.—President Hayes and Vice-President Wheeler inaugurated.

March 23.—Execution of John D. Lee, Mormon bishop, convicted of being the main instigator in the Mountain Meadows massacre in 1857. This massacre was one of the most atrocious fanatical religious murders of the last thousand years. One hundred and fifty men, women and children were assaulted, and all, save seventeen infant children, were murdered. Lee was shot to death by a file of United States soldiers, on the same spot where the massacre was committed. Lee's allies were Mormons and Indians.

April 2.—The Southwestern portion of Chicago was covered with water to the extent of nearly seven miles square. In some cases the water reached the first stories, and people were obliged to make their way in boats.

April 11.—The Southern Hotel, one of the largest and finest in St. Louis, destroyed by fire. The fire broke out shortly before two o'clock, and spread with such rapidity that in less than an hour the entire building was in ruins. The guests rushed from their beds frantically, but many were driven back to their rooms by the dense smoke which filled the hallways. Some were rescued by means of ropes and ladders, but others, becoming desperate, leaped from the upper windows and were instantly killed, or so badly mangled, that death resulted soon after. The number who lost their lives was fourteen. The loss will probably reach $750,000.

May 10.—Opening ceremonies of the Permanent Exhibition at Philadelphia, where over one hundred thousand persons assembled.

May 11.—The new Winnebago County Court House, Rockford, Ill., fell, burying the workmen in the ruins and killing nine men.

June 4.—Mount Carmel, Ill., nearly destroyed by a Tornado, over 20 persons were killed and nearly 200 wounded, over half a million dollars worth of property destroyed.

June 14.—The bridge across the Connecticut River between Northampton and Hadley, Mass., was blown down by a hurricane. Fifteen persons who had taken shelter there and a number of teams, went down in the ruins.

June 20.—St. John, N. B., nearly destroyed by fire, the main portion of the city burned, all the public buildings and business houses destroyed. 15,000 people homeless, no household effects were saved. 500 acres were burned over. Many lives were lost. Intense suffering among the people. Loss about $20,000,000.

Ohio Railroad at Baltimore, Md., and Martinsburg, Va., struck on account of reduction of wages.

July 17.—The railroad strikers at Martinsburg, V., attacked and fired on a train. The troops returned the fire, killing one of the rioters and wounding several.

July 18.—At the request of the Governor of West Virginia, President Hayes ordered federal troops to Martinsburg, Va., to quell the railroad riot.

July 20.—The strikes on the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroads continue, and a strike took place on the Erie Railway, stopping all trains. A riot occurred at Baltimore, and the Sixth Maryland Regiment fired into the crowd, killing nine and wounding between forty and fifty. Troops were also called out in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

July 21.—A conflict occurred at Pittsburg, Pa., between railroad-strikers and the military, during which a number of persons were killed, including Sheriff Fife, and many wounded, among the number being General Pearson. The mob sacked all the leading gun-stores, and late at night attacked the soldiers from Philadelphia who had been compelled to take refuge in the Round House at the outer depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Another riot also took place at Baltimore, Md., but no one was killed. President Hayes issued a proclamation, ordering all those engaged in these unlawful proceedings to desist and retire to their homes by 12 o'clock noon of the 22d.

July 22.—The railroad-strikers continue their riotous work at Pittsburg. Early in the morning the mob set fire to and completely destroyed the round-house of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, together with 125 first-class locomotives housed there, hundreds of loaded freight cars and other property, aggregating in value, according to a rough estimate, $3,000,000. The troops, who had been penned up in the round-house all night, were forced to attempt escape when the building was fired, and as they marched out hastily they were attacked by the strikers, who followed them as they double-quickened toward the Arsenal, firing shots and hurling all sorts of missiles at the soldiers, many of whom were badly hurt and others shot down and left in the streets. Once the military turned and fired into their pursuers, twenty or more persons being killed by the discharge. The commandant at the Arsenal refused to allow the troops admission, saying that he had but twenty men with him, and if he allowed them to enter he could not protect the place against the mob. They then hurried on to the bridge over the Alleghen-

Occupies one-half of the square bounded by Fifth, Sixth, Main and Walnut streets. The exterior walls are to be of Granite, the basement and stylobate from the Red Granite quarries of Middlebrook, Mo. The building will be 354 by 164 feet, four stories in height above ground, exclusive of the attics and roof stories. To complete this building will cost, exclusive of the site, nearly $3,000,000.

Spanish Commissioners' Building, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.—Is a handsome structure, built in an octagonal form, 50 feet in diameter. It is occupied as the headquarters of the Spanish Engineers.

The road to wealth, happiness and prosperity, RUNS WEST, Passing through the most fertile portions of

CENTRAL MISSOURI, AND IS KNOWN THE WORLD OVER AS THE OLD RELIABLE

Hannibal and St. Joseph R. R.

Twenty-five years ago the counties of Buchanan, Caldwell, Clinton, Linn, Livingston, Macon, Marion, and Shelby, through which this road passes, were nearly a wilderness; to-day, by a late census, it is discovered that the valuation of personal and real estate in these eight counties, is $83,100,000. The number of acres of improved land is 844,458. The farms are valued at $39,812,719. The farm products foot up an aggregate of $9,216,851. Bushels of corn, 5,535,161; wheat, 1,065,378; oats, 1,842,990. There are 114 counties in the State. The aggregate of corn in the whole State was 66,034,075 bushels; oats, 16,578,813; wheat, 14,215,926.

By these figures it will be seen that over 1-12 of the entire corn crop is gathered from those counties; over 1-14 of the wheat, and over 1-9 of the oats. Hay, potatoes, and the orchard crop, etc., bear an equally favorable comparison, and in some art 1-s a very much better exhibit is made. Of the $84,285,273 worth of live stock in the State, $9,585,286 of the valuation is found in those counties. In those same counties there are 811 manufacturing establishments, with a capital of $2,793,880. The gross valuation of the products of these establishments was $8,202,286. The entire valuation of church property in the State was $9,909,358, $794,400 of which valuation is found in the counties traversed by the HANNIBAL & ST. JOE RAILROAD. It would be but fair to deduct the valuation of church property in the city of St. Louis from the remaining portion of the State, which is $4,940,270. The entire valuation outside of St. Louis county would then be $4,969,088 nearly 1-6 of which will be found in those counties.

Of 324,348 attendants of the schools in the one hundred and fourteen counties of the State, about one-tenth of the whole number is found in those counties along the line of the HANNIBAL & ST. JOSEPH RAILROAD. Now deduct the school-going population of St. Louis county (which would be fair), and about one-eighth of the entire school attendance is found in these eight counties.

The same growth of country is now being repeated in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and New Mexico, and the immortal Greeley had this identical route and section of country in mind when he breathed those stirring words of wisdom, "Young man, go West!" Therefore, it is but natural that parties taking this advice should desire to pass over a road that has done so much for a great State, (especially as it offers the best facilities) and see for themselves. By the HANNIBAL & ST. JOSEPH R. R., through cars are run from Cleveland and Toledo, and through connections made from Cincinnati and Indianapolis, via Quincy, to St. Joe, Atchison and Kansas City, and from Chicago to Kansas City, without change.

We are about to issue, in connection with our own, a County Map of Colorado and New Mexico, giving valuable information as regards time tables, routes, distances, altitudes, &c., which we will be pleased to furnish FREE, upon application in person or by letter addressed to ny at Sharpsburg, after crossing which they separated in squads and took to the woods. The civil authorities were totally powerless, and thieves, who took advantage of the reign of terror, broke open and plundered the cars, and carried off the stolen goods with perfect impunity. The strike in Philadelphia was inaugurated at 6 o'clock p. m., by the men abandoning their places. Trouble occurred at Hornellsville, N. Y., on the Erie road, the strikers preventing trains departing.

July 23.—A mob of Erie Railroad men and canal men drove the men out of the New York Central stock-yards at Buffalo, N. Y., and prevented freight trains from going out. No one was injured. All trains were abandoned on the Cleve and Pittsburg Railroad, and the same was the case with the freight trains on the Lake Shore and Southern Michigan road. The Vandalia Railroad men at Indianapolis, Ind., struck, as did also the Niagara division of the Erie Road employes. Trains resumed running at Baltimore, and the excitement was subsiding. The Twenty-third Regiment arrived at Hornellsville, N. Y., where all was reported quiet. The New York Central men struck, and all freight trains were stopped. The estimated number of killed and wounded at Pittsburg was, killed 54, wounded 109—163. A vigilance committee was organized at Pittsburg, for the protection of property. The transmen on the Eastern roads running out of St. Louis also struck. At Reading, Pa., troops fired upon rioters who were engaged in tearing up tracks, at least seven persons being killed and over thirty wounded. At Buffalo, N. Y., the strikers drove away about two hundred soldiers, a number of whom were pretty roughly handled. Citizens' organization maintained order at Pittsburg, and quiet prevailed at Baltimore, Md., and Hornellsville N. Y.

July 24.—Additional strikes took place in Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and New York; the New York Central, Delaware and Lackawanna, and all the roads centering at Chicago, Ill., being among the number. Vigilance committees and large bodies of police were organized in different cities and towns of Pennsylvania, Ohio, and other states, which action had great effect in restoring order.

July 25.—The strikers were joined by the Central New Jersey, Lehigh Valley and the Texas Pacific freight-men. Conflicts between the mob and police took place in Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco; one man being shot and another dangerously wounded at the first-named place. President Hayes ordered to Baltimore and Louisville nearly all the troops in the South. The Erie strikers at Hornellsville, N. Y., surrendered to the rail, way officials, and those at Rochester, N. Y., agreed to go to work until such time as a conference could be had with Mr. Vanderbilt.

July 26.—Rioting took place in Chicago, Ill., the police and troops fighting the mob nearly all day. Fifteen persons were known to have been killed, and many wounded. Many of the rioters were arrested. Disturbance also took place at St. Louis, but no one was reported injured. Trains began running on the Erie Railway, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Great Western, Morris and Essex, and the American Division of the Canada Southern Railroad. At San Francisco, incendiary fires were started by the rioters, but strong bodies of vigilants prevented the contemplated depredations or serious trouble. In Philadelphia, the police, in breaking up a disorderly meeting, became involved in a fight, which was desperately waged, a number of persons being badly hurt, and one boy, aged about 17, killed.

July 28.—Under the protection of troops, seven freight trains were sent away from Baltimore, and about 500 cars from Cumberland over the Baltimore and Ohio road. Governor Hartranft and staff, with about 4,000 United States troops and militia—infantry, cavalry, and artillery—arrived at Pittsburg and took peaceable possession of the Pennsylvania Company's territory there. At Johnston a mob assailed the trains with missiles, some of which inflicted severe wounds. They likewise threw a train from the track, wrecking five cars, but fortunately not seriously injuring anyone. A revised list put the number of killed during the rioting in Chicago at twenty-one; wounded, about ninety, six of whom will probably die. One of the killed and eleven of the wounded were policemen. The authorities had the mob under control at St. Louis. The strikers at Fort Wayne, Ind., overpowered the authorities in two attempts to move trains on the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne and Chicago road.

July 29.—The seven freight trains which were sent westward from Baltimore, Md., were stopped by strikers at Keyser, West Va., one of them being partially wrecked. Another attempt to move an engine out of the yard at Fort Wayne, Ind., was frustrated. A compromise with the firemen and brakemen on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road was partially effected. Troops were concentrating at East St. Louis, Ill., in anticipation of an attack upon the bridge, and General Bates had caused the arrest of sixty-five strikers, who attempted to prevent a passenger-train from going out; trains were sent out on all the roads except the Toledo and Wabash. Strikers in the Lackawanna, Pa., region destroyed an engine-house and other prop-

Tootle's Opera House, situated in the center of the prosperous city of St. Joseph, Missouri, with a population of above 30,000. This House is one of the most elegant and commodious theatres in the West; has a seating capacity of 1,500, with patent folding chairs throughout the auditorium, and is otherwise supplied with all the modern improvements. The boxes, of which there are four, with seats for six, are superbly furnished and decorated. Large, nice dressing rooms adjoin the stage, which is in width 67 feet, and from front to rear 40 feet, the opening 35x34 feet. There is an ample supply of scenery, which has lately been retouched and increased. Stage furniture and a new "Steinway Grand Concert Piano," has been bought for use at Concerts, &c. The house will be let, licensed, lighted and warmed, with the usual stage attaches, to first class combinations, at reasonable rates. Sharing propositions, also, will be entertained, if preferred.

July 30.—Striking trainmen of the Lake Shore, Texas Pacific, Delaware, Lackawanna and Great Western Railroads, and of several lines centering at Pittsburg, Pa., went back to work at the reduced wages, the question of pay to come up for future discussion. Freight trains in large numbers were moved on the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio roads. At Galveston, Texas, the colored laborers struck. Regular trains were running on the Morris and Essex and New Jersey Central Railroads.

July 30.—No fresh outbreaks occurred on the railroads, and dispatches from various points indicated a speedy resumption of work. At Baltimore many of the old men were returning, more offering than could be made use of.

Aug. 3.—Eight or more girls lost their lives by the burning of a box-factory in Cincinnati.—The labor war was virtually at an end. Freight trains were running, or were about to be started, on all the roads. The striking miners in the coal regions of Pennsylvania were kept quiet by the presence of troops. The coroner's jury at Baltimore, Md., exonerated the Sixth Regiment from all blame for the riot.

Aug. 11.—News was received of a severe battle between General Gibbons' command and the Nez Perces Indians, on the Big Hole River, M. T., Aug. 9. The soldiers attacked an Indian camp, which they took after hard fighting, but were afterwards driven back, with the loss of nearly one-half their force. The Indians also suffered greatly. Among the killed were Capt. William Logan and Lieut. James H. Bradley, while Gen. Gibbon, Capt. Williams, and Lieutenants Coolidge, English and Woodruff were wounded.

Aug. 16.—The centenary of the battle of Bennington, Vt., was celebrated. A procession four miles long was witnessed by over sixty thousand people. Prof. Bartlett delivered the oration, a poem by W. C. Bryant was read by Prof. Churchill, and speeches were made by President Hayes, Secretary Evarts and others.

Aug. 18.—A. Gesner, E. T. Henderson and E. B. Weston were arrested at Chicago, Ill., charged with being members of an extensive gang of forgers, who during the past year have obtained more than $400,000 by means of raised checks and forgeries.

George Washington

(FIRST PRESIDENT.—TWO TERMS.)

George Washington was born on the Potomac river, in Westmoreland county, Virginia, February 22d, 1732, and died December 14, 1799. In 1754 he was made Lieutenant Colonel of the militia, and accompanied Braddock in his expedition against Fort Duquesne in 1755. In the same year he was made Commander-in-Chief of the military forces of the Colony of Va., and in 1787 he was unanimously chosen President of the Convention that met to frame a Constitution. He was inaugurated first President of the United States, April 30, 1789; and, being re-elected, he held the office until 1797. In 1788 and in 1792 he was again chosen President of the United States, but, conceiving it to be a dangerous precedent to serve more than two terms, he patriotically declined a third election. In early life he followed the occupation of an engineer. He was married to Miss Martha Custis, in January, 1759. Congress unanimously elected him commander of the revolutionary forces, and he took active command July 2, 1775, and held supreme military control throughout the struggle for independence.

With George Washington for our first President, we began our new experiment in the manner of choosing rulers, taking the surest possible mode, as all the world then thought, of selecting a good man and the one best adapted to the position.

Washington was left fatherless at eleven years of age; his education was directed by his mother, a woman of strong character, who kindly, but firmly, exacted the most implicit obedience. Of her Washington learned his first lessons of self-command. His favorite amusements were of a military character; he made soldiers of his playmates, and officered all the mock parades. His inherited wealth was great, and the antiquity of his family gave him high social rank. On his Potomac farms he had hundreds of slaves, and at his Mount Vernon home he was like the prince of a wide domain, free from dependence or restraint. He was fond of equipage and the appurtenances of high life. Although he always rode on horseback, his family had a "chariot and four," with "black postillions in scarlet and white livery." This generous style of living, added perhaps to his native reserve, exposed him to the charge of aristocratic feeling. While at his home, he spent much of his time in riding and hunting. He rose early, ate his breakfast of corn-cake, honey, and tea, and then rode about his estates. He spent his evenings with his family around the blazing hearth, retiring between nine and ten. He loved to linger at the table, cracking nuts and relating his adventures. In personal appearance, Washington was over six feet in height, robust, graceful, and perfectly erect. His manner was formal and dignified. He was more solid than brilliant, and had more judgment than genius. He had great dread of public life, cared little for books, and had no library. Washington was a consistent christian, and a regular attendant of the Episcopal church, of which he was a communicant. He was a firm advocate of free institutions, but believed in a strong government and strictly enforced laws. As a President, he carefully weighed his decisions, but, his policy once settled, he pursued it with steadiness and dignity, however great might be the opposition. As an officer, he was brave, enterprising, and cautious. His campaigns were rarely startling, but they were always judicious. He was capable of great endurance. Calm in defeat, sober in victory, commanding at all times, but irresistible when aroused, he exercised equal authority over himself and his army. His last illness was very brief, and his closing hours were marked by his usual calmness and dignity. "I die hard," he said, "but I am not afraid to go." Europe and America vied in tributes to his memory. Said Lord Brougham, "Until time shall be no more, a test of the progress which our race has made in wisdom and virtue will be derived from the veneration paid to the immortal name of Washington." Washington left no children. It has been beautifully said, "Providence left him childless that his country might call him Father."

John Adams

(SECOND PRESIDENT.)

John Adams was born in Braintree, Mass., October 1735, and died 1826. He graduated at Harvard College in 1755, and, abandoning the idea of becoming a minister of the gospel, was admitted to the bar in 1758. He was one of the delegates first sent to the Continental Congress from Massachusetts. In 1776 he was made President of the Board of War, and went to France as a Commissioner in 1777. He served as President of the United States from 1797 to 1801. He was a member of the first and second Congresses, and nominated Washington as commander-in-chief. Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, but Adams secured its adoption in a three-days' debate. He was a tireless worker, and had the reputation of having the clearest head and firmest heart of any man in Congress. In his position as President he lost the reputation he had gained as Congressman. His enemies accused him of being a bad judge of men; of clinging to old unpopular notions, and of having little control over his temper. They also ridiculed his egotism, which they declared to be inordinate. He lived, however, to see the prejudice against his administration give place to a more just estimate of his great worth and exalted integrity. As a Delegate to the Constitutional Convention, he was honored as one of the fathers of the republic. Adams and Jefferson were firm friends during the Revolution, but political strife alienated them. On their return to private life they became reconciled. They died on the same day—the fiftieth anniversary of American independence. Adams' last words were, "Thomas Jefferson still survives." Jefferson was, however, already lying dead in his Virginia home. Thus, by the passing away of these two remarkable men, was made memorable the 4th of July, 1826.

Th. Jefferson

(THIRD PRESIDENT.)

Thomas Jefferson was born at Shadwell, Virginia, April 2d, 1743; and died July 4, 1826. After graduating from William and Mary College, he adopted the profession of the law.

"Of all the public men who have figured in the United States," says Parton, "he was incomparably the best scholar and the most variously accomplished man." He was a bold horseman, a skillful hunter, an elegant penman, a fine violinist, a brilliant talker, a superior classical scholar, and a proficient in the modern languages. On account of his talent, he was styled "The Sage of Monticello." The immortal document, the Declaration of Independence, was, with the exception of a few words, entirely his work. He was an ardent supporter of the doctrine of State rights, and led the opposition to the Federalists. After he became President, however, he found the difficulty of administering the government upon that theory. "The executive authority had to be stretched until it cracked, to cover the purchase of Louisiana;" and he became convinced on other occasions that the federal government, to use his own expression, "must show its teeth." Like Washington, he was of aristocratic birth, but his principles were intensely democratic. He hated ceremonies and titles; even "Mr." was distasteful to him. These traits were the more remarkable to one of his superior birth and education, and peculiarly endeared him to the common people. Coming into power on a wave of popularity, he studiously sought to retain this favor. There were no more brilliant levees or courtly ceremonies as in the days of Washington and Adams. On his inauguration day, he rode down to Congress unattended, and, leaping from his horse, hitched it, and went into the chamber dressed in plain clothes, to read his fifteen-minutes' inaugural. Some of the sentences of that short but memorable address have passed into proverbs. The unostentatious example thus set by the nation's President was wise in its effects. Soon the public debt was diminished, the army and navy reduced, and the Treasury replenished. A man of such marked character necessarily made bitter enemies, but Jefferson commanded the respect of even his opponents, while the admiration of his friends was unbounded. The last seventeen years of his life were spent at Monticello, near the place of his birth. By his profuse hospitality, he had, before his death, spent his vast estates. He died poor in money, but rich in honor. His last words were, "This is the fourth day of July."

James Madison.

(FOURTH PRESIDENT.—TWO TERMS.)

James Madison was born in King George county, Virginia, March 16, 1751, and died in 1836. He graduated at Princeton College in 1778, after which he studied law; and from 1809 to 1817 he was President of the United States. In Congress in 1789 he became one of the strongest advocates of the Constitution and did much to secure its adoption. From his political principles he was obliged, though reluctantly, to oppose Washington's administration, which he did in a courteous and temperate manner. He led his party in Congress, where he remained till 1797. The next year he drafted the famous "1798-99 Resolutions," enunciating the doctrines of State rights, which, with the accompanying "Report" in their defense, have been the great text-book of the Democratic party. State to Jefferson. After his Presidential services, he retired from public station. Madison's success was not so much the result of a great natural ability as of intense application and severe accuracy. His mind was strong, clear, and well balanced, and his memory was wonderful. Like John Quincy Adams, he had laid up great store of learning, which he used in the most skillful manner. He always exhausted the subject upon which he spoke. "When he had finished, nothing remained to be said." His private character was spotless. His manner was simple, modest, and uniformly courteous to his opponents. He enjoyed wit and humor, and told a story admirably. His sunny temper remained with him to the last. Some friends coming to visit him during his final illness, he sank smilingly back on his couch, saying, "I always talk better when I lie." It has been said of him, "It was his rare good fortune to have a whole nation for his friends."

James Monroe

(FIFTH PRESIDENT.—TWO TERMS.)

James Monroe was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, April 28, 1758, and died in the city of New York, July 4, 1831. He filled the office of President of the United States from the year 1817 to 1825. As a soldier under General Washington he bore a brave record, and especially distinguished himself in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, and Monmouth. Afterward he studied law, and entered political life. Having been sent by Washington as Minister to France, he showed such marked sympathy with that country as to displease the President and his cabinet, who were just concluding a treaty with England, and wished to preserve a strictly neutral policy. He was therefore recalled. Under Jefferson, who was his warm friend, he was again sent to France in 1803, when he secured the purchase of Louisiana. He is said to have always taken particular pride in this transaction, regarding his part in it as among the most important of his public services. Soon after his inauguration as President, he visited the military posts in the north and east, with a view to thorough acquaintance with the capabilities of the country in the event of future hostilities. This tour was a great success. He wore a blue military coat of home-spun, light-colored breeches, and a cocked hat, being the undress uniform of a Revolutionary officer. Thus was the nation reminded of his former military services. This, with his plain, unassuming manners, completely won the hearts of the people, and brought an overwhelming majority to the support of the administration. Monroe was a man more prudent than brilliant, who acted with a single eye to the welfare of the country. Jefferson said of him: "If his soul were turned inside out, not a spot could be found on it." Like that beloved friend, he died "poor in money, but rich in honor," and like him also, he passed away on the anniversary of the independence of the country he served so faithfully.

G. J. Adams

(SIXTH PRESIDENT.)

John Quincy Adams was born at Braintree, Mass., July 11, 1767, and died at Washington, February 23, 1848. He was President from 1825 to 1829.

John Q. Adams was a man of learning, of blameless reputation and unquestioned patriotism.

President he was hardly more successful than his father. This was, doubtless, owing greatly to the fierce opposition which assailed him from the friends of disappointed candidates, who at once combined to weaken his measures and prevent his re-election. Their candidate was Andrew Jackson, a man whose dashing boldness, energy and decision attracted the popular masses, and hid the more quiet virtues of Adams. To add to his perplexities, a majority of the House, and nearly one-half of the Senate, favored the new party; and his own Vice-President, John C. Calhoun, was also the candidate of the opposition, and of course committed to it. To stem such a tide was a hopeless effort. In two years Adams was returned to Congress, where he remained until his death, over sixteen years afterward. Ten years of public service were thus rendered after he had passed his "three-score years and ten," and so great was his ability in debate at this extreme age, that he was called "the old man eloquent." Like his father, he was a wonderful worker, and his mind was a complete store-house of facts. He lived economically, and left a large estate. He was the congressional advocate of anti-slavery, and a bitter opponent of secret societies. His fame increased with his age, and he died a trusted and revered champion of popular rights. He was seized with paralysis while occupying his seat in Congress, after which he lingered two days in partial unconsciousness. His last words were, "This is the last of earth; I am content."

Mississippi State Building.—This building has a front of 40 feet with a depth of 36, two stories high. The outside of the building is covered entirely with hickory bark, interspersed with panels laid in diagonal style. The roof is tin and the eaves are draped with hill moss from the State of Mississippi. There are 68 different varieties of wood used in the building, all from the State it represents. It has four rooms, two for the use of male visitors, and two for ladies—one for a ladies' parlor and the other a dressing room.

State Capitol, West Virginia.—The Capitol was changed temporarily from Charleston to Wheeling in 1874. The city of Wheeling offered to erect a building with ample accommodations, giving the use of it free as long as the state would occupy it as a capitol. Upon the acceptance of this generous offer the city erected the above building. It was completed in July, 1875. The building is 200 feet in length, each wing being 50x112 feet. The height of the main tower is 150 feet. The building cost $95,000.

(SEVENTH PRESIDENT.—TWO TERMS.)

Andrew Jackson was born in Waxhaw settlement, North or South Carolina, March 15, 1767, and died at the Hermitage, near Nashville, June 8, 1845. He served as President of the United States from 1829 to 1837.

The nomination of Presidential candidates by "Convention," as the term is now understood and applied, dates from the year 1832. At the first election Jackson was nominated by the Legislature of Tennessee and other States, as well as by several bodies of citizens and Conventions, but the first regularly constituted Convention of a party as an organized body, and fulfilling all the assumed functions of the old Congressional Canvass, met at Baltimore, on the 22d of May, 1832, and nominated Jackson and Van Buren as the Democratic candidates for President and Vice President. The Whig candidates, less "regularly" nominated, were Henry Clay and John Sergeant, of Pennsylvania, who were the anti-Masonic candidates. The leading issue of the campaign grew out of the question of the re-charter of the United States Bank, the Whigs favoring and the Democrats opposing it.

Jackson was of Scotch-Irish descent. His father died before he was born, and his mother was very poor. As a boy, Andrew was brave and impetuous, passionately fond of athletic sports, but not at all addicted to books. His life was crowded with excitement and adventure. At fourteen, being captured by the British, he was ordered to clean the commander's boots. Showing the true American spirit in his refusal, he was sent to prison with a wound on head and arm. Here he had the small-pox, which kept him ill for several months. Soon after his mother had effected his exchange, she died of ship-fever while caring for the imprisoned Americans at Charleston. Left entirely destitute, young Jackson tried various employments, but finally settled down to the law, and in 1796 was elected to Congress. His imperious temper and inflexible will supplied him with constant quarrels. Often they were passionate word-contests, sometimes they became hand-to-hand encounters, and on one occasion a formal duel was fought, in which he killed his adversary, himself being severely wounded. The scars he bore upon his person were of wounds received in private battles, some of which left a mark for life. Jackson first distinguished himself as a military officer in the war against the Creek Indians, which he made a signal victory. His dashing successes in the war of 1812 completed his reputation, and ultimately won him the Presidency. His nomination was at first received in many States with ridicule, as, whatever might be his military prowess, neither his temper nor his ability seemed to recommend him as a statesman. However, his re-election proved his popular success as a President. His chief intellectual gifts were energy and intuitive judgment. He was thoroughly honest, intensely warm-hearted, and had an instinctive horror of debt. His moral courage was as great as his physical, and his patriotism was undoubted. He died at the "Hermitage," his home near Nashville, Tennessee. Jackson and Adams were born the same year, yet how different was their childhood! One born to luxury and travel, a student from his earliest years, and brilliantly educated; the other poor, hating books, and seeking any kind of work to escape from want. Yet they were destined twice to compete for the highest place in the nation. Adams, the first time barely successful, was unfortunate in his administration; Jackson, triumphing the second, was brilliant in his Presidential career.

M Van Buren

(EIGHTH PRESIDENT.)

Martin Van Buren was born at Kinderhook, New York, December 5, 1782, and died, at the same place, July 24, 1862. He studied law and was admitted to practice in 1803; was elected President of the United States, and served four years, from 1837 to 1841. He early took an interest in politics, and in 1818 started a new organization of the Democratic party in New York, his native State, which had the power for over twenty years. In 1831 he was appointed Minister to England, whither he went in September, but when the nomination came before the Senate in December it was rejected, on the ground that he had sided with England against the United States, on certain matters, and had carried party contests and their results into foreign negotiations. His party regarded this as an extreme political persecution, and the next year elected him to the Vice-Presidency. He thus became head of the Senate which a few months before had condemned him, and where he now performed his duties with "dignity, courtesy and impartiality."

As a President, Van Buren was the subject of much partisan censure. The country was passing through a peculiar crisis, and his was a difficult position to fill with satisfaction to all. That he pleased his own party is proved from the fact of his re-nomination in 1840 against Harrison. In 1844 he was once more urged by his friends, but failed to get a two-thirds vote in the convention on account of his opposition to the annexation of Texas. In 1848 he became a candidate of the "Free Democracy," a new party advocating anti-slavery principles. After this he retired to his estate in Kinderhook, N. Y., where he died.

(NINTH PRESIDENT.)

William Henry Harrison was born in Charles City county, Virginia, February 9, 1773. He entered the army in 1791, after graduating from Hampden-Sydney College. After reaching the grade of Captain he resigned in 1797; was chosen delegate to Congress from the North-western Territory in 1797; appointed governor of Indiana in 1801, and continued to 1813. He was elected President of the United States in 1840, and had scarcely entered upon the duties of his office when he died at Washington, April 4, 1841. In 1812 he distinguished himself during the war, especially in the battle of the Thames. His military reputation made him available as a Presidential candidate. His character was unimpeachable, and the chief slur cast upon him by his opponents was that he had lived in a "log cabin" with nothing to drink but "hard cider." His friends turned this to good account. The campaign was noted for immense mass-meetings, long processions, song-singing and general enthusiasm. "Hard cider" became a party watch-word, and "log cabins" a regular feature in the popular parades. He was elected by a very large majority, and great hopes were entertained of his administration. Though advanced in years, he gave promise of endurance. But "he was beset by office-seekers; he was anxious to gratify the numerous friends and supporters who flocked about him; he gave himself incessantly to public business; and at the close of the month he was on a sick bed." His illness was of eight days' duration. His last words were, "The principles of the government, I wish them carried out. I ask nothing more."

John Tyler

(TENTH PRESIDENT.)

John Tyler was born in Charles City county, Virginia, March 20, 1790, and died at Richmond, Va., January 17, 1862. He studied law, and was elected to Congress in 1816, and served some five years; was elected U. S. Senator in 1827; re-elected in 1833, and was President of the Peace Convention at Washington in 1861.

Mr. Tyler became President upon the death of Mr. Harrison as his constitutional successor as Vice President of the United States. John Tyler was in early life a great admirer of Henry Clay, and is said to have wept with sorrow when the whigs in convention rejected his favorite candidate for the Presidency, and selected Harrison. He was nominated Vice-President by a unanimous vote, and was a great favorite with his party. In the popular refrain, "Tippecanoe and Tyler too," the people sung praises to him as heartily as to Harrison himself. The death of Harrison and the succession of Tyler, was the first instance of the kind in our history.

Tyler's administration was not successful. He opposed the measures of his party, and made free use of the veto power. His former political friends denounced him as a renegade, to which he replied that he had never professed to endorse the measures which he opposed. The feeling increased in bitterness. All his cabinet, except Webster, resigned. He was, however, nominated by a convention composed chiefly of office-holders, for the next Presidency; he accepted, but, finding no popular support, soon withdrew from the canvass. In 1861 he became the presiding officer of the peace convention in Washington. All efforts at reconciliation proving futile, he renounced his allegiance to the United States and followed the Confederate fortunes. He died in Richmond, where he was in attendance as a member of the Confederate Congress.

James K. Polk

(ELEVENTH PRESIDENT.)

James K. Polk was born in Mecklinburg county, North Carolina, November 2, 1795, and died at Nashville, June 15, 1849. He graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1816, and studied law; was elected to Congress in 1825, and several terms subsequently; chosen Speaker of the House, 1835 and 1837, and Governor of Tennessee in 1839. Mr. Polk was very unexpectedly nominated for President, in Baltimore, on the 27th day of May, 1844. He pleased his party as a candidate, and justified their fondest expectations as a man well worthy and well qualified to fill the office of Chief Magistrate of the United States, who surrounded himself with an able cabinet of counsellors. He served as President from 1845 to 1849.

Mr. Polk was one of the most conspicuous opposers of the administration of J. Q. Adams, and a warm supporter of Jackson. In 1839, having served fourteen years in Congress, he declined a re-election and was chosen Governor of Tennessee. His Presidential nomination, in connection with that of George M. Dallas, of Pennsylvania, as Vice-President, had the effect of uniting the Democratic party, which had been disturbed by dissensions between the friends and opponents of Martin Van Buren. However, the Mexican war, which in many States was strongly opposed, the enactment of a tariff based on a revenue principle instead of a protective one, and the agitation caused by the "Wilmot Proviso," all conspired to affect his popularity before the end of his term. He had, however, previously pledged himself not to be a candidate for re-election. He died about three months after his retirement from office.

Z. Taylor

(TWELFTH PRESIDENT.)

Zachary Taylor was born in Orange county, Virginia, November 24, 1784. He entered upon the duties of President in 1849, and died at the Presidential Mansion July 9, 1850, after an illness of five days. Soon after his birth his parents removed to Kentucky. His means of education were of the scantiest kind, and until he was twenty-four years of age he worked on his father's plantation. Madison, who was a relative, and at that time Secretary of State, then secured for him an appointment in the army as lieutenant. From this he rose by regular and rapid degrees to a major generalship. His triumphant battles at Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, Monterey, and Buena Vista, won him great applause. He was the popular hero of a successful war. The soldiers admiringly called him "Old Rough and Ready." Having been offered the nomination for President, he published several letters defining his position as "a whig, but not an ultra-whig," and declaring that he would not be a party candidate or the exponent of party doctrines. Many of the whig leaders violently opposed his nomination. Daniel Webster called him "an ignorant frontier colonel." The fact that he was a slaveholder was warmly urged against him. He knew nothing of civil affairs, and had taken so little interest in politics that he had not voted in forty years. But he was nominated and elected. His nomination caused a secession from the whigs, resulting in the formation of the free-soil party. He felt his want of qualifications for the position, and sometimes expressed his regret that he had accepted it; yet he maintained as President the popularity which had led to his election, and was personally one of the most esteemed who have filled that office.

Millard Fillmore

(THIRTEENTH PRESIDENT.)

Millard Fillmore, being elected Vice-President to President Taylor, became his constitutional successor, and served the unexpired term from 1850 to 1853. Very exciting questions arose during his term of office: among them the slavery question, the admission of California into the Union as a free State, and the passage of the Fugitive Slave Law—providing for the return to their owners of slaves escaping to a free State. During the debate of these questions, for a while it seemed as if the Union would be rent asunder. Mr. Fillmore treated them with dignity, if not with statesmanship, till finally conciliatory measures prevailed, and the questions were amicably settled. In every respect Mr. Fillmore discharged the duties of President as a conscientious, sensible man, thoroughly acquainted with legislative and general political principles.

President Fillmore was born in Cayuga county, New York, January 7, 1800, and died March 8, 1874. He had not a very liberal education, and, when young, served as an apprentice to the fuller's trade. In the year 1821, he was admitted to the bar, and practiced law with success. From 1832 to 1840 he was a member of Congress; in 1842 he was nominated by the Whigs of New York for Governor, and was defeated; and in 1856 the Native American party run him for President, and he received only the electoral vote of Maryland.

Upon the death of President Taylor, the entire Cabinet resigned.

Franklin Pierce.

(FOURTEENTH PRESIDENT.)

Franklin Pierce was born at Hillsborough, New Hampshire, on the 23d of November, 1804, and died in 1869. He graduated at Bowdoin College, Maine, in 1824; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1827. He was President from 1853 to 1857.

Mr. Pierce had barely attained the requisite legal age when he was elected to the Senate. He found there such men as Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Thomas H. Benton, and Silas Wright. Nathaniel Hawthorne says in his biography of Mr. Pierce: "With his usual tact and exquisite sense of propriety, he saw it was not the time for him to step forward prominently on this highest theatre in the land. He beheld these great combatants doing battle before the eyes of the nation, and engrossing its whole regards. There was hardly an avenue to reputation save what was occupied by one or another of those gigantic figures." During Tyler's administration, he resigned. When the Mexican war broke out, he enlisted as a volunteer, but soon rose to the office of brigadier-general. He distinguished himself under General Scott, against whom he afterwards successfully ran for the Presidency, and upon whom, during his administration, he conferred the title of lieutenant-general. On the question of slavery, Mr. Pierce always sided with the South, and opposed anti-slavery measures in every shape. In a message to Congress in 1856, he characterized the formation of a free State government in Kansas as an act of rebellion, and justified the principles of the Kansas and Nebraska Act. He, however, espoused the national cause at the opening of the civil war, and urged a cordial support of the administration at Washington.

James Buchanan

(FIFTEENTH PRESIDENT.)

James Buchanan was born in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, April 13, 1791, and died at Wheatland, June 1, 1868. He was a graduate of Dickinson College and was admitted to the bar in 1812. He was President from 1857 to 1861, and was so constantly in office from 1820 up to that time that he was known by the sobriquet of "Public Functionary."

The "bachelor-President," as Mr. Buchanan was sometimes called, was sixty-six years old when he was called to the executive chair. He had just returned to his native country, after an absence of four years as Minister to England. previously to that he had been well known in public life as Congressman, Senator, and as Secretary of State under President Polk. As Senator in Jackson's time, he heartily supported his administration. With Van Buren, he warmly advocated the idea of an independent treasury against the opposition of Clay, Webster, and others. Under Tyler, he was urgently in favor of the annexation of Texas, thus again coming in conflict with Clay and Webster. However, he cordially agreed with them in the compromise of 1850, and urged its favor upon the people. Much was hoped from his election, as he avowed the object of his administration to be "to destroy any sectional party, whether North or South, and to restore, if possible, that national fraternal feeling between the different States that had existed during the early days of the Republic." But popular passion and sectional jealousy were too strong to yield to pleasant persuasion. When Mr. Buchanan's administration closed, the fearful conflict was close at hand. He retired to his estate in Pennsylvania, where he died.

A. Lincoln

(SIXTEENTH PRESIDENT.)

Abraham Lincoln was born in Hardin county, Kentucky, on the 12th of February, 1809. He was elected President in 1860, and was re-elected in 1864, and had entered upon the duties of his office for the second time, when he was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth, April 14th, 1865, and died the following day.

His father was unable to read or write. His education consisted of a few years' schooling. When he was eight years old, his father moved to Indiana, the family floating down the Ohio on a raft. When nineteen years of age, the future President hired out as a hand on a flat-boat at $10 a month, and made a trip to New Orleans. On his return he accompanied the family to Illinois, driving the cattle on the journey, and on reaching their destination helped them to build a cabin and split rails to enclose the farm. He was now in succession a flat-boat hand, clerk, captain of a company of volunteers in the Black Hawk War, country store-keeper, postmaster, and surveyor, yet he managed to get a knowledge of law by borrowing books at an office, before it closed at night, and returning them at its opening in the morning. On being admitted to the bar, he rapidly rose to distinction. At twenty-five he was sent to the Legislature, and was thrice re-elected. Turning his attention to politics, he soon became a leader. He was sent to Congress; he canvassed the State, haranguing the people daily on great national questions; and, in 1858, he was a candidate for Senator, a second time, against Stephen A. Douglass. The two rivals stumped the State together. The debate, unrivalled for its statesmanship, logic and wit, won for Lincoln a national reputation. He lost the election in the Legislature, as his party was in the minority. After his accession to the Presidency, his history, like Washington's, is identified with that of his country. He was a tall, ungainly man, little versed in the refinements of society, but gifted by nature with great common Post Office, Boston.—The corner-stone was laid on the 16th of October, 1871. Our sketch shows the post office as it is. It has a front of over two hundred feet on Devonshire street, occupying the whole square between Milk and Water streets, and it is, sooner or later, to be extended to Congress street. The government has never before owned the building in which the Boston post office was located. The upper stories of the new post office are occupied by the sub-treasury. The building was completed and occupied early in 1875. The entire cost of the government exceeded $3,000,000.

City Hall, Boston.—The corner-stone was laid on the 22d of December, 1862—the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. The amount first appropriated was $160,000, but before the building was occupied the actual cost was more than half a million dollars. The building was completed and dedicated on the 18th of September, 1865. The tablet in the wall, back of the first landing, perpetuates in beautifully worked marble, the statement that the dedication took place on the 17th of September. This day would have been highly appropriate for the ceremony, being the two-hundredth and thirty-fifth anniversary of the settlement of Boston, had it not fallen on Sunday. The ceremony was accordingly postponed until the following day.

Michigan State Building, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.—In the absence of any appropriation from the State, this building was erected mainly through the exertions of the Michigan State Centennial Board and Julius Hess, the architect, at a cost of about $15,000. It is constructed entirely of Mich'gan lumber, above the foundation. The inside as well as the outside of the building is highly decorative. The walls and ceilings inside the building are paneled, no plastering being used, and the floors of several rooms are inlaid to neat patterns.

sense, and everywhere known as "Honest Abe." Kind, earnest, sympathetic, faithful, democratic, he was only anxious to serve his country. His wan, fatigued face, and his bent form, told of the cares he bore and the grief he felt.

Andrew Johnson

(SEVENTEENTH PRESIDENT.)

Andrew Johnson was born near Raleigh, North Carolina, December 29, 1808. He was Vice-President when Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, and by his death Mr. Johnson became the constitutional President of the United States. He died in 1875, while serving as United States Senator from Tennessee.

When only ten years of age, Mr. Johnson was bound apprentice to a tailor of Raleigh. Never having been a day at school in his life, he yet determined to secure an education. From a fellow-workman he learned the alphabet, and from a friend something of spelling. Thenceforth, after working ten or twelve hours per day at his trade, he spent two or three every night in study. In 1826, he went West to seek his fortune, with true filial affection carrying with him his mother, who was dependent on his labor for support. After his marriage at Greenville, Tenn. he continued his studies under the instruction of his wife, pursuing his trade as before by day. His political life commenced with his election as alderman. He was successively chosen mayor, member of the Legislature, Presidential elector, State Senator, twice Governor, and for fifteen years United States Senator. Remaining true to the Union when his State seceded, his loyalty attracted general attention. A life-time Democrat, he was elected on the Republican ticket as Vice-President, in reward for his faithfulness. Coming into office with a Republican Congress, it is not strange that his way was hedged with difficulties, and his Presidential career a most unhappy one.

U. S. Grant

(EIGHTEENTH PRESIDENT, TWO TERMS.)

Ulysses S. Grant was born at Point Pleasant, Clermont county, Ohio, April 27, 1822. He was very unwilling to follow his father's trade, which was that of a tanner, and, at seventeen, an appointment was secured for him at West Point. His name having been wrongly registered, Grant vainly attempted to set the matter right, but finally accepted his "manifest destiny," assumed the change thus forced upon him, and thenceforth signed himself "Ulysses Simpson," the latter being his mother's family name. Two years after completing his four years' course as cadet, the Mexican war broke out, in which Grant conducted himself with great gallantry, receiving especial mention and promotion. In 1847 he was made first-lieutenant, captain in 1853, and in 1854 he resigned his commission, and entered the leather and saddlery business at Galena, Illinois, in 1859, where he remained until the opening of the war in 1861, when he immediately offered his services in behalf of the Union. His modesty and diffidence delayed their acceptance, and Governor Yates, of Illinois, was the first to avail himself of them. Grant finally took the field as Colonel of the Twenty-first Regiment Illinois Volunteers. In February, 1862, he was made a major-general, and commanded the armies of the South-west. On the 12th of March, 1864, he was made lieutenant-general and put in command of all the armies, and took personal direction of the military operations in Virginia, and, on the 9th of April, 1865, General Lee surrendered the Confederate armies to him, at Appomattox Court House, and hostilities were ended.

He was nominated and elected by the Republicans President of the United States in 1868, and re-elected by the same party in 1872, and is now the present incumbent. His term expires in 1877.

[NINETEENTH PRESIDENT.]

Rutherford B. Hayes was born at Delaware, Ohio, October 4, 1822. He graduated at Kenyon College, Ohio. He commenced the practice of law in Cincinnati in his thirty-fourth year, when he received his first official position as City Solicitor, which he held till the war broke out in 1861. Very near its opening he enlisted in the Twenty-third Ohio volunteers, and served with the regiment till he received the command of a brigade in 1864. His first appointment was as Major, his first promotion came within less than a year, and in September of 1862 he held a commission as Lieutenant-Colonel, and was in command of his regiment, which he led into the battle of South Mountain. During the battles of the Army of Potomac, Colonel Hayes received a severe wound in the arm, but remained with his regiment to the last, and was the first officer whose command established a position at South Mountain. Two years later he had become Brigadier-General Hayes, and was elected to Congress from the second Ohio district by the Republicans. In the fall of 1866, Mr. Hayes was nominated and elected to Congress a second time by the Republicans, but Congress had held but one session, when he was nominated and elected Governor of Ohio by the same party. During his political career, he was three times elected Governor of Ohio, and twice a Member of Congress. A reference to the "Important Events" in 1876-77, will be found the particulars of his election to the Presidency of the United States in 1877. Mr. Hayes took the oath of office on Saturday the 3d of March, and was inaugurated President of the United States, Monday the 5th of March. Pending the time of the election and before the meeting of the electoral commission, the country was greatly agitated and seemed threatened with civil war, but immediately after his inauguration quiet and confidence was restored and peace reigned through out the United States.

Machinery Hall, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.—This building was very rapidly built, showing the wonderful energy of American mechanics. It was commenced April 18th, 1873, and, on the 5th day of July following, it was so far completed as to enable a monster gathering of 50,000 people to assemble beneath its roof, to celebrate, in appropriate manner, the natal day of our independence. The building is 360 feet wide by 1,402 feet long, with an annex on the south side of 208 by 210 feet. The entire area covered is 538,440 square feet, or 1,282 acres, exclusive of the upper floors. Sixteen lines of shafting, running almost the entire length of the building, and counter-shafts introduced into the aisles, at almost every point, are placed in position. Twelve lengths of the shafting is run at a speed of 130 revolutions, and four lengths at a speed of 240 revolutions per minute. Cost of structure, $722,000.

Faneuil Hall, the "Cradle of Liberty."—This building was presented to Boston by Peter Faneuil. It was erected in 1742 destroyed by fire in 1761, and immediately thereafter was rebuilt by the vote of the town. In 1805 it was enlarged to its present size, and until 1822 all town meetings of Boston were held within its walls. The hall is 76 feet square and 28 feet high. It is never let for money, but is at the disposal of the people, whenever a sufficient number of persons, complying with certain regulations, ask to have it opened. By a provision in the charter of Boston, it is forbidden the sale or lease of the hall.

Brattle Square Church, Boston—Was first built in 1699, was taken down in 1772, and the building just demolished, erected on the same spot, was dedicated on the 25th of July, 1773. During the Revolution the pastor, who was a patriot, was obliged to leave Boston, services were suspended and the British soldiers used the building as a barrack. A cannon-ball from a battery in Cambridge, or from a ship of war in the Charles river, struck the church, and this memento of the glorious contest was after wards built into the external wall of the church, above the porch. The old church was sold in 1871, and the last services was held in it July 30th, of that year. The ancient pulpit, the organ, the old bell, the historic cannon-ball, and some other mementoes, were reserved at the sale. A large business block now occupies the site of the church.

CHRONOLOGY

HEROES OF THE REVOLUTION

AND THE WAR OF 1812.

James Otis was born at Barnstable, Mass., 1725. He was the leader of the Revolutionary party in Massachusetts at the beginning. He was wounded by a British official in 1769, and never entirely recovered. He was killed by lightning in 1772.

Samuel Adams was born in Boston in 1722. He was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence; was afterwards Governor of Massachusetts, and died in 1803. It is also believed that he was one of the leaders of the patriots in the Boston massacre, March 5, 1770.

Charles Thomson was born in Ireland in 1730, and came to America when he was only eleven years of age. He settled in Pennsylvania, and was Secretary of Congress perpetually from 1774 until the adoption of the Federal Constitution, and the organization of the new government in 1789. He died in 1824 at the age of 94.

William Prescott was born at Groton, Mass.; was a colonel at the battle of Bunker Hill, and served under Gates until the surrender of Burgoyne, when he left the army. He died in 1795.

Joseph Warren was born at Roxbury, Mass., in 1740. He was killed by a musket ball at the battle of Bunker Hill, while retreating, and was buried where he fell, near the redoubt. The tall Bunker Hill monument stands on the very spot where he fell, commemorates his death, as well as the patriotism of his countrymen. He was a physician, and was 35 years of age when he died. His remains now rest in St. Paul's Church, Boston. A statue to his honor was inaugurated on the 17th of June, 1857.

Patrick Henry was born in Hanover county, Virginia, in 1736. He appeared suddenly in public life when almost thirty years of age. He was an active public man during the Revolution, was Governor of Virginia, and died in 1799.

Richard Schuyler was born in Albany, N. Y., in 1733, and died in 1804. He was a captain under Sir William Johnson, and was in active public service until the Revolution. He was a general in the patriot army, and was a legislator after the war.

Richard Montgomery was born in Ireland in 1737. He was with Wolfe at Quebec, in 1759; afterward married and settled in the State of New York. He was a general in the patriot army, and was killed at the battle of Quebec, in 1775.

Edan Allen was a colonel in the patriot army. He was born in Litchfield county, Conn. He attacked the English at Montreal, was defeated, taken prisoner, and sent to England in irons. He was never engaged in active military service after his capture. He died in Vermont, in 1799, and his remains lie in a cemetery two miles from Burlington.

General Thomas was a native of Plymouth, Mass., and was one of the first eight brigadiers appointed by Congress in 1775. He died with the small-pox in 1776, at Chambly, in Canada.

Charles Lee was born in Wales in 1731. He was a brave officer in the British army. He settled in Virginia in 1773, and was one of the first brigadiers of the Continental army. He was arrested and tried by a court-martial for disobedience of orders and disrespect to Washington at the battle of Monmouth. He was found guilty, and was suspended from command for one year. He never entered the army again, and died in obscurity in Philadelphia, in 1782.

William Moultrie was born in South Carolina in 1730, and died in 1805. He was a general in the Revolution, and an active officer until made prisoner in 1780, when for two years he was not allowed to bear arms.

Richard Henry Lee was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, in 1732. He was much in public life, signed the Declaration of Independence, was a U. S. Senator, and died in 1794.

John Hancock was born at Quincy, Mass., in 1737. He was an early and popular opponent of British power, and was chosen the second President of Congress. He was afterwards Governor of Massachusetts, and died in 1793.

General Putnam was born at Salem, Mass., in 1718. He was a very useful officer during the French and Indian war, and was in active service in the Continental army, commencing with the battle of Bunker Hill until 1779, when bodily infirmity compelled him to retire. He died in 1790 at the age of 72.

William Alexander Stirling was a descendant of the Scotch Earl of Stirling. He was born in the city of New York in 1726. He became attached to the patriot cause and served as a faithful officer during the war. He was made prisoner at the battle of Long Island. He died in 1783.

Hugh Mercer, a general in the Continental army, was killed at the battle of Princeton. He was a native of Scotland, and was practicing medicine in Fredericksburg, Va., when the Revolution broke out. He was 56 years of age when he died.

General McDougal was born in Scotland, and came to America in early childhood. He rose to the rank of major-general, was a New York State Senator, and died in 1786.

Marquis de La Fayette was born in France in 1757. He was an active patriot during the Revolution, and contributed men and money to the patriot cause. He was commissioned major-general by the Continental Congress July 31, 1777. He died in France in 1834, at the age of 77.

Arthur St. Clair was a native of Scotland, and came to America in May, 1753. He served under Wolfe, and when the Revolution broke out he entered the American army. He served as a general during the war, and died in 1818 at the age of 84.

Zebulon Butler was born in Connecticut in 1731. Served in the Revolution as a colonel, and died in Wyoming in 1795.

Baron Steuben came to America in 1777, and joined the Continental army at Valley Forge. He was a veteran from the armies of Frederick the Great of Prussia. He was made Inspector General of the American army. He died in the interior of New York in 1795.

Benjamin Lincoln was born in Massachusetts in 1733. He was a farmer. He joined the Continental army in 1777, and rose rapidly to the position of major-general. He died in 1810.

John Ashe was born in England in 1721, and came to America when a child. He was engaged in the Regulator war in North Carolina in 1771, and was a general in the Continental army. He died of small-pox in 1781.

Anthony Wayne was born in Pennsylvania in 1745. He was a professional surveyor, then a provincial legislator, and became a soldier in 1775. He was very active during the whole war, and was successful in subduing the Indians in the Ohio country in 1795. He died on his way home, at Erie, Pa., near the close of 1796.

George Rogers Clarke was a native of Virginia, and was born in 1752. He was one of the most accomplished and useful officers of the Western pioneers during the Revolution. He died near Louisville, Ky., in 1843.

John Sullivan was born in Maine in 1740. He was a delegate to the first Continental Congress in 1774, and was one of the first eight brigadiers in the Continental army. He resigned his commission of general in 1779; was afterward member of Congress and Governor of New Hampshire, and died in 1795.

James Clinton was born in Ulster county, N. Y., in 1736. He was a captain in the French and Indian war, and an active general in the Revolutionary army. He died in 1812.

John Paul Jones was born in Scotland in 1747, and came to Virginia in boyhood. He entered the American navy in 1775, and served as commodore during the war. He was an intrepid and daring officer. He was afterwards rear-admiral in the Russian service. He died in Paris in 1782.

John Rutledge was born in Ireland, and came to South Carolina when a child, and was Governor of that State in 1780. After the Revolutionary war he was made a judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, and also chief justice of South Carolina. He died in 1800.

Horatio Gates was a native of England, and was educated for military life. He was the first adjutant-general of the Continental army, and was made major-general in 1776. He retired to his estate in Virginia at the close of the war, and finally took up his abode in New York, where he died in 1806 at the age of 78 years.

Thomas Sumpter was a native of South Carolina, and was early in the field. Ill health compelled him to leave the army just before the close of the war in 1781. He was afterward congressman and died on the high hills of Santee, S. C. in 1832, at 98 years of age.

Baron de Kalb was a native of Alsace, a German province ceded to France. He had been in America as a secret French agent, about fifteen years before. He came to America with Lafayette in 1777, and congress commissioned him a Major-General. He died of wounds received at the battle of Camden in 1780.

Benedict Arnold was a native of Norwich, Conn., where he was born in January, 1740. He fought nobly for freedom until 1778, when his passions got the better of his judgment and conscience, and he became a traitor and joined the British army. He went to England after the war, and died in London, June 14, 1801.

Nathaniel Greene was born of Quaker parents, in Rhode Island, in 1740. He was an anchormsmith, and was pursuing his trade when the Revolution broke out. He hastened to Boston after the skirmish at Lexington, and from that time until the close of the war he was one of the most useful generals in the army. He died near Savannah in 1786, and was buried in a vault in that city. His sepulchre can not be identified.

Daniel Morgan was born in New Jersey in 1736, and was in the humble sphere of a wagoner when called to the field. He had been a soldier under Braddock, and joined Washington at Cambridge in 1775, and became a general. He was a farmer in Virginia after the war, where he died in 1802.

John Eager Howard, of the Maryland line, was born in Baltimore county in 1752. He went into military service at the commencement of the war. He was a colonel, and was in all the principal battles of the Revolution; was chosen Governor of Maryland in 1778, and was afterward a United States Senator. He died in 1827.

William Washington, a relative of the General, was born in Stafford county, Va. He entered the army under Mercer, and greatly distinguished himself at the South as a commander of a corps of cavalry. Taken prisoner at the battle of Eutaw Springs, he remained a captive until the close of the war, and died in Charleston in 1810. In a personal combat with the British Colonel Tarleton, at the battle of the Cowpens, Washington wounded his antagonist in the hand. Some months afterward, Tarleton said, sneeringly, to Mrs. Willie Jones, a witty American lady, "that Colonel Washington, I am told, is illiterate, and can not write his own name." "Ah! Colonel," said Mrs. Jones, "you ought to know better, for you bear evidence that he can make his mark." At another time he expressed a desire to see Colonel Washington. Mrs. Jones' sister instantly replied, "Had you looked behind at the Cowpens, you might have had that pleasure."

Henry Lee was born in Virginia in 1756. He entered the military service as a captain of a Virginia company in 1776, and in 1777 joined the Continental army. At the head of a legion, as a colonel, he performed extraordinary services during the war, especially in the South. He was afterward Governor of Virginia, and a member of Congress. He died in 1818.

Andrew Pickens was born in Pennsylvania in 1739, and served as a general in the Revolution. In childhood he went to South Carolina, and was one of the first in the field for liberty. He died in 1817.

Thomas Mifflin was born in Philadelphia in 1744. He was a Quaker, but joined the patriot army in 1775, and rapidly rose to the rank of major-general. He was a member of Congress after the war, and also Governor of Pennsylvania. He died in January, 1800.

John Jay was a descendant of a Huguenot family, and was born in the city of New York in 1745. He was early in the ranks of active patriots, and rendered very important services during the Revolution. He retired from public life in 1801, and died in 1829, at the age of 84 years. His residence was at Bedford, Westchester county, N. Y.

William Bainbridge (Commodore) was born in New Jersey in 1774. He was the captain of a merchant vessel at the age of 19, and entered the naval service in 1798. He was distinguished during the war of 1812, and died in 1833.

Stephen Decatur was born in Maryland in 1779. He entered the navy at the age of 19. After his last cruise in the Mediterranean he superintended the building of gunboats. He rose to the rank of commodore, and during the war of 1812 he was distinguished for his skill and bravery. He afterward humbled the Barbary powers, and after returning home he was killed in a duel with Commodore Barron, in March, 1820.

S. S. Hitchcock's
NEW PATENT.

Mr. H. is one of the oldest scale makers in the world, having got up the Truss Lever Scales 32 years ago, and made and sold the same 23 years at Rochester, N. Y., and Chicago, Ills. It being the same, that is called Fairbank's scales. Then I got up the Chicago scale, and sold to my partner, Wm. W. Nutting. Then I got up the Des Moines Scale Co., and sold out two years ago. Now I have got up a NEW PATENT, of the greatest importance,

Which will Neither Freeze nor Get out of Order.

My scales have taken 246 medals, diplomas, and transactions over all others. In Albany, N. Y., in 1850, I took diplomas, medals and transactions over eight manufacturers, all were there, except the Pittsburg scales, it not being represented. And there have been over 8,000 sold, of my improved stock or hay scales. I have got up a

AGENTS WANTED.

Aaron Burr was born in New Jersey in 1756. In his twentieth year he joined the Continental army, and accompanied Arnold in his expedition against Quebec. Ill health compelled him to leave the army in 1779, and he became a distinguished lawyer and an active public man. He died on Staten Island, N. Y., in 1836.

Robert Fulton, the inventor and discoverer of steam navigation, was born in Pennsylvania, and was a student of West, the great painter, for several years. He had more genius for mechanics than for the fine arts, and he turned his efforts in that direction. He died in 1815, soon after launching a steamship-of-war, at the age of 50 years.

Henry Dearborn was an officer of the Revolution, and, in the war of 1812, was appointed major-general and commander-in-chief of the armies. He was born in New Hampshire. He returned to private life in 1815, and died at Roxbury, near Boston, in 1829, at the age of 78 years.

William Hull was born in Connecticut in 1753. He rose to the rank of major in the Continental army. Though severely censured for his surrender of Detroit in 1812, he was a good man, and distinguished for his bravery. He was appointed governor of the Michigan Territory in 1805. After the close of his unfortunate campaign he never appeared in public life. He died, near Boston, in 1825.

Isaac Hull was made a lieutenant in the navy in 1798, and in 1812 was commodore, in command of the United States frigate, Constitution. He died in Philadelphia in February, 1843.

Isaac Shelby was born in Maryland in 1750. He entered military life in 1774, and went to Kentucky as a land surveyor in 1775. He engaged in the war of the Revolution, and was distinguished in the battle on King's Mountain, in October, 1780. He was made Governor of Kentucky in 1792, and soon afterward retired to private life, from which he was drawn in 1813. He died in 1826.

James Winchester was born in Maryland in 1756. He was made a brigadier in 1812; resigned his commission in 1815, and died in Tennessee in 1826.

Green Clay was born in Virginia in 1756, and was made a brigadier of Kentucky volunteers early in 1813. He commanded at Fort Meigs, in 1813. He died in 1826.

Zebulon M. Pike was born in 1779. While pressing towards the capture of York (Toronto), in 1813, the powder magazine of the fort blew up, and General Pike was mortally wounded. He was carried on board the flagship of Commodore Chauncey, where he died, with the captured British flag under his head, at the age of 34 years.

John Chandler was a native of Massachusetts, and served as a general in the war of 1812. Some years after the war he was a United States Senator from Maine. He died at Augusta, in that State, in 1844.

General Wilkinson was born in Maryland in 1757, and studied medicine. He joined the Continental army at Cambridge, in 1775, and continued in service during the war. He died near the city of Mexico, in 1825, at the age of 68 years.

General Armstrong was born in Pennsylvania in 1758; served in the war of the Revolution; was Secretary of the State of Pennsylvania; Minister to France in 1804; Secretary of War in 1813, and died in Dutchess county, N. Y., in 1843.

General John Coffee was a native of Virginia. He did good service in the war of 1812, and in subsequent campaigns among the Indians. He died in 1834.

James Lawrence was a native of New Jersey, and received a midshipman's warrant at the age of 16. He is remembered by every American as the author of those brave words: "Don't give up the ship." On this occasion he was wounded while commanding the United States frigate Chesapeake, and the engagement took place in 1814. He died four days after receiving the wound, at the age of 31 years.

Commodore David Porter was among the most distinguished of the American naval commanders. He was a resident Minister of the United States in Turkey, and died, near Constantinople, in March, 1843.

Jacob Brown was born in Pennsylvania in 1775. He engaged in his country's service in 1813, and soon became distinguished. He was made major-general in 1814. He was commander-in-chief of the United States army in 1821, and held that rank and office when he died, in 1838.

George Izard was born in South Carolina in 1777. He was a general, and made military life his profession. After the war he left the army. He was Governor of Arkansas Territory in 1825, and died at Little Rock, Ark., in 1828.

Thomas McDonough was a native of Delaware, and a commodore in the navy. He was 28 years of age at the time of the engagement at Plattsburg. The State of New York gave him one thousand acres of land on Plattsburg Bay for his services. He died in 1822, at the age of 39 years.

Commodore Barney was born in Baltimore in 1759. He entered the naval service of the Revolution in 1775, and was active during the whole war. He bore the American flag to the French National Convention in 1796, and entered the French service. He returned to America in 1800, and took part in the war of 1812, and died at Pittsburgh in 1818.

Samuel Smith, the commander of Fort Mifflin in 1777, was born in Pennsylvania in 1752. He entered the Revolutionary army in 1776; served as a general in command when Ross attacked Baltimore in 1814; afterward represented Baltimore in Congress, and died in April, 1839.

Henry Clay was born in Virginia in 1772. He became a lawyer at Richmond, and at the age of 21 he established himself in his profession at Lexington, Ky. He first appeared in Congress, as Senator, in 1806, and from that period his life was chiefly devoted to the public service. He died in Washington City, while United States Senator, in 1852.

Henry Atkinson was a native of South Carolina, and entered the army as a captain in 1808. He was retained in the army after the war of 1812, was made adjutant-general, and was finally appointed to the command of the Western army. He died in Jefferson Barracks, in June, 1842.

Main Exhibition Hall, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.—This is in the form of a parallelogram, extending east and west 1,880 feet in length, and north and south 464 feet in width. The framework is of iron. The foundations consist of 672 stone piers. The larger portion of the structure is one story in height, and shows the main cornice upon the outside at 45 feet above the ground, the interior height being 70 feet. Upon the corners of the building there are four towers 75 feet in height, and between the towers and the central projections or ornaments there is a lower roof introduced, showing a cornice 24 feet above the ground. Small balconies or galleries of observation, have been provided in the four central towers of the building, at the heights of the different stories. This edifice cost $1,420,000, exclusive of drainage, water-pipe, plumbing, painting and decoration. It was sold at public auction at the close of the exhibition to the Permanent Exhibition Company for $230,000. It is to remain on the grounds as a permanent Exhibition Hall.

Alexander Macomb was born in Detroit in 1782, and entered the army at the age of 17 years. He was made a brigadier in 1814. In 1835 he was commander-in-chief of the armies of the United States, and died in 1841.

Edmund P. Gaines was born in Virginia in 1777. He entered the army in 1799, and rose gradually until he was made major-general for his gallantry at Fort Erie in 1814. He remained in the army until his death, in 1849.

Thomas S. Jesup was born in Virginia in 1778. He was a brave and useful officer during the war of 1812, and was retained in the army. He was breveted major-general in 1828, and was succeeded in command in Florida by Colonel Zachary Taylor in 1838. He died in Washington City.

Daniel Webster was born in Salisbury, New Hampshire, in 1782. He was admitted to the bar in Boston in 1805. He commenced his political career in Congress in 1818. He was in public employment a greater portion of the remainder of his life, and was the most distinguished statesman of his time. He died at Marshfield, Mass., in October, 1852.

Major Brown was born in Massachusetts in 1788; was in the war of 1812, and was promoted to major in 1843. He was wounded in the Mexican war by the bursting of a bomb-shell, and died on the 9th of May, 1846. He was 58 years of age.

William J. Worth (General) was born in Columbia county, New York, in 1794; was a gallant soldier during the war of 1812; was retained in the army, and for his gallantry at Monterey, during the Mexican war, he was made a major-general, by brevet, and received the gift of a sword from Congress. He was of great service during the whole war with Mexico. He died in Texas, in May, 1849.

John Ellis Wool (General) was a native of New York. He entered the army in 1812, and soon rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel, for gallant conduct on Queenstown Heights, in 1812. He was breveted brigadier in 1825, and for gallant conduct at Buena Vista, in 1847, was breveted major-general.

Winfield Scott was born in Virginia in 1786. He was admitted to law practice at the age of 21 years. He joined the army in 1808, was made lieutenant-colonel in 1812, and passed through the war that ensued with great honor to himself and his company. He was breveted major-general in 1814, and was made general-in-chief of the army in 1841. His successes in Mexico greatly added to his laurels, and he was considered one of the greatest captains of the age. He was made lieutenant-general in 1855. He died May 29, 1866, at West Point, aged 80 years.

Stephen W. Kearney was a native of New Jersey. He was a gallant soldier in the war of 1812. He was breveted a brigadier in 1846, and major-general in December the same year, for gallant conduct in the Mexican war. He died at Vera Cruz, in October, 1848, at the age of 54 years.

David E. Twiggs was born in Georgia in 1790. He was a major at the close of the war of 1812, and was retained in the army. He was breveted major-general after the battle of Monterey, and for his gallantry there he received a gift of a sword from Congress.

Information worth Thousands To Those out of Health.

THE Electric Quarterly contains valuable information for invalids and those who suffer from Nervous, Exhausting and painful diseases. It treats upon the laws of hygiene and physical culture, and shows how perfect bodily health and energy may be fully enjoyed by means of

PULVERMACHER'S ELECTRIC BELTS AND BANDS

THE BEST KNOWN CURATIVE AGENT.

These highly perfected Curative Appliances supply to the body mild and continuous currents of Electricity, and in so effective a manner that the most stubborn and complicated diseases yield to their magnetic influence after every other plan of treatment has failed. They are applicable to either sex, the young and old; and although applied externally by the patient himself, exert a beneficial and recuperative influence throughout the entire economy. The Electric action begins at once, as soon as the Belt or Band is applied, and the beneficial effects are perceptible almost from the start. Cases regarded incurable, and of years standing, yield to their mild but wonderful influence. In no case can the application be attended with the least harmful effects. The action penetrates every bodily organ, and thus promotes Digestion, Excretion, Nutrition and Circulation, restoring health and vigor to the debilitated constitution.

Their many invaluable qualities and adaptation for medical purposes, obtained for them at once full recognition from scientists and the elite of the medical profession at home and abroad. They combine in the utmost degree efficiency, comfort in application, and economy, and are self-applicable by the patient himself, for the speedy and effectual cure of Nervous, Chronic and functional Diseases. Among others, the following:

*Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Sciatica, Lumbago,
Aches and Pains,
General Debility Head Troubles,*

*Nervous Debility, Liver Complaint,

The Washington Elm, Cambridge, Mass.—Not far from the college grounds stands one of the famous trees of the country—the Washington Elm—the only known survivor of the ancient forest that originally covered this part of Cambridge. It was under this tree that General George Washington took command of the Continental army, on the morning of July 3, 1775. A neat fence surrounds this giant of the ancient forests, and an inscription commemorates the important event, which was the most interesting in its centuries of existence.

FICTITIOUS NAMES

STATES, CITIES, NOTED
PERSONS, &c.

Albany Regency.—A name popularly given in the United States to a junto of astute Democratic politicians, having their headquarters at Albany, N. Y., who controlled the action of the Democratic party for many years, and who had great weight in national politics. The effort to elect Wm. H. Crawford President, instead of John Quincy Adams, was their first great struggle.

Badger State.—A name given to Wisconsin.

Bay State.—A popular name of Massachusetts, which, previous to the adoption of the Federal Constitution, was called the Colony of Massachusetts.

Bayou State.—A name sometimes given to the State of Mississippi, which abounds in bayous or creeks.

Bear State.—A name by which the State of Arkansas is sometimes designated on account of the number of bears that infest its forests.

Battle of the Kegs.—The subject and title of a mock heroic poem, by Francis Hopkinson. This ballad, very famous in Revolutionary times, was occasioned by the following incident: Certain machines in the form of kegs, charged with gun powder, were sent down the river to annoy the British shipping then at Philadelphia. The danger of these machines being discovered, the British manned the wharves and shipping, and discharged their small arms and cannons at everything they saw floating on the river during the ebb tide.

Blue Hen, The.—A cant or popular name for the State of Delaware. This soubriquet is said to have had its origin in a certain Captain Caldwell's fondness for the amusement of cock-fighting. Caldwell was an officer in the 1st Delaware regiment in the war of the Revolution, and was greatly distinguished for his daring and bravery. He was exceedingly popular in the regiment, and its high state of discipline was generally conceded to be due to his exertions; so that when officers were sent on recruiting service to fill vacancies occasioned by death or otherwise, it was a saying that they had gone home for more of Caldwell's game-cocks; but as Caldwell insisted that no cock could be truly game unless the mother was a Blue hen, the expression Blue Hen's chickens was substituted for game-cocks.

Bluff City.—A descriptive name applied to the city of Hannibal, Mo.

Boston Massacre.—A name popularly given to a disturbance which occurred in the streets of Boston, on the evening of March 5th, 1770, when a sergeant's guard belonging to the British garrison fired upon a crowd of people (who were surrounding them, and pelting them with snow-balls) and killed three men, besides wounding several others. The leader of the town-people was a black man, named Crispus Attucks.

Boston Tea Party.—A name given to the famous assemblage of citizens in Boston, December 16, 1773, who met to carry out the non-importation resolves of the colony, and who, disguised as Indians, went on board three ships, which just arrived in the harbor, and destroyed several hundred chests of tea. The British Parliament retaliated by closing the port of Boston.

Brother Jonathan.—A sportive collective name for the people of the United States, originating as follows: When General Washington, after being appointed commander of the army, went to Massachusetts to organize it and make preparations for the defense of the country, he found a great want of ammunition and other means necessary to meet the powerful foe he had to contend with, and great difficulty in obtaining them. If attacked in such conditions, the cause at once might be hopeless. On one occasion, at that anxious period, a consultation of the officers and others was had, when it seemed that no way could be devised to make such preparation as was necessary. His Excellency Jonathan Trumbull, the elder, was then Governor of Connecticut, and, as Washington placed the greatest reliance on his judgment and aid, he remarked, "We must consult Brother Jonathan on the subject." He did so, and the Governor was successful in supplying many of the wants of the army. The origin of the expression being soon lost sight of, the name Brother Jonathan came to be regarded as the national sobriquet.

Buckeye State.—The State of Ohio, so-called from the Buckeye tree, which abounds there.

City of Brotherly Love.—Philadelphia is sometimes so-called, this being the literal signification of the name.

City of Churches.—A name popularly given to the city of Brooklyn, N. Y., from the unusually large number of churches which it contains.

City of Elms.—A familiar denomination of New Haven, Connecticut, many of the streets of which are thickly shaded with lofty elms.

City of Magnificent Distances.—A popular designation given to the city of Washington, the capital of the United States, which is laid out on a very large scale, being extended to cover a space of four miles and a half long, and two miles and a half broad, or eleven square miles. The entire site is traversed by two sets of streets from 70 to 100 feet wide, at right angles to one another, the whole again intersected obliquely by fifteen avenues from 130 to 160 feet wide.

City of Rocks.—A descriptive name popularly given in the United States to the city of Nashville, Tenn.

City of Spindles.—A name popularly given to the city of Lowell, Massachusetts, the largest cotton manufacturing town in the United States.

City of the Straits.—A name given to Detroit, which is situated on the west bank of the river or strait connecting Lake St. Clair with Lake Erie. Detroit is a French word, meaning "strait."

Corn-Cracker.—A popular nickname or designation for the State of Kentucky. The inhabitants of the State are often called Corn-crackers.

Cow-boys.—A band of marauders in the time of American revolution, consisting mostly of refugees who adhered to the British side, and who infested the so-called "neutral grounds," lying between the American and British lines, Cradle of Liberty.—A popular name given to Faneuil Hall, a large public edifice in Boston, Mass.; celebrated as being the place where the orators of the Revolution roused the people to resistance to British oppression.

Creole State.—A name sometimes given to the State of Louisiana, in which the descendants of the original French and Spanish settlers constitute a large proportion of the population.

Crescent City.—A popular name for the city of New Orleans, the older portion of which is built around the convex side of a bend of the Mississippi river. In the progress of its growth up stream, however, the city has now so extended itself as to fill the hollow of a curve in the opposite direction, so that the river front presents an outline resembling the character S.

Empire City.—The city of New York, the chief city of the western world, and the metropolis of the Empire State.

Empire State, The.—A popular name of the State of New York, the most populous and the wealthiest State in the Union.

Excelsior State.—The State of New York, sometimes so called for the motto "Excelsior" upon its coat of arms.

Falls City.—Louisville, Kentucky, popularly so called from the falls which at this place, impede the navigation of the Ohio river.

Father of Waters.—A popular name given to the Mississippi river, on account of its great length (3,160 miles) and the very large number of its tributaries, of which the Red, the Arkansas, the Ohio, the Missouri, the Illinois, the Des Moines, the Wisconsin, and the St. Peters or Minnesota, are the most important. The literal signification of the name, which is of Indian origin, is said to be Great River.

Fern, Fanny.—A pseudonym adopted by Mrs. Sarah P. Parton (born 1811), a popular American authoress.

Flour City.—A popular designation in the United States of the city of Rochester, N. Y. A place remarkable for its extensive manufactories of flour.

Flower City.—Springfield, Illinois, the capital of the State, which is distinguished for the beauty of its surroundings.

Forest City.—1. Cleveland, Ohio—so called from the many ornamental trees with which the streets are bordered. 2. A name given to Portland, Maine, a city distinguished for its many elms and other beautiful shade trees.

Freestone State.—The State of Connecticut; sometimes so called from the quarries of freestone which it contains.

Funk, Peter.—A person employed at petty auctions to bid on articles put up for sale, in order to raise their prices; probably so called from such a name having frequently been given when articles were bought in. To funk, or funk out, is a vulgar expression, meaning to slink away; to take one's self off. In some localities it conveys the added notion of great fear.

Garden City.—A popular name for Chicago; a city which is remarkable for the number and beauty of its private gardens.

WORKS, COR. VINE & SECOND STS.,

DES MOINES, IOWA.

Garden of the West.—A name usually given to Kansas, but sometimes applied to Illinois and others of the Western States, which are all noted for their productiveness.

Garden of the World.—A name frequently given to the vast country comprising more than 1,200,000 square miles which is drained by the Mississippi river and its tributaries—a region of almost unexampled fertility.

Gate City.—Keokuk, Iowa—popularly so-called. It is situated at the foot of the lower rapids of the Mississippi river (which extends twelve miles with a fall of twenty-four feet), and is the natural head of navigation. A portion of the city is built on a bluff one hundred and fifty feet high.

Gotham.—A popular name of the City of New York, first given to it in "Salmagundi" (a humorous work by Washington Irving, and William Irving, and James K. Paulding), because the inhabitants were such wisecracks.

Granite State.—A popular name for the State of New Hampshire, the mountainous portions of which are largely composed of granite.

Green Mountain State.—A popular name of Vermont, the Green Mountains being the principal mountain range in the State.

Grundy, Mrs.—A person frequently referred to in Morton's comedy "Speed the Plow," but not introduced as one of the dramatis personæ. The solicitude of Dame Ashfield, in this play, as to what will Mrs. Grundy say? has given the latter great celebrity, the interrogatory having acquired a proverbial currency.

Hamilton, Gail.—A pseudonym adopted by Miss Mary Abigail Dodge, of Hamilton, Mass., a popular American writer of the present day.

Hawkeye State.—The State of Iowa: said to be so named after an Indian chief, who was once a terror to voyagers to its borders.

Hoosier State.—The State of Indiana, the inhabitants of which are often called Hoosiers. This word is a corruption of husher, formerly a common term for a bully throughout the West.

Hub of the Universe.—A burlesque and popular designation of Boston, Mass., originating with the American humorist, O. W. Holmes.

Iron City.—A name popularly given in the United States to Pittsburgh, Pa., a city distinguished for its numerous and immense iron manufactures.

Ketch, Jack.—A hangman or executioner; so called in England, from one John Ketch, a wretch who lived in the time of James II., and made himself universally odious by the butchery of many brave and noble victims, particularly those sentenced to death by the infamous Jeffreys during the "Bloody Assizes." The name is thought by some to be derived from Richard Jacquett, who held the manor of Tyburn, near London, where criminals were formerly executed.

Keystone State.—The State of Pennsylvania; so called from its having been the central State of the Union at the time of the formation of the Constitution. If the names of the thirteen original States are arranged in the form of an arch, Pennsylvania will occupy the place of the keystone.

King Cotton.—A popular personification of the great staple production of the Southern States of America. The supremacy of cotton seems to have been first asserted by the Hon. James H. Hammond, of South Carolina, in a speech delivered by him in the Senate of the United States, on the 4th of March, 1858.

Kitchen Cabinet.—A name sportively given, in the United States, to the Hon. Francis P. Blair and the Hon. Amos Kendall, by the opponents of President Jackson's administration. Blair was the editor of The Globe, the organ of the President, and Kendall was one of the principal contributors to the paper. As it was necessary for Jackson to consult frequently with those gentlemen, and as, to avoid observation, they were accustomed, when they called upon him, to go in by a back door, the Whig party styled them, in derision, the "Kitchen Cabinet," alleging that it was by their advice that the President removed so many Whigs from office and put Democrats in their place.

Lake State.—A name popularly given to the State of Michigan, which borders upon the four lakes—Superior, Michigan, Huron, and Erie.

Land of Steady Habits.—A name by which the State of Connecticut is sometimes designated, in allusion to the moral character of its inhabitants.

Learned Blacksmith.—An epithet sometimes applied to Elihu Burritt (born 1811), who began life as a blacksmith, and afterward distinguished himself as a linguist.

Lion of the Sea.—A name formerly given to the Cape of Good Hope.

Little Giant.—A popular sobriquet conferred upon the Hon. Stephen A. Douglass, a distinguished American statesman (born 1813, died 1861), in allusion to the disparity between his physical and intellectual proportions.

Little Magician.—A sobriquet conferred upon the Hon. Martin Van Buren, President of the United States from 1837 to 1841, in allusion to his supposed political sagacity and talent.

Lone Star State.—The State of Texas, so-called from the device on its coat of arms.

Lumber State.—The State of Maine, the inhabitants of which are largely engaged in the business of cutting and rafting lumber, or of converting it into boards, shingles, scantling, and the like.

Mad Anthony.—A sobriquet of Maj. Gen. Anthony Wayne, distinguished for his military skill and impetuous bravery in the war of the Revolution.

Mason and Dixon's Line.—A name given to the southern boundary of the free State of Pennsylvania, which formerly separated it from the slave States of Maryland and Virginia. It lies in latitude $49^{\circ} 43' 26.3''$, and was run, with the exception of about twenty-two miles, by Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, two English mathematicians and surveyors, between Nov. 15, 1763, and Dec. 26, 1767. During the exciting debates in Congress in 1820, on the question of excluding slavery from the State of Missouri, the eccentric John Randolph, of Roanoke, made great use of the phrase, which was caught up and re-echoed by every newspaper in the land, and thus gained a celebrity which it still retains.

Mail-boy of the Slashes.—A sobriquet conferred upon Henry Clay (1777-1852), a distinguished American orator and statesman, who was born in the neighborhood of a place in Hanover county, Virginia, known as the slashes (a local term for a low, swampy country) where there was a mill, to which he was often sent on errands when a boy.

Monumental City.--The city of Baltimore, so called from the monuments it contains.

Mormons.--The last of a pretended line of Hebrew prophets, existing among a race of Israelites, principally the descendants of Joseph, who are fabled to have emigrated from Jerusalem to America about six hundred years before Christ. This imaginary prophet is said to have written the book called "The Book of Mormon," which contains doctrines upon which the "Mormons," as "Latter Day Saints," found their faith; but the real author was one Solomon Spalding, (born 1761 and died 1816) an inveterate scribbler, who had in early life been a clergyman. The work fell into the hands of Joseph Smith, who claimed it as a direct revelation to himself from heaven, and, taking it as his text and authority, began to preach the new gospel of "Mormonism."

Mother of Presidents.--A name frequently given to the State of Virginia, which has furnished six Presidents to the Union.

Mother of States.--A name sometimes given to Virginia, the first settled of the thirteen States which united in the Declaration of Independence.

Mound City.--A name given to St. Louis on account of the numerous artificial mounds that occupied the site on which the city is built.

Nutmeg State.--A popular name for the State of Connecticut, the inhabitants of which have such a reputation for shrewdness that they have been jocosely accused of palming off wooden nutmegs on unsuspecting purchasers, instead of the genuine article.

Old Bullion.--A sobriquet conferred on Colonel Thomas H. Benton (1782-1852), a distinguished American statesman, on account of his advocacy of a gold and silver currency as the true remedy for the financial embarrassments in which the United States were involved after the expiration of the charter of the national bank, and as the only proper medium for government disbursements and receipts.

Old Colony.--A name given to that portion of Massachusetts included within the original limits of the Plymouth colony, which was formed at an earlier date than the colony of Massachusetts Bay. In 1692 the two colonies were united in one province, bearing the name of the latter, and at the formation of the Federal Union became the State of Massachusetts.

Old Dominion.--A name given to the State of Virginia.

Old Hickory.--A sobriquet conferred upon General Jackson, in 1813, by the soldiers under his command.

Old Hunkers.--A nick-name applied to the ultra-conservative portion of the Democratic party in the United States, and especially in the State of New York.

Old Ironsides.--A title popularly conferred upon the United States frigate Constitution, which was launched at Boston, September 20, 1797. She became greatly celebrated on account of the prominent part she took in the bombardment of Tripoli, in 1804, and for the gallantry she displayed during the war of 1812.

She is still in service.

Old North State.—A name by which the State of North Carolina is sometimes known.

Old Public Functionary.—A name given to James Buchanan, fifteenth President of the United States. He first applied the expression to himself in his annual message to Congress, in the year 1859. Sometimes humorously abbreviated O. P. F.

Old Wagon.—A sobriquet given to the frigate United States, which was lannched at Philadelphia, in 1798, and was afterward rebuilt on the original model. She got her nick-name previous to the war of 1812, from her dull sailing qualities, which were subsequently very much improved.

Old-style Jonathan.—A nom de plume of Washington Irving, under which he contributed, in 1842, to the Morning Chronicle, a Democratic journal of New York City.

Palmetto State.—The State of South Carolina, so called from the arms of the State, which contain a palmetto.

Panhandle, The.—A fanciful and cant name given to the most northerly portion of the State of West Virginia, a long narrow projection between the Ohio river and the Western boundary of Pennsylvania.

Partington, Mrs.—An imaginary old lady whose laughable sayings have been recorded by the American humorist, B. P. Shillaber.
She is distinguished, like Smollett's "Tabitha Bramble," and Sheridan's "Mrs. Malaprop," for her amusing affectation and misuse of learned words.

Pathfinder of the Rocky Mountains.—A title applied to Major-General John C. Fremont, who conducted four exploring expeditions across the Rocky Mountains.

Pennsylvania Farmer.—A surname given to John Dickinson (1732-1808), an American statesman and author, and a citizen of Pennsylvania. In the year 1768 he published his "Letters from a Pennsylvania Farmer to the Inhabitants of the British Colonies." These were republished in London, with a preface by Dr. Franklin, and were subsequently translated into French and published in Paris.

Pine Tree State.—A popular name of the State of Maine, the central and northern portion of which are covered with extensive pine forests.

Poor Richard.—The feigned author of a series of almanacs (commenced in 1732 and continued for twenty-five years) really written by Benjamin Franklin, and distinguished for their circulation of the prudent virtues, as temperance, frugality, order, justice, cleanliness, charity, and the like, by means of maxims or precepts, which, it has been said, "are as valuable as anything that has descended from Py-thagoras."—See Saunders, Richard.

Prairie State.—A name given to Illinois in allusion to the wide-spread and beautiful prairies, which form a striking feature of the scenery of the State.

Puritan City.—A name sometimes given to the city of Boston, Massachusetts, in allusion to the character of its founders and early inhabitants.

OFFICE : ROOMS, - - 27 & 28,
Staats Zeitung Building
93 FIFTH AVE.,
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

Patent Office, Washington, D. C.—The Patent Office covers two squares from 7th to 9th streets, and from F to G streets, northwest. It measures 410 feet from east to west and 275 feet from north to south. The building was commenced in 1837, and was not entirely completed, as it now stands, until 1864. It cost $2,700,000. In this building are many articles which belonged to Gen. Washington possessing historical interest, and here is to be seen the original Declaration of Independence. Here, also, are on exhibition all the models of every patent issued since 1836. Those issued prior to that time were destroyed by fire in the destruction of the old building. Those destroyed were the accumulation of 46 years.

Quaker City.--A popular name of Philadelphia, which was planned and settled by William Penn, accompanied by a colony of English Friends.

Queen City of the Lakes.--A name sometimes given to the city of Buffalo, N. Y., from its position and importance.

Railroad City.--Indianapolis, the capital of the State of Indiana, is sometimes called by this name, as being the terminus of various railroads.

Rail-splitter.--A cant designation of Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth President of the United States, who is said to have supported himself for one winter, in early life, by splitting rails for a farmer.

Red-Coats.--The name given by the Americans in the Revolutionary War to the British soldiery, in allusion to their scarlet uniform.

Regulators.--The popular name of a party in North Carolina, which arose in 1765, and had for its object the forcible redress of public grievances.

Rhody, Little.--A popular designation of Rhode Island, the smallest State in the Union.

Rough and Ready.--A sobriquet given to General Zachary Taylor (born 1790--died 1850), twelfth President of the United States, as expressive of prominent traits in his character.

St. Nicholas.--The patron saint of boys. He is said to have been Bishop of Myra, and to have died in the year 326. The young were universally taught to revere him, and the popular fictions which represent him as the bearer of presents to children on Christmas Eve is well known. He is the Santa Claus (or Klaus) of the Dutch.

Sam.--A popular synonym in the United States for the Know-nothings or Native American party. The name involves an allusion to Uncle Sam, the common personification of the United States Government.

Sambo.--A cant designation of the negro race. No race has ever shown such capabilities of adaptation to varying soil and circumstances as the negro. Alike to them the snows of Canada, the hard, rocky land of New England, or the gorgeous profusion of the Southern States. Sambo and Cuffy expand under them all.

Saunders, Richard.--A feigned name under which Dr. Franklin in 1732, commenced the publication of an Almanac--commonly called "Poor Richard's Almanac," of which the distinguished feature was a series of maxims of prudence and industry in the form of proverbs.

Scarlet Woman, The.--In the controversial writings of the Protestants, a common designation of the Church of Rome, intended to symbolize its vices and corruptions. The allusion is to the description contained in Revelation, chapter xvi: 1-6.

Seven Sleepers.--According to a very widely diffused legend of early Christianity, seven noble youths of Ephesus, in the time of the Decian persecution, who, having fled to a certain

Chicago, Burlington & Quincy RAILROAD!

“BURLINGTON ROUTE,”

Will Continue to Run the Celebrated

SIXTEEN WHEEL DINING CARS —BETWEEN—Chicago & Omaha,

Giving you all the luxuries of the season that the markets afford.

As the proprietors of all FIRST-CLASS HOTELS make their DINING SALON the great feature of their houses, so the management of the “GREAT BURLINGTON ROUTE,” having the COMFORT, PLEASURE and LUXURY of their patrons solely in view, do not use their CELEBRATED DINING CARS for Passage Traffic, or sleeping purposes (as is the case of the so-called Hotel Cars); hence they are always kept sweet, neat and clean, for eating uses only. Their ventilation is superb, and no disagreeable fumes from the kitchen permeate the air. The moderate charge of 75 cents only, is made for each meal, and the Menu is ample to satisfy the epicurean taste of the most fastidious.

Great care should be taken not to confuse these CELEBRATED DINING CARS with the Hotel Cars used on some Railways, where the Passengers Eat, Drink, Sleep and Bathe in the same Coach. The Dining Cars run on the “GREAT BURLINGTON ROUTE” are PULLMAN’S longest 16 WHEEL SALOON COACHES, used for eating purposes only. The well-known PULLMAN SIXTEEN WHEEL DRAWING ROOM SLEEPING COACHES (these Cars are just from the shops, having been refitted and re-furnished throughout, with a MAGNIFICENT DRAWING ROOM built within, for families or select parties traveling together), are run on THIS ROUTE ONLY, between CHICAGO and OMAHA.

cavern for refuge, and having been pursued, discovered, and walled in for a cruel death, were made to fall asleep, and in that state were miraculously kept for almost two centuries. Their names are traditionally said to have been, Maximican, Malchus, Martinian, Denis, John, Scampton, and Constantine. The Church has consecrated the 27th of June to their memory. The Koran relates the tale of the seven sleepers, deriving it probably from the same source as the Christian legend, and declares that out of respect for them the sun altered his course twice a day that he might shine into the cavern.

Seven Wonders of the World, The.—A name given to seven very remarkable objects of the ancient world, which have been variously enumerated. The following classification is one of the most generally received: 1. The Pyramids of Egypt; 2. The Pharos of Alexander; 3. The walls and hanging gardens of Babylon; 4. The Temple of Diana at Ephesus; 5. The statue of the Olympian Jupiter; 6. The Mausoleum of Artemisia; 7. The Colossus of Rhodes.

Skinner.—A name assumed by a predatory band in the revolutionary war, who, professing allegiance to the American cause, but influenced by a desire to plunder, roamed over the "neutral ground," lying between the hostile armies, robbing those who refused to take the oath of fidelity.

Slick, Sam.—The title and hero of various humorous narratives, illustrating and exaggerating the peculiarities of the Yankee character and dialect, written by Judge Thomas C. Haliburton, of Nova Scotia. Sam Slick is represented as a Yankee clockmaker and peddler, full of quaint drollery, unsophisticated wit, knowledge of human nature, and aptitude in the use of what he calls "soft sawder."

Smoky City.—A name sometimes given to Pittsburgh, Pa., an important manufacturing city. The use of bituminous coal occasions dense volumes of smoke to fill the air in and around the place, soiling the garments of passengers, and giving the buildings a dark and sooty appearance.

Stonewall Jackson.—A sobriquet given, during the American civil war, to Thomas Jonathan Jackson (born 1824, died 1863), a general in the service of the Confederate States. This famous appellation had its origin in an expression used by the Confederate General Bee, on trying to rally his men at the battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1862—"There is Jackson standing like a stone wall." From that day he was known as Stonewall Jackson, and his command as the Stonewall Brigade.

Sucker State.—A cant name given in America to the State of Illinois, the inhabitants of which are very generally called Suckers throughout the west. The origin of this term is said to be as follows: The western prairies are in many places full of the holes made by the crawfish (a fresh-water shell-fish, similar in form to the lobster), which descend to the water beneath. In early times, when travelers wended their way over these immense plains, they very prudently provided themselves with a long hollow reed, and when thirsty thrust it into these natural artesian, and thus easily supplied their longings. The crawfish well generally contains pure water, and the manner in which the traveler drew forth the refreshing element gave him the name of Sucker.

Swedish Nightingale.—A name popularly given to Jenny Lind (Madame Goldschmidt, born 1821), a native of Stockholm, and the most celebrated of female vocalists.

Tammany, St.—The name of an Indian Chief who, in the United States, has been popularly canonized as a saint, and adopted as the tutelary genius of one branch of the Democratic party. Tammany was of the Delaware nation, and lived probably in the middle of the seventeenth century. He resided in the country which is now Delaware until he was of age, when he moved beyond the Alleghanies, and settled on the banks of the Ohio. He became chief sachem of his tribe, and being always a friend of the whites, often restrained his warriors from deeds of violence. His rule was always discreet, and he endeavored to induce his followers to cultivate agriculture and the arts of peace rather than those of war. When he became old he called a council to have a successor appointed, after which the residue of his life was spent in retirement, and tradition relates that "young and old repaired to his wigwam to hear him discourse wisdom." His great motto was, "Unite in peace for happiness, in war for defense." When and by whom he was first styled saint, or by what whim he was chosen to be the patron of Democracy, does not appear.

Tippecanoe.—A sobriquet conferred upon Gen. William H. Harrison, afterward President of the United States, during the political canvass which preceded his election, on account of the victory gained by him over the Indians in the battle which took place on the 6th of November, 1811, at the junction of the Tippecanoe and Wabash rivers.

Topsy.—A young slave girl in Mrs. Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," who is made to illustrate the ignorance, low moral development and wild humor of the African character, as well as its capacity for education.

Turpentine State.—A popular name for the State of North Carolina, which produces and exports large quantities of turpentine.

Uncle Sam.—A cant or vulgar name of the United States Government. Immediately after the last declaration of war with England, Elbert Anderson, of New York, then a contractor, visited Troy, on the Hudson, where was concentrated and where he purchased a large contract of provisions, beef, pork, &c.

The inspectors of these articles, at the place, were Messrs. Ebenezer and Samuel Wilson. The latter gentleman (invariably known as "Uncle Sam") generally superintended in person a large number of workmen, who, on this occasion, were employed in overhauling the provisions purchased by the contractors of the army. The casks were marked E. A.—U. S. This work fell to the lot of a facetious fellow in the employ of the Messrs. Wilson, who, on being asked by some of his fellow-workmen the meaning of the mark (for the letters U. S. for United States were then almost entirely new to them), said he did not know, unless it meant Elbert Anderson and "Uncle Sam," alluding exclusively to the said "Uncle Sam" Wilson. The joke took among the workmen, and passed currently; and "Uncle Sam" himself being present, was occasionally rallied by them on the increasing extent of his possessions. Many of these workmen, being of a character denominated "fond of powder,"

Shoe and Leather Building, Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia.—Its size is 160 feet wide and 314 feet deep. In shape the building forms a parallelogram. The materials of its construction are wood, glass, and iron, and the style of architecture strictly American. The interior of the building presents an open space 256 feet long and 160 feet wide. The roof is supported by columns 16 feet apart. The central section being a curve 80 feet wide, of the Howe truss pattern, over which is a Louvre ventilator 21 feet wide and running the entire length of the building, and 58 feet above the ground. The flagstaffs are 80 feet high, and the pavilions respectively 20 and 30 feet in height. The building was bought by D. J. Dobbins for $3,000. The original cost was $30,750.

were found, shortly after, following the recruiting drum, and pushing toward the frontier lines, for the double purpose of meeting the enemy and of eating the provisions they had lately labored to put in good order. Their old jokes accompanied them, and before the first campaign ended, this identical one first appeared in print; it gained favor rapidly till it penetrated, and was recognized in every part of the country, and will, no doubt, continue so while the United States remain a nation.

Underground Railroad, The.—A popular embodiment of the various ways in which fugitive slaves from the Southern States were assisted in escaping to the North, or to Canada; often humorously abbreviated U. G. R. R.

Wagoner Boy, The.—A sobriquet of the Hon. Thomas Corwin (born 1794), a distinguished American Statesman. While yet a lad, Harrison and his army were on the Northern frontier, almost destitute of provisions, and a demand was made on the patriotism of the people to furnish the necessary subsistence. The elder Corwin loaded a wagon with supplies, which was delivered by his son, who remained with the army during the rest of the campaign, and who is said to have proved himself "a good whip and an excellent reins-man."

Western Reserve, The.—A name popularly given to a region of country reserved by the State of Connecticut at the time of the cession of the Northwest Territory to the United States. Dispute arose, after the war of the Revolution, between several of the States respecting the right of soil in their territory which were only allayed by the cession of the whole to the United States, Connecticut reserving a tract of 3,666,921 acres near Lake Erie.
In 1800, jurisdiction over this tract was relinquished to the Federal Government, the State reserving the right to the soil to settlers, while the Indian titles to the rest of the soil were bought up by the general government. In 1799, the North-western Territory, over which Congress had exercised jurisdiction since 1787, was admitted to a second grade of territorial government. Shortly after, Ohio was detached from it, and erected into an independent territory, and in 1803 it was received as a State into the Union.

White House, The.—In the United States a name properly given to the executive or presidential mansion at Washington, which is a large building of freestone, painted white.

Wicked Bible.—A name given to an edition of the Bible published in 1632 by Baker & Lucas, because the word not was omitted in the seventh commandment. The printers were called before the High Commission, fined heavily, and the whole impression destroyed.

Wolverine State, The.—The State of Michigan; popularly so called for its abounding with wolverines.

Yellow Jack.—Among sailors a common personification of the yellow fever. Although used as a proper name, it is probable that the original meaning of the appellation was nothing more than yellow flag; a flag being termed jack by seamen, and yellow being the color of that customarily displayed from lazarettos, or naval hospitals, and from vessels in quarantine.

Young America.—A popular collective name for American youth, or a personification of their supposed characteristics.

TURK'S HYDRAULIC MOTOR FOR RUNNING

Dental Machinery, Jewelers and Watchmakers' Lathes, Electric Machines, Sewing Machines, Scroll and Jig Saws, Revolving Signs, Washing Machines and Churns, House Organs, Dumb Elevators, Coffee and Spice Mills, Bellows, Shoe and Harness Machines, Ventilators and Blowers, Gas Machines, Meat Choppers, Lathes, Paint Mills, Ice Freight Elevators, etc., etc. (Secured by U. S. and Foreign Patents.) Patented 1874 and 1877.

Awarded two Centennial Medals at the World's Exhibition at Philadelphia, 1876, and two Diplomas of Merit for "Economy of Water" etc. It requires considerable exertion and hard work for an operative to average 400 to 500 stitches per minute with the use of the treadle, whereas, with a Motor, over 1000 health and strength of the operator. These water wheels are Motors as well as Motors; water cannot get through them, without turning the wheel and performing the ponding amount of work. The proportion of all the forces in the water netted by this Motor is 55 per cent. The inside wheel of the Dutch Motor, weighing nearly 2 lbs. can be blown 40 revolutions with one breath. These Motors are made of the best and most durable metals, of very fine and accurate workmanship, equal to that of a clock work, and will outlast any machinery they will ever be put to. Equal results can be obtained, with this Motor, in the upper as well as in the lower floors of a building, the discharge (waste water) being confined, creates a vacuum or suction in the pipe equal to the atmospheric pressure. These Motors are all highly finished and painted, and are an ornament to a house as much as a Sewing Machine itself. Send for circular.

Important Events Commencing with the Christian Era.

4. Leap year corrected having formerly been every third year.
19. The Jews banished from Rome.
40. The name of Christians first given at Antioch, to the followers of Christ.
49. London founded by the Romans.
60. Christianity about this time first preached in Great Britain.
64. Nero sets fire to the city of Rome, and throws the blame on the Christians.
68. Nero, the Roman emperor, commits suicide.
70. Vespasian, who was appointed by Nero, in the year 66, to wage war against the Jews, was now declared emperor by the army, and was acknowledged all over the East: in the beginning of whose reign Jerusalem is taken by the Romans under Titus, and all the awful predictions of our Lord, as well as those of the ancient prophets, are exactly accomplished. The city is desolated; the temple destroyed, so that not one stone was left on another; 1,100,000 persons perished miserably in the siege, and the remnant of the Jews are scattered to all nations.
107. The first credible historian among the Chinese.
167. A plague prevails all over the known world.
179. Reign of Lucius, the first Christian king of Britain, and in the world.
189. The capitol of Rome destroyed by lightning.

BARNES' FOOT POWER MACHINERY.

INSURED BY TEN PATENTS.

Six years ago, comparatively little attention was given to foot power machinery. Its utility was supposed to be limited to the narrow capacity of the old crank and treadle motion which had followed along down unchanged from the times of the ancient Egyptians. Good mechanics, being well aware of the defects of this old motion in driving machinery, knew, that they could not accomplish anything in actual business to pay for the expense of such machines.

About that time, the Barnes' machines were offered to those having use for foot-power machinery. These new machines were an entire surprise to all who tested them. Such was their power and facility, that the accurate statements given by those using them were not at first credited. Only the actual trial would convince; and thus always ended doubt. The old established prejudice now begins to yield everywhere, to the fact that the new foot power, without dead centers, is a success in actual business.

To day Twenty thousand can testify to the merits and efficiency of these machines. Starting with the simple scroll saw, they now describe some fifteen machines and combinations constructed to answer to the calls sent from those using first, only the scroll saw.

With all these machines in use, and with the thousands who have seen them, reporting their work to others, it is no wonder that foot-power machinery now has a large increase of attention, and is eagerly inquired after. Many learn in a general way of this success, and are prompted to buy without careful investigation. Thus they are caught by advertisers of the old faulty style of construction, who have found it possible, in such cases to sell their wares on the reputation of these new machines. The result, of course, is only disappointment to those who, by their own carelessness have failed to get these radically new and successful machines.

Therefore, be sure to know what you are buying and carefully examine the description of our Machinery and the facts given of its power, utility and profit. We will be pleased to send our 48 page descriptive Catalogue FREE to any desiring it.

447. Attila, "The scourge of God," with his Huns, ravages the Roman empire and attempts to form an immense empire from China to the Atlantic. He died suddenly on the first night of his nuptials, in 453.

468. The principal established that every accused person shall be tried by his peers or equals.

476. Rome taken by Odoacer, King of the Heruli. This terminates the existence of the Roman Empire, and is the commencement of the Kingdom of Italy under Odoacer.

Odoacer's sack of Rome was the great event which preceded the middle or "dark ages." The form of the old Roman Government remained—the Senate, the Consuls, etc., but Italy, ravaged by a succession of wars, plagues, famines, and every form of public tyranny and domestic slavery, was nearly a desert.

480. An earthquake, lasting forty days, destroys the greater part of Constantinople.

493. Theodoris introduces the architecture of Greece to improve the buildings of Italy.

508. Prince Arthur begins his reign over the Britains.

511. A great insurrection in Constantinople; 10,000 killed.

516. Computation of time by the Christian era introduced by Dionysius, the monk.

523. Two hundred and fifty thousand persons destroyed by an earthquake at Antioch.

531. Chess introduced into Persia from India.

541. The reign of Totila, who twice pillages Rome, and reduces the inhabitants to such distress that the ladies and people of quality are obliged to beg for bread at the doors of the Goths. This continues till 542.

542. Plague at Constantinople. During three months from 5,000 to 10,000 die daily.

551. The manufacture of silk brought from India into Europe by monks.

557. A terrible plague all over Europe, Asia and Africa, which lasted nearly fifty years.

569. The Turks first mentioned in history.

581. The city of Paris destroyed by fire.

605. Use of bells introduced into churches.

607. The burning of candles by day.

609. The Jews of Antioch massacre the Christians.

612. Mohammed publishes his Koran.

617. First code of laws published in England.

Horse hoof
Paring

This invention facilitates the paring of Horses' Hoof preparatory to shoeing, whereby that operation is performed with greater safety to the foot, and with greater ease to the operator, than when done in the ordinary manner. It pares the in and outside without endangering the frog of the hoof, and requires no burning to get a good, even foundation for the shoe, and the operator can pare the hoof so with it, that interfering becomes an impossibility. This machine speaks for itself, is well recommended by the best and prominent Horse Doctors and Horse Shoers of this city, and will give satisfaction in every respect. The machine fits any size hoof and the blade is easily removed for sharpening or other purposes. The machine took the first premium at the St. Louis Fair in 1875. United States Capitol, Washington, D. C.—The cornerstone of the Capitol was laid with Masonic ceremonies, September 18, 1793, by Master Mason, George Washington, President of the United States. In 1814 the British burned out the two wings. The space now occupied by the rotunda, up to that period, was only a wooden scaffolding, which united the two portions of the building. The foundation of the present Rotunda was laid March 2, 1815, and was considered finished in 1827. The cornerstone of the extension was laid July 4, 1851. The cost of the Capitol up to the present time has been $13,000,000. The whole Capitol covers an area of three and a half acres.

Post-Office Department, Washington, D. C.—The building occupies the whole square between 7th and 8th and E and F streets, northwest, and is opposite the Patent Office. It is built of white marble. It measures 300 feet north and south, and 204 feet east and west. It cost up to 1876; $1,855,889.59. A portion of the present site was originally intended for a hotel, the corner-stone for which was laid in 1793; but failing to complete the building, it was put up at a lottery and was drawn by two orphan children. It was here the first theatrical entertainment was given in Washington. In 1810 it was bought by the Government. December 15, 1836, it was destroyed by fire, and in 1839 the erection of the present building was commenced.

1305. Sir William Wallace of Elderslie, the Scottish hero of the 13th century, is betrayed to the English King by Sir John Menteith, and at London put to death in this year, aged about 30.

Edward II., of England, a weak King, was murdered in Berkeley Castle, by order of the Queen's paramour.

Isabella, daughter of the King of France, married Edward II. Her favorite, Mortimer, died by the gibbet, and she was confined for the rest of her life in her own house at Risings, near London.

1310. Chimneys first used in domestic architecture.

1312. Knight Templars wholly suppressed by the Pope and the King of France.

1314. Battle of Bannockburn between Edward II. and Robert Bruce, which establishes the latter on the throne of Scotland, July 25.

1314. The Cardinals meet in Italy, and not agreeing in the election of a Pope they set fire to the conclave and separate, by which the Papal chair is left vacant for two years.

1315. A famine prevails in England so dreadful that the people devoured the flesh of horses, dogs, cats and vermin.

1316. Pope John XXII. imposes taxes upon all countries of Europe to enrich the treasury of the church.

1317. Massacre of the Jews at Verdun, by the peasantry; five hundred defend themselves in a castle where, for want of weapons, they throw their children at their enemies, then destroy one another.

1319. Dublin University established.

1324. John Wickliff, the first English reformer, is born. He studied at Oxford, and is justly called "The Morning Star of the Reformation," as he led to the truth under Luther and the other reformers of the 16th century. He died in 1384.

1336. Giotto, a celebrated Florentine painter, who studied with Cenniabue, was only a shepherd's lad. He was a friend of Dante and Petrarch, and is said to be the first who produced life-like portraits. He died at this time, aged 60.

1337. Europe infected with locusts.

1340. Gunpowder invented by Swartz, a Monk of Cologne.

1409. At the council of Pisa for the election of a Pope, Gregory and Benedict were disposed of, and Alexander V elected. Neither of them would yield, so there were three Popes at once.

1410. Joan of Arc born, sometimes called the Maid of Orleans, a peasant girl of France. She was sold to the English and after the formality of a trial, was burnt alive as a witch in 1431.

1415. John Huss and Jerome Prague, Bohemians, two of the first reformers, are burnt for heresy at Constance, which occasions an insurrection, when Sigismund, who betrayed them, is deposed and the Imperial-ists are driven from the Kingdom.

1420. Paris taken by the English who held it fifteen years.

1428. Joan of Arc, the Maid of Orleans, compels the English to raise the siege of that town.

Wickliffe's remains burnt and his ashes thrown into the swift waters.
Giovanni de Medici, one of the greatest merchant princes of Florence, died, and his son, Cosmo de Medici, carried on the work his father began. He induced artists and scholars to take up their abode in Florence. He died in 1461.

1429. Joan of Arc raised the siege and entered Orleans with supplies April 29, and the English, who were before the place from Oct. 12 preceding, abandoned the enterprise the following May. She captured several towns in possession on of the English, whom she defeated in a battle near Patay, June 10.

1431. Joan of Arc was taken at the siege of Compeigne, and to the great disgrace of the English, was burnt for a witch five days after at Rouen in the 22nd (some say 29th) year of her age.

1438. Fifty thousand persons died of famine and plague in Paris during this year, when the hungry wolves entered the city and committed great

1488. James IV of Scotland, succeeded James III, who fell in a brawl with some of the barons.

1492. 500,000 Jews are banished from Spain, and 150,000 from Portugal.

1514. Cannon bullets of stone still in use.

1517. Europeans first arrive in Canton, China. First patent for importing negroes to America granted by Spain.

1524. Some of the states of Europe were alarmed by the prediction that another general deluge would occur, and arks were everywhere built to guard against the calamity; but the season happened to be a very dry one.

1537. Papal bull declares the American natives to be rational beings.

1539. Cannon first used in ships.

1543. Silk stockings first worn by the French king.

1547. First law in England establishing the interest of money at 10 per cent.

1548. Formal establishment of Protestantism in England.

1552. Books of geography and astronomy destroyed in England, as being infested with magic.

1553. Lady Jane Grey, daughter of the Duke of Suffolk, and wife of Lord Guilford Dudley, was proclaimed Queen of England on the death of Edward VI. Ten days afterwards returned to private life; was tried November 13, and beheaded Feb. 12, 1554, when but seventeen years of age, with her husband and his father.

1553. Elizabeth Croft, a girl of eighteen years of age, was secreted in a wall and with a whistle made for the purpose uttered many seditious speeches against the Queen and Prince of England, and also

1553. against the mass and confusion for which she was sentenced to stand upon a scaffold at St. Paul's Cross during sermon time, and make public confession of her imposture. She was called the Spirit of the Wall.

While Servetus, the founder of the Unitarian sect, was proceeding to Naples, through Geneva, Calvin induced the magistrates to arrest him on charge of blasphemy and heresy, and, refusing to retract his opinions, he was condemned to the flames, which sentence was carried into execution Oct. 27.

1554. The wearing of silk forbidden to the common people of England.

1554. The Company of Stationers of London is of great antiquity, and existed long before printing was invented; yet it was not incorporated until the second year of Philip and Mary.

1560. Minstrels continued until this time.
They owed their origin to the gleemen or harpers of the Saxons.
Queen Elizabeth, of England, was presented with a pair of black silk stockings, by her silk woman, and she never wore cloth ones any more,

1561. Philip II. commences his bloody persecutions of the Protestants.

1563. Captain, afterwards Sir John Hawkins, was the first Englishman, after the discovery of America, who made a traffic of the human species.

1564. William Shakspeare, the great poet and dramatist, was born at Stratford-on-Avon, to which place he returned from London and lived till 1616.

1568. Battle of Langside, between the forces of the regent of Scotland, the Earl of Murray, and the army of Mary Queen of Scots, in which the latter suffered a complete defeat on May 15. Immediately after this fatal battle, the unfortunate Mary fled to England, and landed at Workington, in Cumberland, May 16, and was soon after imprisoned by Elizabeth.

1571. Battle Lepanto. The great naval engagement between the combined fleets of Spain, Venice and Pius V., and the whole maritime force of the Turks. The Christian fleet for a time prostrated the whole naval power of Turkey.

1572 Massacre of St. Bartholomew. 70,000
Huguenots, or French Protestants, throughout the kingdom of France were murdered under circumstances of the most horrid treachery and cruelty. It began at Paris in 1572. the night of the festival of St. Bartholomew, August 14, by secret orders from Charles IX., King of France, at the instigation of the queen dowager, his mother.

1585. Sextus V. rose from a shepherd boy to be Pope, is active and energetic, corrects abuses in the church and restores the Vatican Library.
1587. Mary, Queen of Scots, during the reign of Elizabeth, was beheaded in Fotheringay Castle, in which she had been long previously confined, February 8, after an unjust and cruel captivity of almost nineteen years, in England.
1589. Coaches first introduced into England, 1592. Massacre of the Christians at Croatia by the Turks, when 65,000 were slain.
1603. 30,578 perished of the plague in London alone in this and the following year. It was also fatal in Ireland.
1604. The celebrated religious conference held at Hampton Court Palace, in order to effect a general union between the prelates of the Church of England and the dissenting ministers. This conference led to a new translation of the Bible which was executed in 1607-1611, and is that now in general use in England and the United States.
1605. The memorable conspiracy in England, known by the name of the Gunpowder Plot, for springing a mine under the house of parliament, and destroying the three estates of the realm, king, lords and commons, was discovered Nov. 5. This diabolical scheme was projected by Robert Catesby and many high persons were leagued in the enterprise. Guy Faux was detected in the vaults under the House of Lords, preparing the train for being fired the next day. Hugh Calverly, having murdered two of his children and stabbed his wife in a fit of jealousy, being arraigned for his crime at York assizes, stood mute, and was therefore pressed to death in the castle, a large iron weight being placed upon his breast.
1606. Demetrius Griska Eutropeia, a friar, pretended to be the son of Basilowitz, czar of Muscovy, whom the usurper Boris had put to death, but he maintained that another child had been substituted in his place, he was supported by the armies of Poland. His success astonished the Russians who invited him to the throne and delivered into his hands Fedor, the reigning czar 1606. and all his family, whom he cruelly put to death, his imposition being discovered, he was assassinated in his palace.

1611. 200,000 persons perished of a pestilence at Constantinople.

1619. Harvey discovers or confirms the circulation of the blood.

1620. Battle of Prague between the Imperialists and Bohemians of Germany. The latter, who had chosen Frederic V. of the Palatine, for their king, were totally defeated. The unfortunate king was forced to flee with his family into Holland, leaving all his baggage and money behind him. He was deprived of the hereditary dominions, and the Protestant interest ruined in Bohemia.

1624. George Fox, born, the founder of the society of Friends or Quakers. He was clad in a perennial suit of leather and wandered in solitude seeking some light to guide him, studying the Bible and himself. He died in 1690.

1628. The discovery of the circulation of the blood by Dr. Harvey, furnished an entirely new system of physiological and pathological speculation.

1629. St. Peter's Church at Rome completed, having been commenced about the middle of the 15th century.

1632. Battle of Lntzengen, or Lutze. Called also the battle of Lippstadt. In this battle Gustavus Adolphus, king of Sweden, the most illustrious hero of his time and the chief support of the Protestant religion in Germany, and in alliance with Charles I. of England, was foully killed in the moment of victory.

1633. The art of preserving flowers in sand discovered.

1647. The tyranny of the Spaniards leads to an insurrection at Naples, excited by Maraniello, a fisherman, who in fifteen days raises an army of 200,000 men. The insurrection subsides and Maraniello is murdered.

1648. Eighty-one Presbyterians expelled from the English Parliament, which received the name of "the Rump."

1650. Quakers or Friends. Originally called Seekers, from their seeking the truth. Justice Bennett, of Derby gave the society the name of Quakers at this time because Fox (the founder) admonished him and those present with him to tremble at the word of the Lord.

1652. First war between the English and the Dutch.

1656. James Naylor personated our Savior; he was convicted of blasphemy, scourged, and his tongue bored through with a hot iron on the pillory by sentence of the House of Commons under Cromwell's administration.

The plague brought from Sardinia to Naples, being introduced by a transport with soldiers on board, raged with such violence as to carry off 400,000 of the inhabitants in six months.

1662. Charles II. is said to have first encouraged the appearance of women on the stage of England, but the queen of James I. had previously performed in a theatre at court.

An earthquake throughout China buries 300,000 persons at Pekin alone.

1663. The first idea of a steam engine was suggested by the Marquis of Worcester in his "Century of Inventions" as "a way to drive up water by fire."

1665. Memorable plague in London which carried off 18,596 persons.

1666. Great fire in London, Sept. 2, destroying 89 churches, including the Royal Exchange, the Custom House, Sion College, and many other public buildings, besides 13,200 houses, laying waste 400 streets. This conflagration continued three days and nights, and was at last only extinguished by the blowing up of houses.

Chain-shot to destroy the rigging of an enemy's ships invented by the Dutch admiral, DeWitt.

1667. The method of preparing phosphorus from bones discovered by Charles William Scheele, an eminent Swedish chemist.

1669. Cand a or Crete obtained from the Venetians by the Turks after a siege of 24 years, during which more than 200, 0 people perished.

1672. White slaves were sold in England to be transported to Virginia; average price for a five years' service $25, while a negro was worth $125.

1674. John Milton, one of the chief poets and greatest men of England died, aged 66 years. His task in writing two "Defenses of the People of England" totally destroyed his already impaired vision. He afterward fulfilled the prediction uttered in one of his former books by bringing out the great English epic "Paradise Lost."

In his domestic life Milton endured much trouble. Deserted for 1674. a while by his first wife, he saw no relief but in divorce. His daughters, in his old age and blindness, treated him with notorious want of love. His universal fame now rests on his poems, which were hardly known and not at all appreciated During his day.

1680. A comet appeared, and from its nearness to the earth alarmed the inhabitants. It continued from Nov. 3 to March 9 following.

1684. The first idea of a telegraph on the modern construction was suggested by Dr. Robt. Hook, a celebrated English mathematician and philosopher.

1689. Peter I. the Great became sole ruler of Russia.

Assiento, a contract between the King of Spain and other powers, for furnishing the Spanish dominions in America with negro slaves. It was vested in the South Sea Company, 1713.

The memorable act to exclude Roman Catholics from ascending the throne of Great Britain was passed, and the crown of England was settled upon the present royal family by the act of June 12, 1701.

1690. Battle of Boyne gained by William III. over James in Ireland, July 1.

1691. The horrible Glencoe massacre of the unoffending inhabitants, the Macdonalds, merely for not surrendering in time to King William's proclamation. About 38 men were brutally slain, and women and children were turned out naked in a dark and freezing night, and perished by cold and hunger. This black deed was perpetrated by the Earl of Argyle's regiment.

1692. Earthquake at Jamaica which totally destroyed Port Royal, whose houses were swallowed 40 fathoms deep, and 300 persons perished.

1693. An earthquake in Sicily which overturned 54 cities and towns and 300 villages. Of Catania and its 18,000 inhabitants, not a trace remained. More than 100,000 lives were lost.

Syracuse destroyed by an earthquake, with many thousands of its inhabitants.

First public lottery drawn.

1696. Plate, with the exception of spoons, was prohibited in England at public houses.

1701. Frederick III. in an assembly of the States, put a crown upon his own and upon the head of his consort, and is proclaimed King of Prussia by the title of Frederick I.

1703. The man of the Iron Mask died after a long imprisonment.

1718. Siege of Frederic's Hall, rendered memorable by the death of Charles XII. of Sweden, who was killed before its walls, and while in the trenches leaning against the parapet examining the works.

Lady Mary Wortley Montague introduced inoculation for the small-pox from Turkey, her own son having been inoculated with perfect success.

1729. The Methodists may be said to have appeared formally, if not originally, at Oxford.

1730. The large body of Christians called Wesleyan Methodists, was founded by John Wesley.

1735. Stereotyping is said to have been suggested by William Ged, of Edinburgh.

1738. Kouli Khan orders a general massacre and 150,000 people perish.

1770. Ann Lee imprisoned for her religious belief. Born in Manchester, England, Feb. 29, 1436. In 1758, "led by a vision and inspiration," she joined the society of James and Jane Wadley, followers of the French prophets, and who had been associated both with the Friends and the Methodists, she became the founder of the Shakers, who claim a real advent of Christ on the earth at this date.

1778. Invasion of Bohemia by Frederick II. of Prussia, and commencement of the "Potatoe War; (so-called on account of the numerous petty skirmishes and maneuvers respecting the convoys.)

1787. James Whitaker, first Shaker preacher, died at Enfield, Conn., aged 33 years. He was born at Oldham, England.

The police at Versailles attacked by the French populace, and the King Queen compelled to proceed to Paris.

The title King of France altered to the King of the French.

1790. Abolition of hereditary nobility and titles of honor in France.

1793. Louis XVI imprisoned in the Temple and brought to trial, is condemned to death and beheaded in the Palace de Louis Quinze. Thus perished at the age 39, after a reign of sixteen years and a half, passed in endeavoring to do good, the best but weakest of monarchs.

The first English church erected in Australia.
